College Welcomes Five New Faculty Members

All the "freshmen" in Ithaca College this year are not wearing fresh caps and buttons. There are first year faculty members in two departments of the college in addition to new Dean of Women and new diettian.

Miss Hilda Albin, Dean of Women, came to Ithaca College from New Brunswick, N. J. where she was secretary of the Y.W.C.A. A graduate of Ohio State College, Miss Albin received her Master's Degree in Personnel from Columbia University. During the interview, Miss Albin remarked, "I am particularly impressed with the atmosphere of Ithaca College and the friendliness of the students. I have never met a nicer group of girls.

Miss Carolyn Wilbur, the new diettian from Indians. She says, "I'm a Hoosier and proud of it." Purdue University is Miss Wilbur's Alma Mater and the position at Ithaca College is her first away from it.

When Miss Roberta Barnett was interviewed, she had just decided, perhaps the hills of Ithaca have a little more steep since her first book here." Barnett, a teacher of Speech comes from New York, where she has taught at Brooklyn College, Barnard, Hunter and Columbia. Previously Miss Barnett has been head of the Department of Speech at Teachers College of East Stroudsburg and Mary Washington College.

Miss Barnett believes in a well-rounded education. As a teacher she has held positions with Lord and Taylor, The Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and the Excelledia Press in Philadelphia.

A second new faculty member in the Drama Department is Mr. Karl J. Hinnerscheitz, who attended Franklin Marshall. He received his A.B. from Oberlin. After several seasons in summer stock as preparation, he studied in the Reinhardt seminar in Vienna, acting in the Reinhardt theatre there. Upon returning to this country, Mr. Hinnerscheitz did professional theatre work, mainly with The Theatre Guild. In Allentown, Pennsylvania, he worked at Station WSAM where he wrote, directed, and produced his own shows. Immediately prior to coming to Ithaca College, Mr. Hinnerscheitz taught in Maconelaer and Northwestern. One of his primary interests is television and he feels that Ithaca College can have an important place in the training of leaders in this field. Mr. Tren has been added to the Physical Education staff. She received her B.S. from Wesleyan and had been employed in Washington, D.C. where she was then teaching. At that time her major was in English, but she took her Doctorate in Physics Education from Columbia. Her past teaching positions include the University of Nebraska, Georgia, Ohio, Connecticut, and Mississippip.

"Guest In The House"

First Hinnerschietz Play

Mr. Karl J. Hinnerschietz, new production director in the Drama Department, has chosen "Guest In The House" as his first presentation at Ithaca College. Dates of performance have been set for November 3 and 4 and 10 and 11. In this melodrama, Mr. Hinnerschietz has a play which will have a great deal of popular appeal, for it is packed with suspense.

The cast in the Ithaca College production are Peggy Lobbin, Daniel Safford, Ruth Lasker, Edna Ruelke, Robert Juhren, Sherry Schott, Joan O'Connell, Geneva Rockefeller, Gwenyth Jones, Daniel Bonacci, Betty Jean Dugan, David Mistov, and Arthur Goodrich. The part of an eight year old girl will be played by Joan O'Connell, an Ithaca Junior High School student. Eleanor Segal is assistant director for the production.

"Guest In The House" was first produced on Broadway in 1942. Included in the original cast were Mary Anderson, Pert Kelton, and Williams Prince. Since that time it has been used in many college and community theatres.

from The Lovely Miracle, a play by Philip Johnson. She was president of the National Honor Society of her high school and has won both local and state-wide contests in speech and dramatics.

The second award was presented to Daniel Bonacci of Rochester and Daryl Sterner of Hanover, Pa., these two candidates being tied for second place. Each will receive the full amount of the award. Bonacci gave the first scene of Steinbeck's Of Mice and Men, and Miss Sterner presented a scene from Rachel Field's Three Pilgrims In a Bottle.

A partial award, made on the basis of high school records, was given to Betty Timmerman of Dryden.

Besides the cash scholarships, scholarship lunches were served to John Jarvis, trumpet major of Cattskill, and to Mary Diana, Edward Rosslaker, and Arthur Stone, of the Physical Education Department.

Drama Cops Cup

Things are almost normal. ThePhys 15 group has moved back to the Band Room. Mr. Finch can approach Mrs. Lynch's office without fear of being mobbed by Drama freshmen hanging gowns on the door, making last minute telephone calls, and putting up rehearsal notices. We've gone back to the old radio station WHCU. It was temporarily tampered with last Wednesday night by the Music Students who introduced Station M U S I C.

The W.S.G.A. silver loving cup was awarded for originality of script, smoothness of performance, and variety of talent to the Drama Department. Dean Allen, Miss Carolyn Wilbur, and Miss Marcelle Stert were the judges. Florence Fodorovich helped to ease the anxiety of waiting for the decision with a bit of "Boogie woogie" while the judges compared notes. The social chairman of W.S.G.A. Eleanor Segal awarded the cup to Peggy Lobbin and Enid Kronick who advised and directed the playlet. Helen Champion advised the music group and Barbara Luce, the physical education skit.
