Assistant Committee Approves Plans for Class Attendance

The college committee on absences has approved the following plan to govern class attendance:

- Students are expected to attend classes regularly. If, for any reason, the student must be absent from class he is expected to consult the instructor immediately about making up the work missed. Instructors have the authority to accept or reject student excuses and to make whatever requirements may be necessary to assure prompt and regular attendance. Absences which have the approval of the student's dean must be excused, but in all cases the work is to be made up.

Kostenko, Ackerman Vignette Co-Editors

Plans are under way for “Vignette,” the college literary magazine, with the approval of the faculty. The co-editors are: Dorothy Kostenko, editor; Pat Ackerman, co-editor; John Sullivan, business manager; and Bob Nosey. The Publicity Manager, Mr. William Terwilliger, is the advisor. This year’s “Vignette” will be in printed form rather than the mimeographed form of last year.

100 Testing Centers To Give “Service” Exams December 4

The number of students taking the Selective Service college Qualification Test will swell to approximately half a million with completion of the third series of tests to be given Dec. 1, 1952 and April 23, 1953 at 100 testing centers throughout the country.

In announcing dates of the third series, Major General Lewis D. Hershey, said that 413,390 students have already taken the test. He reported that the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey again has been designated to operate and administer the test on the basis of submitted bids and to send each examinee's score to selective service boards.

Students currently deferred on the basis of test scores or class standards number about 190,000.

General Hershey emphasized that increasing manpower demands make it necessary to increase the number of students taking the test.

Analysis of Election

The most interesting trend in the Straw Poll was the tendency of women to vote for General Eisenhower. Of the total votes cast by women 60% were for Eisenhower as opposed to 55% by the men. Among the theories advanced to account for this trend were the uniform and career of General Eisenhower, women may find his puppet role an asset. Roosevelt and an Army officer would be less likely to attract this group. Adlai Stevenson has campaigned on a less emotional level than did the General. Women are inclined to be more emotional than men and therefore Eisenhower’s campaign methods would appeal to them to a greater degree than the campaign waged by Stevenson.

The Music Department showed the greatest majority for Eisenhower, Radio, Drama, Speech, and Liberal Arts, as a group, was almost divided in its vote. Both of these sections are of arts, yet they showed a decided difference in political temper. The students in the Music Department are recruited from the widest geographical and social background to the other departments. The second group of students find their center of interest in New York City. This is due to the fact that the city is the center of radio and theatrical life. Many of these students come from the New York City vicinity or large communities. The Democrats greatest strength is in communities of 100,000 or less.

Football, Music Setting for “Touchdown Twirl”

Immediately after Prom Program, Oct. 25, the Ithaca College Marching Band will sponsor a dance, “Touchdown Twirl,” which will be open to all students. The dance will be held in Sanger Gym from 8:15 p.m. until 11:15 p.m. with music by Andy Dougherty and his orchestra. Girls have two a.m. provisions. There will be a donation of 25 cents per person. The committee chairmen are as follows: Social Chair—Jerry Gaudine, Ticket Committee—Douglas Little, Decoration Committee—Bob Williams, and Band Committe—Leslie Guthrie. The choruses for “Touchdown Twirl” will be Mr. and Mrs. William Terwilliger and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harris.

The setting for “Touchdown Twirl” will be done in blue and gold forming an appropriate background of football and musical symbols because of the close cooperation between the Marching Band and the football team.
Theta Alpha Phi Fetes Drama Critic

Dr. Krutch, eminent drama critic, is flanked by Mr. Eugene Wood, Director of IC Drama Dept. and Mr. Al Greena, author of IC's recent production, "The Scholar," discusses the dubious future of the modern theatre.

On Oct. 14, in the Nest's Lounge, Theta Alpha Phi held a tea in honor of Dr. Joseph Wood Krutch, world known drama critic.

Following the refreshments, Dr. Krutch answered various questions concerning the theater. He expressed his desire for the theater to be "re-born." This would not be possible in the Broadway theater. It might come about through small theaters such as colleges, suburban, or community theaters. They might be able to try out new playwrights which the Broadway theater is not willing to do.

When asked what has caused the theater of today to be in the state that it is, Dr. Krutch said it might be economical reasons, it might be complications, or it might be the ideals which we are living with today. He said, "I don't think society has clearly set down the facts. The resemblance on which Aristotle infers the tragic character. His hero is not a man of flawlessness, nor yet one of consummated fault. It is something in between. It is something between an ideal and a man. The tendency of today is to destroy the Renaissance man, and whatever is trying to be put as a substitute can gain no sympathy from me."

Dr. Krutch concluded with the statement that while Shakespeare asks the question in his tragedies are the hero victims or could they have done something about it, the audience will come to a conclusion based on the hero has clearly set down the facts. Major playwrights of today seem to be confused in their own minds about their heroes and carry that impression throughout the audience, thereby making it difficult for the viewers to come to any definite conclusion.

The Business Department with a ratio of four to five in favor of Eisenhowcr is the deciding factor. Most of the students in this department come from a background of small business and working class. Because of this, statistics small business and the working class are preferred to favor Eisenhower. Many of the students are from Tompkins County which is usually favorable to the Republican candidate. These factors may have contributed to the near split decision.

The vote in the community of Ithaca is generally about 70% to 25% in favor of the Republican Party, Ithaca College, which voted 41% in 25% in favor of Eisenhower, acted independently of the community.

The Ithaca wishes to extend its gratitude to Mr. Ludwig Waring for his help in compiling the statistics used in this report. Because we lacked the time and data necessary to the Straw Poll returns this column must state general observation and not facts.

HAZING STILL CONSIDERED RUGGED INSTITUTION

The time-honored customs of hazing is still a long way from refinement on many campuses; but at some colleges hazing is actually becoming virulent. At Valparaiso University, led by the custom is nowhere in between. The Valparaiso Frerk last week proudly posted to its "class that, staut night," and other evidences of reality. But the paper avoided its eyes from the "brick batons, mong wars, painted signs and nocturnal procession of impressed freshmen women..."

The Two concluded with a plea to "let this thing (hazing, that is) slide slowly and sophomores clashed in second degree burns, inflicted when a group of freshmen used boiling water to吲pact their ha:"h." There's nothing put on about Ike's grin and the vigorous handshake. He's giving all he's got and he wants this to go around him to do the same. If there's a single word to describe his appearance, it must be "confidence."

For Eisenhower: The emotional appeal of General Eisenhower is the only factor that could win for him in November. Despite this appeal—one based on loyalty devotion to a great hero of World War II-President Adlai Stevenson is the better presidential candidate.

Stevenson's career has been devoted to civil government. Eisenhower is a military man. Stevenson has proven his political intelligence. Ike hasn't.

Adlai believes in federal control when state authority fails. Eisenhower's "corruptive" campaign compares him to states' rights. Eisenhower has accepted the support of men like McCarthy; Stevenson does not want or need that kind of support. Americans want Eisenhower to lead their army, but Adlai Stevenson to lead their government.

Russian Students Delay Final Test Taking

The Moscow newspaper, Izvestia, is greatly disturbed because no graduate students have postponed taking their final exams. No student can get a degree unless he has passed this exam, but he can't take the exam until he has served for three years in a position designated by the state.

Since most of these assigns positions are in isolated parts of Stant, the majority of students like to stall the proceedings as long as possible. However, if students don't accept the assigned work, or if they leave the position early, they must accept heavy penalties.

STUDIOS SAL

Now, Studios Sal from Southern Calif—It must be admitted, was quite a gal: She knew her math and physics, too. And with each year her knowledge grew.

With angles obtuse and circles round, Sal could never acquire ground. Latin, Spanish, even Greek. She did a semester in less than a week.

Her marks were known throughout the school, and Sal would never break a rule. Though promise of work was right nearby.

Down in the mud was her chance for a guy.

In social circles Sal wasn't advised, So she went to a doc to be analyzed. She wanted to know, and she wasn't coy.

"Why the heck can't I get a boy?"

"You're terribly smart, your chem is great."

The doc replied, "But before it's too late, forget the stuff that comes in books. And use your brains to improve your looks."

When you are with Einstein out in space. It's clear you overlook your look. Instead of reading Roman tales. Why not polish and trim your nails? Instead of looking for calculus tips. Why not paint and shape your lips? Go out of doors, acquire a tan. Per after the sun will come a cox."

So Sal did what the doctor said: Now she wishes she were dead. Although dates each night have become her rule. Her marks dropped so low, she flunked out of school.
Satisfied Grads Create Goodwill

Because Ithaca College is a professional school in physical education, its athletes must play football to be eligible for football coaching positions. This applies to any member of the athletic staff.

At Ithaca College, the athletic education teaching program is well integrated. The program teaches good principles of physiology; it teaches good principles of body development; it teaches ethics.

The college student, especially, is supposed to be superior to the average person. We must keep this in mind. Incidents of us have grown up not Abner Doubleady, in the world of today. Hilliard Housemother Publishes Original Verse

by Barry Patterson

Since the school's early days, Mrs. Albee, the mother of Hilliard House, has been writing poetry—looting down verses even before her daughters were born.

For many years her work was primarily to entertain her children or for school and church programs. However, Mrs. Albee has recently decided to publish a collection of her poems, which is expected to be ready for sale by the first week in Dec.

The content of the book contains a wealth of subjects and mood written with a great variety of style and structure. Much of the poetry is of a religious and philosophical nature, possessed as, Mrs. Albee expresses it, "just as a mother and a teacher." In the first wealth of subjects and mood written as her children grew up, many collected will be three long narrative verses and beauty. The poems provoke contempt and a feeling of admiration for its underlying honesty and a thought-provoking conclusion. And a work deals with the imaginary child, a sleeping child, a rainy day—and leaves one wondering at the creativeness of our everyday world.

However, Mrs. Albee's literary ability is not limited to poetry. Some time ago she wrote an opera for children of the sixth and seventh grade. This work deals with the imaginary happenings in Mother Gooses Country. There is also a novella among her works as well as verses for several religious hymns.

Physio Facts

by Mel Schorr

Medical doctors prescribe physiotherapy for Arthritis, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Sacro-iliac disturbances, Polio, Cerebral Palsy, Paralysis, and Post-traumatic fractures treatment, along with other neuromuscular, musculo-skeletal disorders.

Because the doctor knows that the physiotherapists is trained and skilled in Active-motion—ultra-violet rays; Hydrotherapy—water, including electric and medicated baths and cocalic irrigations; Mechanotherapy—manipulation and therapeutic exercises; and Thermo-therapy—heat, short wave diathermy, ultra-violet rays, the doctor often refers his patients to a physiotherapist after he has made the diagnosis.

At the last meeting of Pi Theta Phi, very important business concerning the advancement of the fraternity, which indirectly will lead to the advancement of the physiotherapy profession as a whole, were discussed. Desire to expand the fraternity by adding new chapters, and desire to be affiliated or associated with the Cerebral Palsy Association's Ithaca local in their activities were among the most important things discussed.

Dr. Job! All we ask for is a secretary to help fill the gap left in the department by the resignation of Miss Hanson. Incidentally, a nice blond secretary will help cheer up any male patients while she makes our work easier.

Experimentation at the physio building with live frogs will be resumed any day now. Mr. Freeman will head the experiments which, we hope, will make many of the physiological principles that we study in class visible to us. You're welcome to attend these experiments. Just invite when they will be held.

College editors across the nation have been having trouble expressing themselves, according to an article by Tom Tomitawa in The Northwest.

The trouble is, says Tomitawa, that whenever they deal with a controversial topic, the student government or alumnus—"I like to stifle them."

He cites many examples, a few of which we have space to print: "After Sara Woods, editor of the University of Oklahoma Daily, this spring went corruption-hunting in the student, government body, and called its editor, the student, government or alumnus—"I like to stifle them."

"The student senate attempted to stifle me when I was writing nasty editorials," he recalls now, somewhat with relish. "My life was even threatened!"

"When six students of a small eastern college recently were reprimanded for drinking, the editor of the school paper took advantage of the opportunity for some barbed comments. A lot of the college has to bother about student drinking, she said in an editorial blast, when the school owns a tavern and when it goes around soliciting funds from local pubs."

"The trouble is, as College editors across the nation will confirm, unless it is founded on a college, the institution is not a college. A veteran now must declare his major as soon as he enters school, and he's entitled to just one change during his college career.

And the change is not easy to get. The vest has to show he is not guilty of misconduct, neglect or lack of application. Then he must take a battery of tests. If he gets through unscathed, he can change his major."

Here are the main points in the new bill: The veteran will be paid a lump sum each month. Out of this sum he must pay tuition and all other expenses. Tuition payments generally run about one-third of his total allotment.

It's up to the campus vet's instructors to turn in monthly progress reports to the Veterans Administration. Serious trouble can result if these reports are delayed or if they are not turned in by the instructors.

Studentship: 10 Easy Gambits
Here are "10 Ways to Get Through College Without Even Trying," as written in Pusanet magazine by Prof. Robert Tyson of Hunter college:

1. Bring the professor newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. If you don't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring in clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.

2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievingly and shake it. Nod your head genially. To him, it's quite obvious.

3. Stay front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.)

4. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell if he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.

5. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to have it. Just ask.

6. If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.

7. Be sure he the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do math in psychology or chemistry, match the books for size and type.

8. Ask any questions you think he can answer. "(Un)conversely, avoid anomalous behavior. I have found the answer to a question he couldn't answer on my own."

9. Call attention to his writing. Prove to him you are not just indolent, that you have a right and a duty to damn him if they are wrong. In order to do so intelligently you must know how they argue.

Draftees Take It But Don't Like It
College students are meeting the draft situation with a minimum of protest and even less enthusiasm, according to a poll taken on 11 campuses by Cornell University.

The poll compares the draft-vulnerable student with the income-tax-paying adult. He meets his obligations, but he doesn't necessarily like it.

Ninety percent of the students, says the report, would return to college if induced before they finished, and only one in four though military service would be a major disruption in his life.

How To Graduate The Plagiarism Way
Princeton university administrators discovered last week that two members of the 1952 graduating class forged their senior thesis in "one of the most flagrant examples of plagiarism" ever attempted at Princeton.

Both men, members of the English and Modern Languages departments, were found to have submitted almost exact copies of master's theses stolen from the Columbia university Library last winter. When faced with the evidence, both admitted the work was not their own, but denied outside help or having paid for the theses.

No disciplinary measures have been announced. "Two years ago there were some class reports of New York students requiring up to $700 for the forging of theses for Princeton seniors."

— A Lesson of Ignorance —
An editorial to freshmen from the University of Washington Daily:

Unless high school graduation exercises have changed, you've heard enough speeches about your journey into the great, wide world. You've been encouraged, advised, warned, amused ..., and, probably, bored to death.

We hope you've not hung out a mental "Do not disturb" sign ... because through the trite expressions, pompous phrases, glittering generalities, there is often a little truth.

A generation which gave us the roaring twenties, the great depression, and two world wars must have learned something. Not much, perhaps .....

But something, for we know they are talking about.

That generation has taught us how little we all know. If you learn as much, your college career will have been successful. Goodlearning!
DON MUNROE
President of Kappa Psi Alpha, Don is a married veteran with a business education major. Don was born in Ovid and was graduated from the Ovid High School in 1946. While there Don was a member of the band and played the clarinet and sax. He was in the Army for one and a half years, the major part of which he spent in Japan. He continued his music in the Army by being in the 35th division band. He played a large assortment of instruments. He played all the reeds that Don knows of plus the sarrusaphone, and a saxophone from France that was in no particular place in the future, probably back in the 25th division band.

Ted Schreppel
Those of you who saw last year’s production of In Enemy of the People will remember Ted Schreppel in his portrayal of Mayor Stockman. He can usually be found working in the scene shop where he has been a student employee since his junior year. His interests are not merely confined to stage productions, however, for Ted is president of the Ithaca College Interfraternity Council. He is a speech major and hopes to become a professional stage manager some day. Holt’s Long Island is the place where Ted came into the world, but he lived in 10 different New York towns before he and his family finally settled in Jamestown, New York. He was graduated from Hornell High School, Hornell, New York where he was active in the Three Marmara’s, the school’s dramatic club. He also was a member of the football, track, and boxing teams. Ted didn’t break any records but he did break three ribs during the course of his career as a boxer. He has worked for two Hornell radio stations, WWHG and WLEA.

Student Council Outlines Plans
The purpose of the I.C. Student Council is explained in its Preamble, “The Student Council shall act as a clearing house for any problems the student body and, by constant contact with the administration and faculty, to correct any situations requiring such action.” At present, the Student Council is a body of 15 representatives.

Ted didn’t break any records but he did break three ribs during the course of his career as a boxer. He has worked for two Hornell radio stations, WWHG and WLEA. The summer before last he spent at the Mountain Theatre, Braddock Heights, Maryland as technical director and finished the season at the Maiden Bridge Playhouse, Maiden Bridge, New York. His interest in the theatre started with his first role in an eighth grade opera. He won an Oscar for co-starring in Room Service, a production of the Cornell Civic Theatre. Ted is a member of Kappa Gamma Psi, Theta Alpha Phi, Adelphi, Student Council and was staff photographer for the Ithacan in his sophomore year. He was officially engaged to Edith Witte in July and is to be married June 30, 1953. Edith, a graduate of Ithaca College is now teaching speech and dramatics in Johnstown, New York. After the wedding they plan to live in Ithaca.

A scene in the main salon will precede on the promenade deck. An underwater ballet will be performed.

In Act II, the first scene will take place somewhere off the ship, preferably on some part of the Continent, such as France or Spain, or somewhere in the West Indies. The crew’s quarters will be the setting for the next scene after which the action will shift back to the main deck and then to a cabin. The finale of the show will be again on the main deck, probably back in the United States, at the end of the cruise. Completed scripts for those scenes may be given to George Smith or put in his box in the Administration Building. The deadline for Scampers scripts is Sat., Nov. 16.

Freshman Smoker To Ignite Mon. 27
On Mon., Oct. 27, the Student Council will hold their annual Freshman Smoker. Festivities will begin at 8 p.m. and will feature a varied program of entertainment and refreshments. Among the performers will be Peter Eckhardt, Bassoonist, and Richard Dennis, cornetist of the Ithaca College Symphony. The “Cliff Dweller’s,” Phi Mu’s own barbershop quartet will be on hand for some lighter moments. Speaker for the evening will be a faculty member.

Don Elsie, with whom he met in high school, went to Sampson College. When he graduated, he married Elsie, and they have two 2½ month old children, Donna Lee. They live in the veteran’s housing community, or as it is more popularly known, Tins Flats.

Ted is doing his practice of teaching practice in Barnes High School, where he is teaching commercial subjects.

Don wants to teach in a high school in no particular place in the future, probably back in the 25th division band.

Besides school, Don also works in the A&P and he has worked on road construction plus working as an attendant at Willard State Hospital. Don felt that this last job was an interesting experience. He had 74 patients under him and he learned a great deal.

Don likes to do wood and metal work and also enjoys reading good books and listening to good music. However, he doesn’t care for many of the abstract sounding records now available.

Scampers Theme: Ocean Voyage
The result of the Scampers Rally that was held on Sun., Oct. 12, was the planning of complete outline for the forthcoming Scampers of 1953. The production will be built around an ocean voyage. The show will be presented in two sets, each of which will include three scenes using full stage, and two scenes which will be played in front of the tarveler. The scenes staged in front of the traveler will not be closer, but will follow the continuity of the show as a whole.

Opening Act I, will be a scene on the main deck of a ship followed by a cabin scene in front of the traveler.

Cortland Smashes Bombers 39 - 6

SPORTS REVIEW
by Burt Maskin

The Ithaca Bombers absorbed their third loss of the season to Cortland, Oct. 20 by a 39-6 score. The game was the feature attraction on the Dragon Homecoming Day festivities. After being boat two seasons in a row to Cortland, squad lost the game by half-time with a 21-point barrage.

The Bombers surprised the capacity crowd by scoring their only "TD" in 3:52 of the first period. Nick Stamatis recovered a Cortland fumble on the Dragon 30 yard stripe. Two plays later Cristello swept left for 23 yards for a touchdown. The try for point was no good and the Bombers led for the first and last time in the game 6-0.

Cortland was held by the green but gritty Ithacans but the floodgates opened in the second period. A 33 yard end run by Pellasang of Cortland started the ball rolling. Two big runs by Quarterback Reddick of Cortland and a touchdown pass to the Bombers on the short end of a 20-6 Cortland lead. The Blues and Gold offense was slowed to a walk in the last two quarters. "Cortland's big, fast, charging line contained the Bombers most of the day. The Dragons pushed over a score in the third canto as Pellasang banged a slant. The locals had a rough time of it as they went from a world of fun loving basketball and they weren't used to it. Their bicycles turned into convertibles; their corduroy knickers turned into eighty dollar tailored cutouts; their handkerchief-knotted around their fifteen cents turned into bulging genuine leather wallets; their soda pop turned into the real stuff; and their plaits came to life. It was too much for them. Let's hope these plays away from the game that has done more harm than good, and help steer them into some constructive channel of athleticism. Basketball has been cruel to them, and they have been cruel to basketball, "and never the twain should meet."

What has happened, has happened— and we can do nothing about the past. But we can do much with the future. The only answer I can see that will prevent further court mishaps, is in two words. Personal Integrity.

Let us not discontinue the giving of scholarships, for a scholarship is a wonderful thing to those that cannot afford a college education. But give them a College Education! and not just a pair of sneakers and a job watching that no one will steal the football stadium. Also continue to watch that no one will steal the football stadium. Also continue to watch that no one will steal the football stadium. Also continue to watch that no one will steal the football stadium. Also continue to watch that no one will steal the football stadium. Also continue to watch that no one will steal the football stadium. The new theme song of Basketball, "No Long, It's Been Nice to Know Ya", will be very appropriate if basketball opens its cause to those players who did everything in their power to degrade and demoralize our great American game. I'm speaking about Alex Groza, Beard, and White of the Blue and Gold. They played the game for the game itself. They were from a world of fun loving basketball and they weren't used to it. Their bicycles turned into convertibles; their corduroy knickers turned into eighty dollar tailored cutouts; their handkerchief-knotted around their fifteen cents turned into bulging genuine leather wallets; their soda pop turned into the real stuff; and their plaits came to life.
