Above: Political activist, strategist and commentator, Angela “Bay” Buchanan giving a speech entitled ‘The Failures of Feminism’ in Emerson Suites on Thursday, April 4. The event was sponsored by the IC Republicans and was well attended. Buchanan raised controversy in the community by some of her remarks. “Feminazi is a fun word!” did not sit well with some of the liberals at the back of the room.
Above: Environmentalist and former presidential candidate Ralph Nader visits Ithaca College on Earth Day. The main focus of his speech was to encourage students to be aware of the environment around them. After his speech he had a period of time allotted for book signing, but he assured students that they did not have to buy a book in order to meet him. His visit was well attended.
Ithaca College seniors take the plunge in the fountain celebrating ‘Fountain Day.’ In a world growing increasingly unsure about the future of humanity, seniors who jumped in were sure of one thing: the water was cold! Temperatures reaching in the low-40s delayed the 107th commencement ceremony, pushing it back to one o’clock. As Ithaca continues to experience cold weather, things are heating up in other parts of the world.

Palestine and Israel still remain locked at conflict as each day brings news of another suicide bombing or yet another attack on both sides of the Gaza strip. However, the threat of war that has really attracted global attention and concern is the crisis between the two south-asian neighbours India and Pakistan. Both sides have close to a million troops facing off along a 175 mile line of control. While events may be new, the dispute is an old one: India wants Pakistan to stop supporting armed insurgencies into its borders like the one that rocked the capital when the parliament was attacked by 5 gunmen. The rising tensions may prolong the search for Osama Bin Laden, prime suspect in the Sept. 11 attacks, as Pakistan moves troops from the Afghan border over to the Indian side. Continued threats to “homeland security” have kept millions of new yorkers on their toes as Congress grapples with ways to effectively deal with future terrorist sponsored activities in the United States.
Renowned actor James Earl Jones beams as President Williams welcomes him to take the podium and address the class of 2002. "It has been said of great speakers that they could read the phone book and make it sound like Shakespeare," said President Williams in her introduction, and it was evident by the wild applause that interrupted the Oscar-nominated actor as he began with, "We gather today --" that he could have done without the introduction. The voice of "Darth Vader" in the next episode of Star Wars, slated for release in 2005, was revealed to 1,327 members of the class of 2002 receiving their diplomas and a capacity-filled Butterfield stadium. Jones urged grads to merge individuality with collective social responsibility. "The degree you achieve today is not a handout. It is a contract," he reminded the class. He also encouraged grads to keep the force of their dreams with them. "Class of 2002, may the force be with you!"
"Our greatest glory is not in never falling, but in rising every time we fall."

September 11, 2001, is a day that will never be forgotten. At 8:45 a.m. hijackers flew United Airlines flight 175 into the south World Trade Center tower. Panic instantly hit the city and onlookers were amazed to see American Airlines flight 11 slam into the North Tower less than an hour later at 9:03 a.m. Firefighters and other emergency crews were sent in immediately and many were buried when the North Tower collapsed at 9:50 a.m. followed 39 minutes later by the collapse of the South tower. The city was plunged into relative darkness by the raining down of suffocating ash and debris. Meanwhile, in Washington, D.C. American Airlines flight 77 was crashed into the west side of the Pentagon. All other airplanes were grounded in an effort to prevent another crash. It was only after the order to ground all planes was given that officials realized United Airlines flight 93 was missing. Passengers aboard this fourth flight were making calls to loved ones, telling them that their plane had been hijacked and they were going to try to overthrow the terrorists onboard. Flight 93 never made it to the terrorists' intended target. Instead, it crashed in a rural area of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Workers struggled to find survivors in the rubble of the Towers and the Pentagon, but without much success. The full impact of the attack had only begun to be realized. The first suspect was Osama Bin Laden and his group of Taliban fighters. A call was intercepted by the Natural Security Agency made by an unknown man in the United States to an operative of Osama bin Laden. “We hit the targets,” he said.

Center: Two beams of light serve as a temporary memorial to the World Trade Center towers. The beams lit up for the first time on March 11, 2002 and will do so every night until April 13th.

Above: Director of Homeland Security Tom Ridge presents his color-coded terrorism warning system. This is supposed to alert the nation when there is danger.
The world is forever changed. The phrase which is coined by numerous newspapers and television news reporters to describe this horrific event quickly becomes “September 11, 2001 – Attack on America.”

September 13, 2001 – Two days after the most unfathomable attack, a candlelight vigil is held, which is attended by 1,500 people. Ithaca College President Peggy R. Williams and Catholic Chaplains May Humenay and the Reverend Scott Kubinski, along with Protestant Chaplain Allison Stokes and Jewish Chaplain Michael Faber, recited prayers, sang songs, prayed, and consoled students during this extremely difficult time.

September 14 is the National Day of Prayer and Remembrance, and classes are canceled and officers closed during the noon hour. Thousands attend a prayer service featuring a talk by President Peggy R. Williams and benedictions by the chaplains and business professor Raquib Zaman.

People show up in record numbers at the American Red Cross chapters all over the United States to give blood. More than 1,000 chapters are set up to offer assistance to individuals who have been affected. Numerous charities begin popping up from organizations including the American Red Cross and the United Way. Unprecedented generosity emerges, and people from all over the United States donate money. Websites such as Sept11Memorial.com and www.americanmemorials.com/NationalTragedy.htm are set up as a tribute to those who were killed in the terrorist attacks.

Patriotism soars. American flag sales are at an all-time high, selling out in nearly every city – the demand consistently surpassing the supply. It is impossible to drive anywhere without seeing an American flag bumper sticker, or an American flag waving in the wind either on a porch or on a vehicle.

On October 20, musicians including The Who, Bon Jovi, Backstreet Boys, Mick Jagger, and many more unite to play “The Concert for New York City,” in Madison Square Garden. The concert raised $275,000 for the families of the victims of September 11.

A class entitled “Making Sense of September 11” is offered in the second semester block at Ithaca College from October 2001- December 13, 2001. As a result of the overwhelming number of students wishing to register for the class, the enrollment limit is increased to 200.

On March 11, the six-month anniversary of the attack, two beams of light shine in what is now known as “Ground Zero” – where the World Trade Center once stood. This “tribute in light” memorial will shine every day for 32 days.

In April 2002, a viewing platform that overlooks the remains of the World Trade Center is erected. Each person is allowed two passes, and it is restricted to a 30-minute time slot.

The following Ithaca College alumni died in the World Trade Center tragedy:
- Vincent Abate ~ Class of 1983
- Thomas J. Collins ~ Class of 1987
- Ronald Ruben ~ Class of 1987
- Steven Russin ~ Class of 1991
- Derek J. Statkevicus ~ Class of 1993

School of Business

The School of Business at Ithaca College offers a rigorous, balanced, and professional education for success in today’s fast-paced world of business. Helping to ensure students’ career success by providing a foundation in management and leadership skills, in service to society, and in up-to-date business theory and practice is a priority. The business school provides a challenging and supportive environment in which students can develop intellectual capabilities and gain specialized knowledge of one or more of the six concentrations: accounting, e-commerce, finance, international business, management, and marketing.
Above: Professor Abraham Mulugetta doing what he loves: teaching. If he weren’t teaching then he would probably be managing a philanthropic organization. His favorite classes to teach are ‘Security Analysis and Portfolio Management’, ‘Selected Topics in Finance’ and ‘International Finance’. How many of you remember taking those?

Robert A. Ullrich
Dean

I am grateful for this opportunity to wish you well as you leave Ithaca College. We arrived at Ithaca together and have shared many experiences in the last four years that I will always remember. I shall miss all of you.

As I left college some forty years ago, the future seemed to me a great adventure ripe with possibilities. I hope it does to you, as well. What I learned in pursuing life’s possibilities was that my education had not been successfully completed, but had been successfully begun on the day I graduated from college. Think of your college experience as preparation for learning from the rest of your life.

Learning from experience takes as much concentration and determination as learning in a classroom does. Experiences by themselves are not very educational. You will learn from experiences by thinking about them, evaluating them, and coming to understand them. As you come to understand the situations that you encounter, you will begin to learn how to shape them, and that’s when the fun begins. The difference between being entrepreneurial and being a bureaucrat is that entrepreneurs have learned how to shape the world in which bureaucrats work.

So, pay attention, be entrepreneurial in life, and enjoy the adventure.

Best wishes and best regards!

Don't Forget What you learnt at:

The Center for Trading and Analysis of Financial Instruments, where you had access to more than 125 sources of stock, bond, commodity, and business data from around the world. Of course, apart from the ticker (which is just a quarter of a second behind Wall Street), remember Open Arc, the specialized software package developed by Standard and Poor's Comstock which gave you the tools to interpret, analyze and monitor information from financial markets across the globe.

The E-Commerce room, across the hall from the trading room, with that "smart board" and those 750 MHz CPUs, flat screen-monitors where you got connected with the Internet.

And just about every class you attended... does one have to say anymore?

The Communication School explores the countless ways people and organizations “talk” to each other; not just through words, but in equally subtle ways, through the use of images, music, and design. Students learn to analyze the mass media with a critical eye, studying their impact on society and exploring the related ethical and legal issues. They also develop the skills needed to express their own ideas clearly and forcefully. The strong curriculum tradition of hands-on instruction, and emphasis on a liberal arts education have made Park a first choice for college-bound students across the nation. A national reputation for excellence starts here.

Congratulations to everyone in the Class of 2002. You made it and have done so with great style and energy.
It hardly seems possible that your time here is over, but, then again, it’s not over - it has just begun. As alumni, you will always be a part of the College and the Park School, and I know you will represent both with great distinction in the coming years.

Some four years ago on a warm
August afternoon I welcomed most of you with words from the final Calvin & Hobbes comic strip, and to me they are just as appropriate today as they were then.

As Calvin and Hobbs surveyed a beautiful, snowy landscape, Hobbes said, “Everything familiar has disap­ ppeared. The world looks brand new...It’s like having a big white sheet of paper to draw on.” And Calvin replies, “It’s a magical world,
Hobbes ol’’’ buddy--let’s go exploring.”

It is, indeed, a magical world.
Explore it fully and well and, in the course of your travels, be sure to come back to Ithaca often.

Best wishes!
Whatever you ultimately decide to do with your life, you sure were lucky to be able to use the equipment and facilities at Park. Whether you used a Sony DSR (pictured above) or took out a Matthews Dolly and an Aaton LTR (pictured on the right) or got to use one of the two Aaton XTR’s) for your shoot -- just to name some of the cool stuff -- remember the school that believed in your vision and helped you getting closer to realise it.

Left: Sunshine...clear skies ... The outside of the building. But remember when it started getting cold though? Then came the snow...negative wind-chill factor...you rushed to return equipment or rushed to get to class. Thankfully its warm inside.
Above: Acclaimed documentary filmmaker Ken Burns was just one of the many dynamic artists to visit campus. Filmmaker Louis Messiah, ABC News correspondent Carole Simpson and digital artist Alex Rivera also conducted master classes, lectures and screened their work as part of Park's commitment to excellence.
The School of Health Sciences and Human Performance educates a variety of health and fitness professionals to serve the diverse health and recreation needs of the community at large. The school places a strong emphasis on the value of internships and fieldwork experience. Many of the programs require internships, while others offer many opportunities for practical experience in the major. The over 500 clinical affiliations—with hospitals, clinics, and other health care agencies across the nation—help students broaden their understanding of relationships with clients and apply their knowledge of treatments and procedures.
What sets HS&HP apart from others here at IC?
Opportunities to link the clinical with practical experiences; and the real work internships.

What changes has your school gone through this year?
We have seen a change in communication. An E-newsletter has been developed to send out to alumni. We are also in the process of changing the structure of our school.

What direction would you like the school to take in the future?
I would like to see a continuation of the improved communication. Also I would like to visit other schools and view their programs in an effort to improve our own.

What advice do you have for graduating seniors?
Split seconds can make a big difference. Think about the consequences of your actions.
Above: Say “Graduation” guys...you finally made!!!

The School of Humanities and Sciences is like a college within a college. A broad and sophisticated array of liberal arts offerings in the school gives you the opportunity to develop the knowledge and skills necessary for a wide variety of careers, from medicine to theater, teaching to computing. The School of Humanities and Sciences provides programs in the humanities, natural sciences and mathematics, social and behavioral sciences, and the fine and performing arts. Students receive close personal attention from highly qualified faculty noted for their expertise, their commitment to teaching, and their contributions to their fields.
Above: Jodi Cohen, associate professor, speech communication and Jerome Ng ’02, sociology & TV-Radio, in discussion. They’re both looking at the way that students shape and define multiculturalism, diversity, and discrimination, from their own different viewpoints.

It is a great pleasure for me to offer congratulations and wish you well upon your graduation from the School of Humanities and Sciences at Ithaca College. Certainly the events of September 11th and its aftermath have marked your final year at Ithaca College and I suspect that reverberations will be felt for many years to come. Each of us struggles to understand, to make meaning of those events and I hope that your education at Ithaca College has contributed to that quest for understanding.

Although we live in an increasingly technological age, in these puzzling, sometimes terrifying times we turn to the humanities and liberal arts for insights into the human condition. And I trust that the School of Humanities and Sciences has enriched and deepened, not only your reflections but also through thirst for lifelong learning, a hallmark of the educated individual.

I feel privileged to be the Dean of this wonderful school. You can strengthen and improve the college through your tangible support of our programs and faculty and also by staying in touch visiting when possible and expending some time and energy on behalf of the school. My very best wishes follow you.

Students who come to Ithaca to study music are talented musicians, already accomplished on their chosen instruments. Each of the degree programs allows students to continue that professional training. The School of Music offers a Bachelor of Music programs in Composition, Jazz Studies, Music Education, Music Theory, Performance, Performance with Collaborative Emphasis, Performance and Music Education, Music in Combination with an Outside Field, Recording as well as a Bachelor of Arts in Music and a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Musical Theater.

How many years have you been at IC?
I have been at IC 31 years and dean for 17 years.

What changes has your school undergone this year?
We have been working on a strategic plan for four years. We expect to have a number of curricular changes in place for 2003.

What would you like to happen in the coming years?
I am anxious for our school to gain greater national and international exposure.

What advice do you have for graduating seniors?
Follow your heart. Most music students have spent four years perfecting their talents as performers, teachers or other specialties in music. They should try to follow their heart for as long as they can in order to give themselves every opportunity to succeed.

The Ithaca College Comedy Club has done many outrageous and funny projects and events with students performing in many standup comedy shows and open mike nights. Some highlights of the year included opening for headlining IC alumnus Michael Capozzola '92, and performing at Cornell's Ithaca Comedy Festival.

This past year, the Comedy Club's TV program Blissful Idiots aired on ICTV; it also aired on public access channel 13. The club is trying a new approach to promoting its performers and projects through the internet. With a new web site at www.geocities.com/ithacacomedy the club continues to expand its horizons. The Comedy Club hosted special events like "Wrestlefest," a backyard wrestling show. Its annual trip to New York City gave members a chance to perform at professional comedy clubs like The Comedy Cellar.

The IC Comedy Club ended the 2001-2002 school year with a screening of Citizen Toxie: The Toxic Avenger Part 4 and a performance by 'comedy-rock' legends "Blinded By Pink."

Ithaca Slaughters Hobart

By Lauren Teucke

On October 26th, the 27th-ranked bombers went head to head with Hobart for Ithaca’s annual homecoming game. Quarterback Brian Young ’02 threw 287 yards and four touchdowns. Conor Mulkeen ’02 scored two touchdowns to bring his career total to 13, a school record for tight ends. Dave Maddi, ’02 led Ithaca with 70 yards, including a nine yard touchdown. Mark McDonough ’02 finished with six tackles and one pass break. The Bombers defeated Hobart 52-13.
Above: (from left) Tommy Giorgio ‘02, Andrew Sachs ‘02 and Brian Young ‘02 prepare for the play.

Above: IC fans were out in full fan-fare donning the infamous “Cortland Sucks” T-shirts for this year's Cortaca Jug game. The biggest Division III football game in the country certainly attracted a large crowd. According to official estimates, a record 12,620 people crammed into Butterfield Stadium to witness America’s “biggest little football game.”

Matt Tosh ’05 returns the ball 17 yards to the IC 43 in the 1st quarter just after Cortland took the lead 7-0 thanks to a J.J. Tutwiler caught by red dragon Tony Romano. The quarter ended with Cortland maintaining that 7 point lead. The Bombers soon levelled the score in the 2nd quarter with strong offense push culminating in a 4-yard rush by Dave Maddi ’02 in the Cortland endzone. Kicker Chris Pride ’04 kept his pride intact by showing deadly accuracy with his foot.

Above: Tommy Giorgio ’02 follows his offensive line for a touchdown play in the ninth minute of the 3rd quarter and (Right) the team celebrates along with IC fans as Ithaca goes ahead of Cortland 14-7 for the first time in the game.
Above: TJ Jalbert '02 receives a pat on the back after intercepting a pass and returning 11 yards to the Cortland 49 yard line in the third quarter. The score at the end of the third was Ithaca and Cortland tied at 14 points each.

Above: Kyle "The Freak" Tedeschi '02 running the ball for 13 yards to the Cortland 37 yard line to get a 1st down at the start of the nail-biting 4th quarter. IC scored again with 8:25 left on the clock to clinch the game 21-14 when Mike Marks '03 caught a beautiful pass off Brian Young '02 and rushed 71 yards along the sideline.

Emotions ran high on both sides and fueling the fans were the the people in the Pep Band (left), the cheerleaders (above)... and of course the police (right).
The Ithaca football team took Division III football for a spin. The Bombers reached the NCAA quarterfinals in their first playoff appearance since 1994.

Featuring a senior-laden backfield of Brian Young, Dave Maddi, Tommy Giorgio and Kyle Tedeschi, the Blue and Gold defeated Cortland, 21-14, to complete a 9-1 season.

In the playoffs, senior Greg Sheeler replaced an injured Young at quarterback and led Ithaca to wins over Montclair St., 35-23, and East Region number-one seed RPI, 27-10, before losing at Rowan in the East finals, 48-0.

Senior linebacker, Mark McDonough, and junior punter, Brian Bicher, were both named to postseason All-American teams.

Another Successful Year

By Andrew Kroeckel

The men's swimming and diving team capped off another successful season in the storied history of the program as New York State champions this past season. The Bombers completed a perfect regular season with a record of 8-0, including a victory over longtime tormenter Hamilton.

Freshman Steve Barnes stood out among the Ithaca swimmers as he swam his way to All-America status in the 1,500-yard freestyle with a 15th place national finish.

Women's Swimming and Diving
By Mario Fontana

Not even a young team dominated by freshmen and sophomores could hold the women’s swimming and diving team from capturing their fifth state championship in six years. The team’s 11-0 regular season saw them crush opponents by an average of 69 points. At the state meet, they toppled nearest foe Union by 537 points.

Individuals also shined for the Bombers on the national level. Sarah Bond, Katie Centralla, Michelle Yellin and Megan Hughes gained All-American status by placing fifth in the 800-yard freestyle relay at the Division III National Championships. Their time of 7 minutes, 41.59 seconds was the fastest in school history. Hughes also gained All-America status placing ninth in the 200-yard individual medley, and sixth in the 100-yard freestyle.

The Bombers ended their season 11-10, closing the season with a dominating 7-0 sweep over Hartwick.

For the second-consecutive season, the Blue and Gold finished second in the Empire Eight, losing to RIT in the finals.

Traveling to Hilton Head, S.C. over spring break, the South Hill squad won three of five matches.

Junior Mike Medvin finished the season with a school-record 16 doubles wins. His 35 career doubles wins places him fourth on Ithaca’s career list. The team loses only one senior, Brian Pare. Pare picked up his 40th career victory in his last match as a Bomber.

Bomber Volleyball

By Andrew Kroecikel

The Bombers capped yet another successful season with a return appearance to the NCAA playoffs. The team lost a tough match in the New York regional playoffs, but still finished with an impressive record of 28-8. Guiding the team were co-captains Jen Salmon ’02 and Colleen Lindsey ’02. Salmon will graduate as the all-time leader in assists for Ithaca.

The Blue and Gold were paced defensively by Kristen Sharp ’03 and Jessica Raymond ’03, who led the team in digs and blocks respectively. The Bombers are poised for success in the coming seasons with the continued improvement of Janet Hammond ’04 and the rise of a talented Julie Roth ’04.
Bomber Wrestling
By Abigail Funk

After an injury-ridden season for several Bomber wrestlers, the team was at full strength when the conference tournament rolled around. They won the Eastern Conference Wrestling Championships. Five Bombers went on to the national tournament and Ithaca finished in sixth place. Senior tri-captain Tommy Hall was crowned a national champion, Ithaca’s first national champion since John Gemmell ’98 in 1998. Fellow senior tri-captain Carlos Restrepo took second place. Senior tri-captain Ryan Ciotoli and freshman Marc Israel placed in sixth and eighth place, respectively, earning them All-America honors along with Hall and Restrepo.

Bomber Basketball

By Brian Delaney

This year the men’s basketball team won its first Empire Eight Championship since 1993 and advanced to the NCAA tournament for the first time since 1992. The Bombers lost in the first round at Alvernia, 76-67. The Blue and Gold finished its year with a 16-10 record. Junior Matt Riggins earned second-team All-Empire Eight honors, while seniors Dane Fischer and Matt Miller and sophomore Tyler Schulz earned honorable mention in All-Empire Eight. The team relied on balanced scoring and a suffocating defense to key wins and Coach Jim Mullins will return a solid cast back for next season, losing only Fischer and Miller to graduation.

The Bombers finished their season 23-4, losing in the second round of the NCAA tournament for the second consecutive year. The Blue and Gold received a bid to the tournament after winning the Empire Eight conference edging out rival St. John Fisher. After winning the New York State Women's Collegiate Athletic Association tournament, the South Hill squad received a first round bye.

En route to the second round of the NCAA's, the team won a school-high 14 consecutive games. In addition, the team defeated teams ranked in the top ten and triumphed over Cortland for the first time since 1998.

A Record Breaking Season
By Bill D'Elia

The Bombers gymnastics team had a successful season in which they were ranked near the top nationally for most of the year and in which a number of new records were established.

Sophomore Leslie Gelatt set a new record in the floor exercise by earning a 9.800 against Springfield, and the entire Bomber team set a new team record on the uneven bars by scoring a 46.200 against Brockport. Ithaca finished the season with a dual meet record of 1-2 as well as three third-place finishes and two second-place finishes at invitationals, a third place finish at the ECAC Championships and a fifth-place finish at the NCGA Championships.

Bomber's Baseball

By Mario Fontana

The Bombers baseball squad had yet another successful season, going 20-12. Senior co-captain Steve Nardozzi led the Bomber offense with a .353 batting average, three home runs, and 25 runs batted in. Junior Kyle Wilkins joined Nardozzi atop the batting order, compiling a .404 on-base percentage and wreaking havoc on the basepaths with a team-leading nine stolen bases.

Pitching was not a problem as the three-headed monster of senior co-captain Ian Locke, senior Sazi Guthrie and sophomore Kyle Sottung combined for 15 wins in 26 starts. Senior closer Jim Daunais was the strong link in a shaky bullpen, saving five games and limiting opponents to a paltry .188 batting average against.

Kudos to National Champs
Ithaca!
Courtesy Sports Information Office

It is very numbing right now," said Ithaca coach Deb Pallozzi, who is now 361-198 in 14 years at Ithaca. Ithaca scored the only run of the game in the third inning on an RBI single by senior outfielder Mairin Dudek (Windsor/Windsor, Conn.). Sophomore infielder Kerri Barber (Tabor Academy/South Glastonbury, Conn.) began the inning with a single up the middle. Junior outfielder Kim Stephens (E.O. Smith/Mansfield Center, Conn.) reached on a fielder's choice with Barber out at second base. Junior Alison Cole (Charles O. Dickerson/Trumansburg) then grounded out to the pitcher, advancing Stephens to second. Dudek hit the game-winning RBI to right field, scoring Stephens.

Junior Abby Hanrahan (Trinity/Forest Park, Ill.) collected the win, giving up three hits. Freshman Abbey Pelot (Chittenango/Kirkville) relieved Hanrahan with one out in the top of the sixth inning. Pelot pitched one and two-thirds innings of scoreless relief to give the Bombers the victory.

The national championship is the 13th won by Ithaca College and the first since the Bombers won the 1998 National Collegiate Gymnastics Association title. Ithaca's last NCAA championship came in 1994 when the wrestling team won its third title. The last national title by a women's sport at Ithaca was in 1991 when the women's soccer team defended its NCAA title. The Bombers have also won national championships in football (three), baseball (two) and field hockey (one).

Softball
By Charlie Ellsworth

The Ithaca softball team ended its season with a record of 37-13, and triumphed in the Empire Eight Conference Tournament Championship going on to win the NCAA Division Championship with a thrilling 1-0 win over Lake Forest. The win was a first for the Softball program.

The Bombers were led by junior pitcher Abby Hanrahan and senior catcher Kristin Purdon. Hanrahan finished the regular season 14-7 with a 1.54 earned run average and a school-record four saves. Purdon set team-highs in home runs (8), runs batted in (34) and slugging percentage (.664). All this, in addition to her .361 batting average filled the power gap left by 2001 Division III Player of the Year Laura Remia, '01.

Men's Indoor and Outdoor Track
By Bill D'Elia

Two Bombers athletes competed in the NCAA Division III Indoor Track and Field Championships at Ohio Northern in Ada, Ohio. Junior Jim Ravener and sophomore Brandon Mallette each earned All-America honors placing fourth and eighth respectively in the 800-meters. Ravener set his 7th school-record with a time of 1:54.37 while Mallette ran a 1:58.22. Ravener and Mallette are Ithaca's first indoor All-Americans since Sean Livingston earned the honor, placing fourth in the 1,500-meters in 1991. John Benson was the last athlete to earn All-America honors in the 800-meters, placing fourth in 1987.

In a season in which no team scores were kept, the Ithaca men's track and field team had a number of outstanding individual performances.

At the Moravian Greyhound Invitational, sophomore Brandon Mallette recorded a provisional NCAA qualifying time in the 800-meter run by finishing in 1 min. 53.94 seconds.

At the Cornell Big Red Invitational, a number of athletes had outstanding performances. Sophomore Chris Ryer placed first and set a school record in the 100-meter dash by finishing in 10.6 seconds and Gregg Hobbs '04 and Shaun Fyffe '04 set qualifying marks in the 110-meter hurdles (15.2) and 800-meter run (1:58.04) respectively.
Women's Indoor and Outdoor Track
By Lauren Teucke

The women's track team had another successful season filled with both team and individual accomplishments. The team won the Hamilton College Indoor Track Invitational totaling 192 points and tied Tufts for 1st place at the Tufts University Invitational. In addition, the Bombers won the New York State Collegiate Track Conference title for the fifth straight year in both indoor and outdoor track. Five athletes competed in the NCAA Division III Indoor Track and Field Championships. The relay team of Amanda Laytham '04, Lynn Janovich '03, Kristen Cravotta '04 and Emily Matson '05 set a school record during the season and were 7th in the in a ten team competition. Also, Elena DeQuesada '04 and Nichole Clark '04 competed at the New York State Collegiate Track Conference decathlon/heptathlon.
A Winning Season
By Andrew Kroekel

The men's lacrosse team played its way to another winning season in 2002 as it entered the final weekend of the regular season ranked 9th in the nation.

The 8-4 Bombers were tied with RIT for first place in the Empire Eight with a 4-1 conference record. The winner of the game went on to the NCAA playoffs.

Standing out for the Bombers was freshman Brian Weil who, heading into the final weekend, led the team in points with 37 points on 17 goals and 20 assists. Junior captain Dennis Juleff also had a great year as he entered the final weekend tied for second on the team with 32 points as well as having scored a point in 39 straight games.

A Strong Season for the Men's Crew Team
By Brian Delaney

The men's crew team had another successful spring as they finished with a strong winning record of 9 and 5. The men's varsity eight was strong and consistent all season long, competing against crews from all over the east coast. The men's A boat was made up of junior coxswain Robyn Demarco, senior stroke Nate Tharter, senior seventh seat Brain Cassagno, senior sixth seat Ben Reidell, junior fifth seat Jason Frank, sophomore fourth seat Geoff Marsh, sophomore third seat Derek Fosmire, senior second seat Nate Trythall, and senior bow Mike Theeman. With a young squad, the Bombers appear ready for a bright future according to coach Dan Robinson.
Women's Crew
By Joshua McCann
The women's crew team finished third at the first NCAA Division III Championship ever. The varsity eight, ranked second nationally for most of the season, tied with William Smith in Indianapolis where the event was held.

The Blue and Gold, without senior and two-time All-American Melinda Bolgar, suffered a pair of early season defeats to no. one Williams and no. eight William Smith. Since that loss, the Bombers have not dropped a race to a Division III foe despite facing nine ranked crews in three weeks during a torrid late-April streak.

186 Senior Week
The question is, Do you have a dream and did you have the dream before you came to Ithaca? Did that dream compel you to come to Ithaca College, or has Ithaca College compelled you to your dream or to the shocking awareness that you don't have one? Well don't worry. You can negotiate, because we are people of big dreams and high achievers, and here in this place and with these dreams is where it all begins... So let us dream, let us hope and pray, let us reinvent ourselves every morning... I believe that the whole point of being here at Ithaca College, is to focus on your personal dreams.

We celebrate today the commencement of these students... who have overcome economic hardship or the hardship of prosperity, overcome cultural differences or cultural bankruptcy, overcome the disadvantages of homes and neighborhoods unsuitable for human habitation or homes and neighborhoods stifling in their socialization, students who have traveled hundreds of different paths to come to this place to take a first step in many. Every successive step will have to be as sure and as able, and each successive step may not be accompanied by a big party full of people telling you how wonderful you are. You’ll have to focus your worthiness into yourself, into your consciousness, very quickly, because you’ll have to be reminding yourself of it by yourself, often, as you continue down this path. The degree you achieve today is not a handout -- it is a contract. None of us, no matter our age, history, or condition, had anything handed to us. We have had to do it ourselves, and God only knows what we can, each of us, do for ourselves.

What America is today, the world will be tomorrow. Somebody has to take responsibility, and I’ve come here to ask all of you to try.

I applaud you and I offer you one bit of advice on this most auspicious and joyous occasion: ‘Let the force be with you.’

~ James Earl Jones, 107th Ithaca College Commencement Speaker

“We try to avoid saying how fast it all went by. We begin to realize how much we actually love this place. A bittersweet farewell awaits us.

Be as true to yourself as you possibly can. Walk right into the fire. Listen to people. Realize everybody is different. Be introspective. And nurture your friendships, for they are what carry you through.”

~ Andrew Sachs, Senior Class President

“World events of this past year have made us aware of that the world is a volatile and fractured place -- a place desperately in need of powerful hope and enlightened leadership. You leave Ithaca at a critical time in the world’s history. Each of you has an important role to play in the years ahead, and I implore you to take up this challenge to provide hope and leadership for all in the years to come.

This year’s medallions bear a quotation by the author and cultural anthropologist Mary Catherine Bateson: ‘Composing a life involves a continual reimagining of the future.’ The composing of your life is a never-ending process. Today, as you prepare to close one chapter of your life and begin another, I offer these thoughts: Continue to learn from your experiences and apply all that you learned at Ithaca. Do not be afraid to reevaluate or reimagine your course. Have faith in your abilities, believe in your dreams, and have confidence in those who will support you when you need it most.”

~ Peggy R. Williams, President, Ithaca College
