The 1988 GAYUSAN is dedicated to Diana H. Miller. Diana, a senior Television/Radio major who passed away on Saturday, April 30, 1988 was a vital part of the Ithaca College community and will be missed by all who's lives she touched.
More than ninety years ago, a virtuoso violinist, still in his twenties, returned to Ithaca after advanced study in Berlin, determined to found a Conservatory of Music. With his wife and a handful of faculty members, William Grant Egbert located four rented rooms in downtown Ithaca and on September 19, 1892, the Ithaca Conservatory of Music began.

The new institution flourished, moving within a few years to more extensive facilities that included the Wilgus Opera House. A new arrival, George C. Williams, elocutionist, soon moved his specialty into the first of the "affiliated schools," The Williams School of Expression. As business manager, Williams was able by 1911 to purchase a handsome town house in the De Witt Park area, which would be the nucleus for the downtown campus. The Little Theatre was soon constructed and other structures built or purchased in this area.

Other affiliated schools soon followed: Public School Music (1910); Physical Education (1917); Speech Correction (1921); Chautauqua and Lyceum Arts and the Conway Band School (1922); the Westminster Choir School (1929). Williams succeeded Egbert as President in 1924, and, with a new charter in 1931, we became Ithaca College. Some affiliated schools were discontinued, so that by the 1930's the three components were the School of Music; the School of Physical Education (which would add Physiotherapy); and the School of Drama.

The College survived two world wars and the great depression, to begin a new phase of development in the 1950's. The student population grew dramatically, and the demand was for liberal arts curricula. The College of Arts and Sciences thus came into existence and soon accounted for half of the College's programs.

Downtown Ithaca was proving cramped, and possibilities of locations in other cities were considered. But the College had always dreamed of building a new campus on South Hill, and by 1960 this vision began to be realized. Within a decade, the campus as we know it today was substantially complete. Continuing growth and curricular expansion led to the reorganization of the College in the 1970's as a School of Allied Health Professions; a School of Business; a School of Communications; a School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation; a School of Humanities and Sciences; a School of Music; and a School of Graduate Studies.

Throughout this long development the institution has shown itself able not only to adjust to but also to anticipate the changes in the educational market. The coexistence of professional and liberal arts curricula has made it unusually flexible in meeting new demands from its students. Strong in numbers and in the quality of its programs, the college looks forward to its hundredth birthday in 1992 with pride in its achievement and enthusiastic confidence in its future.

LIP SYNC TALENT SHOW
"HAS THE CIA GONE TOO FAR?"
On February 24 a sold out audience gathered in the Emerson Suites. The main attraction was a debate between sixties activist Abbie Hoffman and ultra conservatist G. Gordon Liddy who’s claim to fame is involvement in the Watergate scandal. They spoke from opposite viewpoints of the political spectrum in response to the question, “Has the CIA gone too far?” An active audience alternated between hisses and cheers as Liddy expressed the necessity of secret intelligence and Hoffman condemned the alleged drug trafficking and terrorism of the CIA. The classic stereotypes were well represented by both Liddy in a suit carrying a sober, cold, attitude; and Hoffman who was slovenly and passionate.

The president of this year's Accounting club was Deborah Wojak. The club was designed to provide a forum for business and accounting students to gather in a social atmosphere outside of classes. This year they had a Student-Faculty mixer. Also among this year's activities were tutorial sessions and guest speakers.
The Afro-Latin Society was led by Tim Pitts this year. Under his leadership, ALS sponsored many activities that promoted awareness of political, social, and cultural issues concerning third world people.
Alpha Epsilon Rho

Led by President Kimberly Cardinal, A.E. Rho was successful in broadening the media experiences of outstanding students in the School of Communication.
The president of this year's Amani singers was Nadine Shaw. The purpose of the Amani Singers is to bring about peace, and spread joy and unity to the people of the community and of the school through inspirational songs. This was a very special year for Amani; they participated in many services at Muller Chapel, and held a concert there at the year's end.
American Marketing Association

The President of this year's American Marketing Association was Michael Madsen. The purpose of the organization was to enhance students' textbook knowledge of marketing through awareness and important guest speakers. The organization is affiliated with the national chapter.
American Production and Inventory Control

John McIntyre presided over our chapter of The American Production and Inventory Control Society. The club provided a better understanding of production through experts in the field and held a seminar for the national APICS.
The president of this year's ASPA was Kristi Isaacson. The organization fulfilled its goal of keeping up with the latest information concerning the personnel administration field. Members participated in Ithaca Personnel Association Luncheons.
Bureau of Concerts

Neil Aaron acted as chairperson for the Bureau of Concerts this year. The Bureau did an excellent job of providing a wide variety of concerts for the Ithaca Community. Acts included INXS, Pretty Poison, Debbie Gibson and the Wailers.
The Catholic Community provides an opportunity for the community to witness the common baptism vow of clergy, religions and loyalty; to share responsibility and authority for ministry in the church and to provide for and develop an experience in Christian leadership among the Catholic Community.
The College Democrats educate students about the Democratic Party, its ideals, achievements, and goals; to get students involved in local and national politics to further their awareness.
The communication's club provided a forum for communications students to gather in a social setting. They had a very active year.
Delta Mu Delta

Delta Mu Delta encourages higher scholarship and promotes friendship among students enrolled in the School of Business as well as recognizing academic achievement of business students.

Delta Phi Zeta

Delta Phi Zeta promotes a spirit of helpfullness, unity and friendship among the women of Ithaca College; with continued improvement of the individual and organization in mind; to participate in many activities both social and service oriented in order to better the organization.
Students Take Interest In Israel

Ithaca College Friends of Israel is a group of students, Jewish and non-Jewish who have a strong interest in Israel. The group has access to many available trips to Israel, and tries to make the student body aware of various programs available in Israel. The group's main goal is to make Israel visible on the IC campus. We have many events throughout the year such as falafel parties, discussions, speakers, and movies.
Gamma Delta Pi is devoted to working for the betterment of the community, the college and the individual; cooperating with the administration, and faculty of the college in advancing scholarly interests and promoting higher standards of social conduct; and cooperating with other collegiate groups in solving actual problems and in building higher standards of womanhood.

Kappa Gamma Psi encourages the growth of music in America via music schools and their administration, faculty, and students, to promote new musical composition, encourage professionalism in music and promote music education.
Medical Records Administration Club Sponsored
“The Mental Health Players”

President: Michele Czysz
Vice President: Virginia Condon
Secretary: Ellen Krawjewski
Treasurer: Scott Elliot

The Medical Record Administration Club’s activities are not only significant to students in the Medical Record Administration major, but also to any other student interested in the health care industry. To those in the major it provided social functions and dinners, which allowed the students to get to know each other outside of class. The club also sponsored various speakers who discussed topics relevant to our major and the healthcare industry in general. Well received was the Mental Health Players from Elmira Psychiatric Center. They performed a dramatic presentation of mental illness in our society. A graduate study survey was conducted to determine the whereabouts, position, salaries, and general information from our graduates. Carnation sales and a brunch at the Holiday Inn were included in this year’s activities.
The Men's Hockey Club was led by co-presidents Todd Sandler and Bryan Miller. The group got plenty of exercise in the spirit of competition.

Men's Volleyball

Chris Fagan led this year's Men's Volleyball Club. The club provided a good source of competition for men's volleyball.
Omicron Delta Epsilon had Busy Year

Omicron Delta Epsilon (Economics Honor Society) has had an active and challenging year. In addition to serving as teaching assistants, tutoring economic students, conducting end of the semester course evaluations and completing economic tutorial studies acceptable for departmental honors, ODE has also participated in many other campus activities. For example, ODE co-sponsored, publicized, and helped prepare for guest speaker Dr. Gerry Childs, an economist from British Petroleum Oil Inc. ODE also played an important role in entertaining potential candidates for position in the economics department. ODE members attended presentations, had lunch with, gave campus tours, and evaluated the candidates for the selection process. ODE also conducted fund raisers and sponsored numerous socials. We are proud of ODE’s progress and achievements in ’88.

The club members were: Pres. Gregory Rawson, Vice Pres. Deborah Storm, Treas. Don Judson, Secretary Lisa Rawson; Jeff Paterson, Robert Connor, Chung Wang; and new members were John Bernard, Christine Brown, John Cozar, Marjorie Eliertsen, Staci Herrick, Mead Loop, Vikas Mavinkurve, Suzanne Mihok, Jennifer Reisig, and Annabelle Rokeach.
"We're going places" The Ithaca College Outing Club is all about appreciating and having fun in the outdoors. Advised by Dr. Judy Kennison and student officers, the Outing Club is open to any student, faculty, or staff on campus. Individuals not belonging to the IC community are also welcome.

This year, we spent a weekend in the Catskills backpacking. It rained the whole trip, but bad weather doesn't stop this club. We also spent four days during Fall Break canoeing in the Adirondacks. This February, we went cross country skiing for a weekend in Eagle Bay, also in the Adirondacks. The club also took advantage of the natural opportunities here in the Finger Lakes Region with several day hikes and outings.
Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Encourages and actively promotes the highest standards of creativity, performance, education, and research in music in America; to develop and encourage loyalty to the Alma Mater; and to foster the mutual welfare and brotherhood of students of music and to develop the truest fraternal spirit among its members.
IC Physics Club:
“Demented and Sad, but Social”
— The Breakfast Club

The average Physics major will spend close to 7000 hours in the science building while at Ithaca (yes, we have beds in the laboratories), never see the inside of the Dugout, use great ingenuity while playing golf on a computer, spend Friday nights using a diffraction grating to determine the spectrum of neon lights, Saturday nights with “Star Trek.” This past year we have taken a few hours out to figure out the Science and Nature questions in “Trivial Pursuit,” to determine the projectile motion of a volleyball, figure out through informational meetings what the department offers other than no sleep and too much work, gather all the other scientists in other colleges on the east coast ECSC together to analyze experiments, and bring back survivors to find out what the real world offers for us illustrious Physics Students. Eat your hearts out: we are looking at six figures! The club was advised by Dr. Ahren Sadoff and the officers consisted of Jackie Coir, Sharon Hunter, Alissa Spalding, Patti Stefurra, and Jerry Walker.
Politics Club

The Politics Club educates the student body of current political issues in the world, and on campus; to have speakers on issues pertinent to the I.C. community; to motivate students to be politically aware through movies and discussion of issues; and to create a sense of social unity which will benefit the student in college and in the future.
The President's Host Committee is comprised of 94 dedicated individuals who are selected to provide campus tours for all prospective students and their families. Tours are conducted Monday through Friday, 9:00am-3:00pm and also on Saturday mornings. Each member has a weekly tour time and is involved in other admissions-related activities, such as Discovery Days, Ithaca Today and Peer Recruiting. "Hosties" are responsible students who are enthusiastic and knowledgeable about Ithaca College. Their commitment and service is a valuable asset to Ithaca College. Co-Chairpersons for the President's Host Committee are Jennifer Clary and Debbie Mendelsohn and their advisor is Sally Hoekelman, Assistant Director of Admissions.
The Prevention Network provides current information about AIDS to the I.C. community; to provide a setting for sharing beliefs, values, and fears about AIDS; to provide a support network for anyone with concerns about AIDS and to enable students to make informed decisions around the issue of AIDS.
The Senior Class Officers plan and promote numerous activities and events for class members and their friends; to raise funds; and to bring together or unify the Senior Class Members.
The Student Activities Board provides extra-curricular entertainment and provides students the opportunity to program events for the campus and community.
Sigma Alpha Iota is an international, academic music fraternity for women in the field of music and stands for the highest ideals in musicianship. SAI sponsors such projects as the Braille Transcription project and Bold Notes which aid visually handicapped musicians. There are numerous other projects aiding people in the U.S. and abroad. Epsilon Chapter at Ithaca College strives to benefit the community and School of Music. We entertain monthly at Ithacare, a retirement home. This past holiday season we went caroling on the Commons. As a chapter, we strive to further the aims of music by making scholarships available to any female music student. We also hold two recitals per semester to give the sisters more performance opportunities. Our experiences in SAI enable us to develop personally and musically through the application of its ideals in our lives.
Students Organize for Peace

Student and Teachers Aligned in Nuclear Disarmament is an organization dedicated to educating the Ithaca College community about nuclear and other social issues. Led by co-presidents Jason Ruff and Sarah Richmond, S.T.A.N.D. sponsored various speakers and held a Peace Awareness Day during the 1987-88 school year.
Student Government

Student Government provides democratic representation; to insure student rights and privileges; and to mediate, advocate, serve and encourage the activities and concerns of the college community.
The United Jewish Appeal provides a formal basis for the education of Jews and non-Jews about the problems of Israel through guest speakers, fundraisers and social events.

Bomber’s Football Achieves 17th Consecutive Winning Season

Coach Jim Butterfield achieved his 150th career win while coaching the Bombers to their 17th consecutive winning season. Though they lost the season opener by one point to Albany State, the Bombers bounced back, ending the season with a 7-3 record, thanks to a great 7 game winning streak. In addition, they won their fourth ICAC title in a row and were ranked nationally in the top five.
Great Golf
in the Fall and Spring
This year's golf team had a great year. Both the fall and spring records were good. They had 5 wins and 3 losses in the fall. The spring record was 4-1. Coach Bob Caliel can boast a fine season.
Kostrinsky Coaches Winning Field Hockey Team

Ithaca's Field Hockey team earned its 9th consecutive post season spot in the NCAA Division III Regionals. The team boasts two first team All-NYSWCAA players, and a season record of 10-9-1. Coach Doris Kostrimsky celebrated her 200th career victory during this, her 19th season coaching at IC.
Men’s Soccer Place 2nd in ICAC, NCAA Regional

The men’s soccer team worked hard for an outstanding season. They finished with an outstanding record of 12 wins, 4 losses, and 2 ties. They placed second in both the ICAC and the NCAA Regional.
Excellent Season for Women’s Soccer

The women’s soccer team played a very successful season. Their final record was 11 wins, 6 losses and 1 tie, and included a bid to the NCAA Regionals. It looks as if those long practice hours paid off!
Men’s and Women’s Cross Country Undefeated

The men’s cross country team ran an outstanding 5-0 season. They placed 3rd in the ICAC, and 4th in the NYSCTFA. They achieved their success under the direction of Coach Bill Ware.
The Ithaca College women's cross country team had an outstanding 1987 season. Led by co-captains Colleen Skelly and Cathy Livingston, the team held an undefeated 3-0 record. The team placed first in the CAC Northeastern League Championships, first in the NCAA Division Three National Championships. The team was distinguished by three All-Americans: Colleen Skelly, Jannette Bonrouhi and Cathy Livingston.
The men's tennis team played an exceptional season this year. Under the direction of Tim Faulkner, the team finished with eight wins and only one loss, placing 2nd in the ICAC. Overall, a fine performance.
Women's Tennis Promises
Bright Future

The women's tennis team included several young, strong hopefuls this year. They finished the season with a 2-4, and placed 4th in the ICAC Invitational.
Women’s Volleyball Wins 1st Place ICAC
The women played great volleyball this season. They finished with an astounding record of 44 wins and 9 losses. They placed 3rd in the NYSWCAA, and 1st in both ICAC and the NCAA Regionals. Coach Jane Jacobs led this year's team.
Wrestling Team Undefeated

This year's wrestlers had an undefeated record of 15 wins and no losses. Led by Coach John Murray, the team placed 5th in the State, and 3rd in the NCAA.
The Ithaca College Women's Gymnastics team finished its season with a 6-3 record. The team was third in the ECAC championships and fifth in the NCGA championships. The Bombers placed six gymnasts on the ECAC All-Conference team, gymnasts in the finals of the national tournament and two gymnasts, Karin Curry and Kris Moore, were selected to be All-Americans.
Men’s Basketball Plays A Fantastic Season

This year's men's basketball team had a great season. They won 16 games and lost 11. Under the leadership of Coach Tom Baker, they placed second in the ICAC and advanced to the ECAC Playoffs.
Strong Players on Women’s Basketball

Under the direction of Coach Christine Pritchard, the women's basketball team achieved a solid 13-11 record. They feel that this year's hard work has set the foundation for further success next year.
Swim Teams Achieve Success

Both men and women's swim teams had successful seasons under the direction of Paul Miller. The men's record was 9 wins and 1 loss. They placed 1st in the ICAC, 2nd in the state, and 12th in the NCAA. The women's team record was 7 wins and 2 losses. They placed an outstanding 1st place in both the ICAC and the NYSWCAA, and placed 7th in the NCAA.

President James J. Whalen
At your freshman convocation four years ago, I welcomed you to Ithaca College and spoke to you about the Turtle Bridge, about Merlin and King Arthur, and about the importance of magic and learning. I began my remarks by noting how much more difficult it was to address you, the incoming class, at your convocation than it was just a few months earlier to speak to the graduating class at their commencement.

I explained that "after four years of college the graduating seniors had been through what you are about to experience. They had met the challenges and earned their degrees. They had changed and matured, and had already emerged from this period of their lives that is so rich with discovery, growth and fulfillment. All that was left to me was to congratulate them and send them on their way."

Now, you, the class of 1988, have my congratulations as you wend your way in the world. You have met the challenges and you have experienced the growth that characterize an Ithaca education. You have grown beyond measure, intellectually, socially, professionally, and personally. You are no longer the same person who arrived here four years ago, and that difference — between what you were then and what you are now — reveals the true purpose of this very special college.

You have my best for every success and happiness in the years which lie ahead. Most of all, I wish you continued growth throughout your lifetime — that the world might always offer new opportunities and that you might always welcome them.

Sincerely

James J. Whalen
Dean William A. Scoones
School of Allied Health Professions
It is a distinct pleasure to write you a farewell note as you leave Ithaca College for what is known in the vernacular as "the real world". However, as students of the School of Allied Health Professions you have had steady interaction with "The real world" through your internships, clinical affiliations, outplacements, and student teaching experiences in health-related facilities. Unlike the graduates of many schools who only leave their cloistered campuses for vacations or long weekends, you have kept in touch with the world through the curricular demands of your program. And think of how much you have learned and grown over the past four years; from your first glimpse of Ithaca through one of our publications of a campus visit, to your current status as a new "alum". The physical changes in you are obvious, just look at yourself in your secondary school yearbook.

Beyond the physical changes are the more subtle ones that you've experienced, but of which you have not always been aware. These include the tremendous expansion of your knowledge about an infinite number of topics, your emotional growth and development, taking part in athletic activities, musical and theatrical performances, eating institutionally prepared rather than home cooked food, and, perhaps, working with a disabled or disadvantaged child or resident of a long term care facility.

The constellation of all these experiences, all of the memories, the discovery of new information, the honing of newly acquired skills, and the acquisition of new friends — this is the composite growth you have achieved in your four years at Ithaca. This represents the continuation of a life-long process. It is my fondest hope that you will build on your growth over the past four years as you go about the rest of your life. You are well equipped to meet the demands of the future. You will be a fulfilled, successful person and citizen to the extent that you continue to grow, both psychologically and cognitively.

Good luck!

Sincerely

William A. Scoones
Dean David K. Long
School of Business
When I addressed you as entering students in August, 1984 I talked about the exciting and challenging opportunites for growth awaiting you.

Four years have quickly passed; you have met the challenges and contributed to the life of the college through your participation and leadership in all facets of campus life. Through your experiences here you have progressively developed and matured.

You are now prepared to begin building productive and satisfying lives and careers. We are gratified that we shared this growth experience with you.
Dean Thomas W. Bohn
School of Communications
Congratulations and best wishes from the faculty, staff, and administration of the School of Communications.

Growth has certainly been a part of your four years at Ithaca College. In the School of Communications we’ve grown in the number of students, the number of faculty and staff, our facilities and equipment, our curriculum, and our co-curriculum programs. You have been an important part of that growth, not simply by adding to the student population or by taking the additional courses or by using more equipment but, most importantly, by what you have contributed to the School of Communications. You’ve given of your time, your talent, your energy, and most importantly, of yourself to the mission and purpose of the School. You have helped us grow, not simply in size, but in value and meaning for the field of communications and the professions you will enter.

We have grown together in your four years here. It’s my hope that you will continue to grow in your life and career and that you will continue to participate in the growth of the School of Communications as active and caring alumni. We hope that we have prepared you well for the challenge of growth.

You have my very best wishes for success.
Dean William B. Koch
School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation
Congratulations to each of you in reaching this significant milestone in your academic career! As we all know, this achievement has been attained due to your own persistence and effort, but also with the assistance of your family, teachers in prior educational institutions and more recently by our faculty. You are now prepared to begin your move up the career ladder. We are pleased with the progress demonstrated by the Class of 1988 during your years with us, and we believe that this maturation and development gives strong evidence of your potential for future professional growth.

Please accept my warmest regards on this occasion, and best wishes for the years ahead.

Sincerely

William B. Koch
Dean John B. Oblak
School of Humanities and Sciences
Your years at Ithaca College have passed and you have shared in many opportunities for intellectual and personal growth. Your accomplishments are reflected upon with much pride and your failures have provided experience that will help you make the decisions that will shape your life. These years have given you an understanding of your community, your country, your planet and your universe. As you communicate, analyze and react to the world you live in, you will rely on the skills and knowledge you've developed over these last four years. As you conclude this portion of your life go forward with excitement, commitment and the clear knowledge that you are responsible for what you contribute during your time in this universe. Go forward with the very best wishes of all the faculty and staff of the School of Humanities and Sciences for a successful and rewarding life.
Dean Arthur E. Ostrander
School of Music
Four years at Ithaca College pass very quickly. For music majors this time is gauged by progress on their major instrument at juries at the end of each term, leading toward performances in rep classes, Friday afternoon recitals, and finally a solo recital or recitals in the junior or senior year. It also means four years of performance with a major ensemble, usually one of the bands or wind ensemble for instrumentalists, or choir, chorus or women’s chorale for vocalists. Most students will look back on the four concerts each of those ensembles performed each year as high points in their development as musicians. There are also the special times when guest composers come to visit and conduct at the college. During the last four years, people like Lukas Foss, Gunther Schuller, Alfred Reed, and Philip Glass spent time with our students as well as groups like the Cleveland and Guarneri Quartets, and the Waverly Consort to name but a few.

Learning over four years is also marked by progress in less obvious ways as well. Theory, sightsinging and eurythmics classes, secondary instrument classes, music history classes and keyboard musicianship classes all contribute toward the building of musicianship and a solid grounding in all aspects of the field. For music majors, courses outside of the school also add an important dimension to the study beyond the major area. In looking back over the four years, every student should sense an incredible time of growth and development, both professionally and personally. Friendships have been formed for life, but also standards of excellence for music performance have been established as the foundation for solid professional careers in music.

On behalf of all the faculty in the school of Music, I wish all graduates well in their chosen careers and hope they will return to the campus often to update us on those careers and share the special joy that experiences in performing music always bring.

It's 12:03 p.m. Monday June 27, 1988, and the yearbook has just been completed. I must admit that I was beginning to wonder if I would ever get this project done. I wish you all could see the Cayugan office at this moment. What a mess! It looks like a gigantic photographic explosion, the result of a very hard working but "somewhat" disorganized staff. Nonetheless there are several people on the yearbook staff who deserve special recognition. I could not have completed this book without the dedication, perseverance, and ever changing plan of attack of my photo editor, Joe Arnao. (Joe you did a great job, I can still hear you saying, "Now here's the plan".) I also owe a great debt to Amy Meneely who joined the staff half way through the year, took over as copy editor, and amazed us all with the fantastic work that she did. I would like to thank our advisor Mike Lindberg for all of his support and encouragement and our Hunter Publishing Co. representative Eric Ludemann for taking such a special interest in this book. Finally I would like to add a very special thank you to everyone who donated of their time and talent, to those who listened to my endless complaints, and to those who offered their help when I really needed it; Joe, Amy, Chrinte, Bill, Mike K., Diane, Nelson, Mike B., Rick, Emily, and Cyndi. Your efforts were very much appreciated.

To the class of 1988, congratulations and good luck to each and every one of you!
