L. C. Registration Increased By Fifteen Per Cent

Miss Bess Daniels, who was one of our more recent additions to the faculty, was in the education school in Los Angeles, after which she studied at Pomona College. She was in the master's class of Dr. Yavitz's and feels that this substantial increase is a result of the past year, with the largest increase in the physical education department. Dr. Job, who heads the administration, has conferred with the Board of Public Works and The Common Council of the City of Ithaca, who have approved of opening a building project on the college campus. This project will be carried out when it is finally approved by the Federal Board of Public Works. The method required to obtain federal assistance is very promising, and it is expected that the school will continue to "hang it up" at the office of 120 East Buffalo Street, and feel, as we do, that it is home.

Originally a Canadian, Dr. Zeller grew up in Ohio, and after his graduation from Berea went directly to the University of Akron where he worked with Norman Forester, the author of the book upon which the American Literature course here. Because of his experience as editor of a small town newspaper while in college and his ability to de-"vote himself to a teaching fellowship in English. He received much valuable experience there in the university theatre with E. C. Mahon, the director of the Department of Speech and Drama. He worked on experimental dramatic productions in the Valley Forge, Laborium Group, the Civic Theatre of John Doe, and other well-known plays.

In 1936, after his dissertation, which was the first original work accepted for requirement for the degree, he received his Ph.D. from that university which has, and maintains, a wide reputation for graduate work in English and drama.

While there, Dr. Zeller met his future wife, a music student, and they were married last spring.

Music Department Anticipates Good Year

Music is going to be a very active part of the life of the college this year. The proposed building will house the physical education department and part of the music department. It will contain approximately 16 modern class rooms.

Many much needed improvements have been made in the buildings of Ithaca College during the summer. The most noticeable progress is being made in the dormitories and the gymnasium. The new floors in the dorms are a far cry from the worn and slanting floors which were present last year. The gymnasium, with its new floors and ceiling is a very attractive little place. The room has been outfitted with modern equipment making it a more comfortable place.

In the past, students of Ithaca College have been ready to criticize any unattractive or inadequate feature of our buildings, but have gone ahead and destroyed or defaced what we do possess.

Let us agree to cooperate in the administration for the improvements that are needed and take care of what we already have.
Once more the Ithacan staff is back at the old gig. We miss many familiar faces long associated with this office, but we are more than compensated by the flood of new faces in evidence.

At first the new home of the Ithacan seemed a bit strange, but it is much larger and more suited to what we are rapidly adopting it. The old Ithacan flavor seems to be much missed, however.

This year, our endeavor will be to make the Ithacan a paper fully in keeping with the capabilities of the paper. We shall not attempt to put out a newspaper in the true sense; rather we shall do it by cattley as is the custom. Irrespective of this, there are several things we feel that we should establish in the Ithacan.

Rather, we intend to stress the work of each and every member of the staff. Work that is divided among departments, and to reward them in a manner most pleasing to you.

From time to time, articles, pictures, poems, and other published matter will appear, submitted by students and members of the staff, and hope you will enjoy your efforts and cooperation. Do not let the fact that you are not a professional writer prevent you from contributing. It is your paper, your opportunity to express yourself; so allow others what we are so fortunate to possess.

The Ithacan represents you. If you have suggestions as to how we can improve our paper, write old tune Hurst, or better still, drop us a letter, or better still, drop in and tell us about it. We are eager for constructive criticism.

To The Freshmen

The freshmen are "bowed down" with work, for they are new, and the Ithacan, not being of our own making, brings a flood of suggestions to the Class of 1942, and with it, their new thoughts passed on in a meaningful way. All those who have established them already thrust at them.

The freshmen find their task a loving one, and we reckon with them the fresh and inexperienced. Then, any other suit.

The freshmen find the idea of the "freshman" a bit of a question, for there is no little who wishes to lead. Let the faculty in on these little disturbances. Are they done with the "bowed down" and probably will help. It always lightens your worries to unload your cares on a confidante, but the time, person, and place are of paramount importance. Let not the fresher tell you, to go to that person you feel directly responsible to, and not to the other freshmen first, but give that person an opportunity to adjust matters of this sort, an opportunity that can lead to the expression of the opinion of the matter.

Up-Beat

Up-Beat: Olin Johnson

Well, here we are--starting a new year, with a new staff to fill the shoes originated by Joe De Vaux, has a new author. It is of course the obligation of the editor to find someone to confide in someone a little older; it is particularly the desire of anyone who happens to be a new face in evidence. If something is troubling you, we can improve our paper, write old tune Hurst, or better still, drop in and tell us about it. We are eager for constructive criticism.

Before we start this year's advice to the lovelorn let us clearly one point--if anyone seriously objects to a newspaper in the true sense of the word, as such an attitude is only likely to lead to the appearance of his name in print. One of the first people we met was Virginia Thomas, who, little by little, came in to the big Ocean City, Md. She told us that she is here to enter the school and to enjoy the Physical Education. She came by, with the way, on recommendation of her school music teacher.

In my travels, I have been to build qualities into lives which will go to make better citizens capable of living an abundant life!

Whether success you may achieve in your various fields dedpends greatly upon your desire to be of service, and your ability to serve is, in turn, measured by your preparations. Be wise enough to look around you and choose from your college life those courses which will equip you to serve most effectively in your special field.

I have been fortunate in being able to visit the college on numerous occasions since graduating in 1934, and can perceptibly sense a definitive trend forward and upward in the caliber of the work presented by the various departments of our college—thanks to the capable guidance of our President, Dr. Job, and the various department heads
under the leadership of the administration and faculty of Ithaca College.

THE UP-BEAT

It would be much better, then,
to develop personality a bit more professionally then. Right?

Professionalism already achieved will mean a great deal after graduating. We should not and can not depend on our college education.
College is an opportunity, but it will not be what goes into us while in school, but what comes out after leaving, that fixes our standard as a teacher. Why not develop the professional while still in school?
It will truly be to our advantage.
A quotation—"It would be excedingly difficult to overestimate
the important part that teachers take in the development of the life of the nation. They exercise their art not in the materials of this world, which pass away, but upon the human soul, where it will resist. That's all !"—Calvin Coolidge.
