Drama Frosh to Try
For One Act Castings

Tryouts for the Freshman One-Acts will be held in the Green Room on Saturday, November 17, from 2 to 5 P.M. and on Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 5. Each student must have a monologue three to five minutes in length and also an arrangement of a scene from a play with only one character speaking.

A total of six productions will be prepared with members of the directing class in charge. The plays include “Poul is Fair,” by Margaret Ewing. This is a two-act play, with an all-woman cast of twenty-one and will be directed by Cynthia Jones and Adrienne Larsen. Another play is “Romance Ltd.,” by E. C. Blackshear with a cast of one woman and two men. Said Kronick is the student director of this production.

Peggy Lobbin will direct “Lands’ End,” by Denis Plummer. This show has a cast of one woman and three men. “The Tenor Wind,” a play with ten ladies by College playwright Robert Hylton will be directed by Betty Cooke.

The other plays are “On The Way Home” by Esther Hawley and “Perchance To Dream” by Chloe Gartner. The Esther Hawley show has a cast of two women and one man, and is directed by John Richardson. “Perchance To Dream” includes eleven men and six women.

The dates for the final performances will be January 11th and 12th. A one-act plus the other shows will be presented on the 11th with the four remaining one-acts the following evening. Yes, folks, remember to make a date for the Froshmen One-Acts of 1946.

FROLICS FEATURED MONDAY

Monday, November 19, is the time for the Freshman Frolics! The Frolics is a highly competitive entertainment between the three different departments for the traditional cap. It is the time when the Freshmen get a chance to display their talents, and it is a wonderful opportunity for both students and faculty to become better acquainted.

In past years only the women of The Ithaca College have attended the Freshmen Frolics. This year, however, a friendly invitation is extended to all members of the faculty and student body. A great deal of time goes into the preparation of Frolics, and it is felt that everyone will enjoy the evening immensely.

Judges will be Mrs. Scolum, Dr. Taggert and Mr. Yavits.

Band Concert Program
Announced By Beeler

First concert of the year will be given by the Ithaca College Band on Tuesday, November 15, at 8:15 in the College Theatre. Walter Beeler, director of the organization, will conduct the program.

For its first performance Mr. Beeler has selected six numbers for the band to play. The program will be as follows:

1. March Tzigane from “The Tziganes” by M. Pajeot
2. Overture “Die Meistersinger” by Richard Wagner
3. Toccata and Fugue in F Minor by Johann Sebastian Bach
4. Symphony No. 6 in B Minor by Peter Illich-Tchaikowsky
5. Adagio from “The Planets Suite” by Gustav Holst

FROSH OFFICERS ELECTED

Mr. Walter Beeler, freshman faculty advisor called a mass meeting of the Frosh to elect class officers on Tuesday, October 23, to elect the class officers. The following people were elected: Abe Rosenfeld—President; Tom Pulaski—Vice-president; Secretary, Shirley Miller; Treasurer, Pat Dungan; Ithaca reporter, Elaine Pumphrey.

CHERRY PREPARES CONCERT

Under the direction of Mr. Cherry the orchestra has been working for their first concert which will be held December 5. For its first concert, the orchestra will perform without a soloist, although in the future there is expected to be an individual show of talent.

Here is the program for the concert on December 5:

1. Fingal’s Cave—Mendelsohn
2. Evocative Prayer and Dream Panorama from Hanzel and Gretel by Humperdinck
3. Overture to Russian and Ludmilla—Glinka
4. Ballet-Suite—Rameau-Mohi
5. Menuet, Musette—Tambourine
6. Symphony No. 2—Beethoven

The date for future concerts are March 2 and May 12.
solve some of the world’s most complex riddles. Although led to the emotional race riots in Detroit and Chicago, to name only

Tolerance must, by its very nature, be all inclusive. To pride and not include the fact that the minority also has a responsibility,

Tolerance must, by its very nature, be all inclusive. To pride
and not include the fact that the minority also has a responsibility,

Tolerance must, by its very nature, be all inclusive. To pride
and not include the fact that the minority also has a responsibility,

Tolerance must, by its very nature, be all inclusive. To pride
and not include the fact that the minority also has a responsibility,

Tolerance must, by its very nature, be all inclusive. To pride
and not include the fact that the minority also has a responsibility,

Tolerance must, by its very nature, be all inclusive. To pride
and not include the fact that the minority also has a responsibility,

Tolerance must, by its very nature, be all inclusive. To pride
and not include the fact that the minority also has a responsibility,

Tolerance must, by its very nature, be all inclusive. To pride
and not include the fact that the minority also has a responsibility,

Tolerance must, by its very nature, be all inclusive. To pride
and not include the fact that the minority also has a responsibility,

Tolerance must, by its very nature, be all inclusive. To pride
and not include the fact that the minority also has a responsibility,
Sports Line-up

Girls basketball season will begin November 20. Classes in basketball start November 12 for freshmen, sophomores and juniors. An interscholastic championship will be played in games with different classes to continue until January.

Coach Yavitt and Coach Freeman have many Phy. Ed. boys in Room A studying the fundamentals of football, soccer, and basketball, every afternoon at 2 P.M.

Coach Yavitt hopes to have a basketball team in the Ithaca City League.

Girls bowling club will be organized for advanced and beginning bowlers. Bowling will be on afternoons at Ithaca Bowling Center on East State Street. Anyone interested should contact Miss Quinn.

The new Physical Education courses are under way. The course is mainly for GIs who have just been discharged and who were not able to start in September. The program will earn two hours credit and they will probably take the regular semester schedule in February. One girl has begun the course along with the GIs.

The departmental football season is finished with a team coached by Mr. Freeman beating a team coached by Mr. Light at Percy Field. Many students enjoyed this interesting game last week.

Books Added to Library

A group of new books have been added to the college library, Miss Sally Osborne announced today. Among the recently acquired books are:

- Books for graduate courses: Biology—Race: Science and politics

- Books for American democracy: Gilbert—An economic program for American democracy

- Books for American ideals: Freedom of the press today

- Books for growing up in the black belt: Newlon—Education in democracy for our time

- Books from the encyclopedia of social sciences: Lichtenhan—T.V.A. democracy on the march

Tournaments Planned

Women’s Intercollegiate Telegraphic Bowling Tournament

Women’s Intercollegiate Telegraphic Bowling Tournament at Penn State College with Miss Mildred Lucy in charge. All undergraduate women students in junior or senior classes who are members of any institution of learning are invited to compete. At least two members must bowls for each institution. The 5 high scorers will count. All bowling must be witnessed by the faculty advisor of the bowling club. Several of their scores will be entered.

Tourney Planned

When you buy Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in; to bind up the Nation’s wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan."

When you vote for Victory Bonds, remember there’s still a job to be done. Lowen describes the job in his second inaugural speech:

"To strive to finish the work we are in: to bind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orph
Notes And Notices

No one should miss this year's copy of the Cayugan, Editor Cana. Computer word processing has made subscriptions must be in by December 20. It will be impossible to put off subscriptions until the last minute, because some books that are ordered will be printed.

There are promises of a bigger fleet for the Cayugan. By better Cayugan as many new additions are being made to this year's edition.

Give your subscription to the representative of the Cayugan. You may give $2 deposit and the rest in May, or the entire price of $3.75 now. The Cayugan box is in the back lobby. Please get your Cayugan subscription blank and fill it out today.

Attention! Remember the "Turkey Strut" dance Wednesday, November 21. Place—Gym. Time—8:00 to 12:00. Price—50c per person. And your favorite oldies, the Sixties, to provide the music. Everyone come and "Strut his Stuff."

Flash! Don't forget the play 10th and 11th at the College Theatre. "Homecoming" is the name—curtain goes up at 8:15. Calling all detectives and "who-dun-it" fans! Come and help solve the mystery.

In the lobby of the administration building is a small box belonging to the Ithacan Staff. This box plans to provide subscriptions to the students. Ithacan is your paper and needs articles written by you. Won't you help Mr. Stanulis and the editors? Surely, we have many talented writers in Ithaca College who can whip up an essay, a clever feature article, or even a good editorial. Perhaps those who lack the ability to arrange thought into a story will find in this box a stimulating help for suggestions for columns and criticisms.

How about a little school spirit for the Ithacan? If you fill out subscriptions to the Ithacan box is in the back lobby for a purpose: to make the Ithacan, you and your friends.

It is impossible for a member of the staff to know all the interest of students. But it's possible to get tips from them. The Ithacan is a business, firm, or group experimenting or trying to improve its product. That is where we come in. We have the youth, and we should have the ideas.

How about television in education? Obviously, we cannot go more than general. Perhaps we will be able to cover this subject more completely. The television is being put to work on a number of plans, more than one at a time. At Cornell the show is experimental. Incidentally this is a break for those of us who have hopes of becoming affilite. Anyone who is interested in television for the long as any business, firm, or group is experimenting or trying to improve its product, that is where we come in. We have the youth, and we should have the ideas.

In education, if what has happened is the exception then be sure to study it. In television, if what has happened is the exception then be sure to study it.

Radio has helped in education, in the class-room has rapidly proven its worth. The Chicago school system is using television for in her home country fruits are grown and sold in and from the same day. It is true of television. The question often is, "How do you increase the sales of your product?"

Many educators have admitted that radio has helped in education, but they have hastened to point out that radio falls too often, because words alone cannot explain everything. The student must see as well as hear. That is the first lesson that we have to teach the student of radio.

Many educators have admitted that radio has helped in education, but they have hastened to point out that radio falls too often, because words alone cannot explain everything. The student must see as well as hear. That is the first lesson that we have to teach the student of radio.

Progressive school systems are turning to the use of 16 mm film, in the name of educational programs. The class-room has rapidly proven its worth. The Chicago Board of Education is one of the first to prepare for the time when television will become a medium of effective class-room instruction. They recently inaugurated a three-way experimental arrangement with the school, the teacher, and the student.

The next time you listen to your radio, don't listen just to the words. We are discussing here, namely learning by doing.

If any talk comes up about "brothers and sisters" on the I. C. campus, then you can be pretty sure that the topic of conversations is about Gamma Phi and Delta Phi. The two organizations voted at a recent meeting to adopt a local (on I. C. campus) mutual brother and sister relationship. Amendments will be made to both sets of constitutions to recognize formally this traditional brother and sister relationship.

If the last combined smoker and rush party was any indication to this conjunction then be sure to look for even more and better affairs.

THE ITHACAN

TELEVADO

By Paul Hadley

This is the first of what we hope will be a series of articles on radio and television, to give you an idea of the present and future possibilities in the fields of sound and visual which are growing and expanding daily. Radio programming, while it is still in the experimental stage, each week the major networks are trying to bring you more and better shows. It is admitted, experimentally. The same is true of television. Though you may be well aware that the show is experimental. Incidentally this is a break for those of us who have hopes of becoming affilite. Anyone who is interested in television for the long term, as any business, firm, or group is experimenting or trying to improve its product, that is where we come in. We have the youth, and we should have the ideas.

How about television in education? Obviously, we cannot go more than general. Perhaps we will be able to cover this subject more completely. The television is being put to work on a number of plans, more than one at a time. At Cornell the show is experimental. Incidentally this is a break for those of us who have hopes of becoming affilite. Anyone who is interested in television for the long as any business, firm, or group is experimenting or trying to improve its product, that is where we come in. We have the youth, and we should have the ideas.

In the class-room has rapidly proven its worth. The Chicago school system is using television for in her home country fruits are grown and sold in and from the same day. It is true of television. The question often is, "How do you increase the sales of your product?"

Many educators have admitted that radio has helped in education, but they have hastened to point out that radio falls too often, because words alone cannot explain everything. The student must see as well as hear. That is the first lesson that we have to teach the student of radio.

Many educators have admitted that radio has helped in education, but they have hastened to point out that radio falls too often, because words alone cannot explain everything. The student must see as well as hear. That is the first lesson that we have to teach the student of radio.

Progressive school systems are turning to the use of 16 mm film, in the name of educational programs. The class-room has rapidly proven its worth. The Chicago Board of Education is one of the first to prepare for the time when television will become a medium of effective class-room instruction. They recently inaugurated a three-way experimental arrangement with the school, the teacher, and the student.

The next time you listen to your radio, don't listen just to the words. We are discussing here, namely learning by doing.

If any talk comes up about "brothers and sisters" on the I. C. campus, then you can be pretty sure that the topic of conversations is about Gamma Phi and Delta Phi. The two organizations voted at a recent meeting to adopt a local (on I. C. campus) mutual brother and sister relationship. Amendments will be made to both sets of constitutions to recognize formally this traditional brother and sister relationship.

If the last combined smoker and rush party was any indication to this conjunction then be sure to look for even more and better affairs.

The smoked held at the home of Dr. Job was a great success. After the informal gathering for the male students, at which time Mr. Dreyfus Road, Dr. Job, and Dr. Rehnbaum addressed the boys, a buffet supper and dance was held in conjunction with Delta Phi Zeta.

The revised library hours are:

Monday-Thursday
10:00 a.m.—5:00 p.m.
1:00 p.m.—6:00 p.m.
7:00 p.m.—9:00 p.m.
Friday
2:00 a.m.—12:00 a.m.
1:00 p.m.—5:00 p.m.
7:00 p.m.—9:00 p.m.
Saturday
5:00 a.m.—12:00 a.m.
1:00 p.m.—1:00 a.m.