It contains a line-for-line study of the play in its grammatical and dramatic elements, with a glossary of every word and phrase which might require interpretation for modern understanding. It also presents a commentary upon the motions of thought and the characterization of every part in the play, examining them in detail and tracing their growth right through until the final curtain. The action of the play takes place in Venice, and at a seaport in Cyprus. The settings are being designed by George Hoerner, and Technical Director is Dennis Seiter.

Career Conference Judged Successful By Chairman Miller

"The Second Annual Career Conference held here on Mar. 9-10, proved successful," stated Henry Miller, conference chairman.

Mr. Miller's only criticism was the poor show of attendance.

Mr. William Zimmerman, Director of Business Research, Department of Commerce, State of New York, stated that because of the draft and expanding war industries, job opportunities are now unlimited.

Mr. Phillip E. Hagerty, Director of Personnel Research, State of New York, Department of Civil Service, commented favorably on the efficiency and smoothness which pervaded the entire conference.

The committee has received numerous complimentary reports from the consultants regarding this efficiency.

Ithacan Sponsors Student Contest For Song, Seal

"There will be a new alma mater and seal for the college this year, providing that the students will do something about it," states Edgar Chapman, officially announcing a contest to be sponsored by the Ithacan.

For several years the seal has been antiquated by the addition of the physiotherapy and business departments. In fact, it is so inappropriate that it has been omitted from this year's catalogue.

The alma mater is difficult to learn, and is hardly singable without accompaniment. New words, more in keeping with the present college conditions, together with a simple and dignified yet thrilling tune are what is looked for in a new song.

Entries in both fields will be judged by a committee consisting of faculty and Student council members. The Ithacan mail box has been designated as the place to leave all entries.

It is suggested that Easter vacation be used for this project, since all entries are due on April 14, although extension of time may be granted in exceptional cases.

Selections by Aaron Copland, Oscar Fox, Ernest Charles and Ralph Baldwin will be sung by the chorus.

Room Provided For Meeting Of Student Organizations

Room 10 in the Annex has been designated as the official meeting place for student organizations. Since it is not scheduled for classes it will be used exclusively for functional gatherings. There will be a "Brass Quartet" by Maurice Whitney, supervisor of music at Glens Falls, who is also a graduate of Ithaca College. Mr. Whitney has to his credit many published works for band, orchestra, and chorus. The second brass ensemble, "Quartet for Four B-Sharp Trumpets" by Don Gillis, will be performed by a trumpet double quartet.

Other instrumental selections will include: "Suite For Piano" by Norman Dello Joio to be played by Ralph Boguszewski; "Sonata For Piano and Violin" by Daniel Gregory Mason to be performed by Constantine Poulimas and Jack Eaton. Delta Chapter sponsors these musicals each year to encourage and promote the performance of music by American composers.

Renewed GI Bill Probable

A.C.P., Feb. 16—It seems likely that the United States congress will pass a new, modified G.I. bill. The old one expires next July.

Backers of the new bill argue this way: Millions of men will have their education interrupted by the draft. By the time they get out of the military, they will be much older and possibly married (following the last war 40 per cent of veterans who returned to campuses were married). It would be impossible for most of them to support their families and go to college without government assistance.

It is also argued that the nation needs a larger number of well trained men. All our sciences and technical developments depend on specialized college men. If the government does not subsidize the veteran, the nation will soon find itself lacking in trained personnel for its industries and schools.

Opponents of the bill argue it would be nothing but a glorified scholarship program. They say far too many would be eligible for a free educational ride, and the government would be incapable of financing the project. They also point to all the red tape which would result from the bill. The previous G.I. bill, they say, has cost more than $11 billion, and this figure will no doubt be well under the cost of the new bill.

Most of the nation's educators think the G.I. bill has worked out very well, and they are certain it was worth the cost. Carl R. Gray Jr., Administrator of Veterans Affairs, says the bill "can well be thought of more as a benefit to the nation than to the individual."

And the New York Times pointed out, "The huge number of veterans who went to college with G.I. benefits will now be able to repay their country in terms of better-trained men who can serve to greater advantage in national defense.

It appears that some form of G.I. bill will be enacted for the new veterans. It is to be hoped that the best features of the old bill will be retained and the defects will be eliminated.

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

When the Career Conference Program Chairman, Beverly Thorpe, drew up the conference program; she balked at the idea of using the old college seal. She thought it ridiculous to use a seal for an activity that included the name of almost every department except the department that was sponsoring the activity. How did she solve this dilemma? She took a step in the right direction, and had the above seal designed by Allen Gilberti incorporating all departments.

This seal as it now stands is not quite adequate to be adopted as our official seal, but it is a start. In order to obtain a seal that is worthy of becoming our official seal, the Ithacan is going to sponsor a contest.

The contest is to have a two-fold purpose: First, we want the student body to submit drawings of proposed college seals. Second, we want the student body to submit copies of a new alma mater. These entries should be left in the Ithacan mail box by April 14. A committee comprised of members of the faculty and the student council will decide on the winners. The decision of this committee will be final.

Here is a chance for the students as individuals to do something really constructive for their college. Our cement campus is overflowing with gripes about things the administration should do. This as in an opportunity for the students themselves to improve two things that really need improving, our seal and our alma mater. Remember, "God helps those who help themselves!"

ACP CLIPPINGS

The Ohio State Lantern, slightly immersed in self-pity, recently printed the following editorial: "We note that a recent physician's survey indicated that college graduates have far more headaches than those with little education.

"This isn't difficult to fathom . . . Consider the poor college senior like us. If he goes into the army, he's got to worry about what's going to happen to him there, with bullets and all. If he doesn't go into the army, he's called . . . a draft-dodger.

" . . . If he goes out with the boys at night for a beer, he's accused of being drunk. If he says home and hits the books, he's accused of tearing down the party . . . If he's single, he's got to worry about all his girls and which other guys they're dating. If he's married . . .

"No wonder college men have more headaches."

* * * * *

According to the Hastings Collegian a student at that college decided to see if professors actually read the term papers required in a course. He inserted a paragraph in his term paper stating he didn't believe teachers read what pupils write, and asking the professor to underline that paragraph if he read it. The paper was returned—unmarked.

"Mr. Miller! There's a gentleman here to see you about that fearless editorial you wrote on local politics."

By Roxane Brooks

Bruttttttt!!!

Hey, it's almost Easter! Only a few more days to spring! Gosh, the sun is shining—Well, you could have fooled me. Ever have a class in Room S? Fun isn't it, trying to write with your coat on or making a speech all bundled up in a muffler and gloves? For the love of Virus A, B, C, and X someone—anyone throw some coal on the fire and let's get the temperature high enough so classes can be conducted comfortably in that room.

Just A Suggestion

Looks like Junior Weekend is going to be a big event. Every house, organization, and fraternity around school has been told of the float parade and many have shown signs of interest. Well, for the dormitories which can't afford a float or whose girls can't devote all the time and energy which goes into the making of one here's a suggestion. Why not decorate the dormitories? Most of the big schools fortunate to have a campus usually go out for that sort of thing in a big way. Maybe if we got together following the theme of the parade and did the same we could cement the actual distance between the dorms and help create the feeling of oneness which the weekend should entertain.

Manners, Morals, and Emily Post

For those fortunate enough to see the Ballet last week I'm sure that most of them were quite startled by some of the audience reaction. During the lull before the third act curtain someone, whose closest association with any form of theatre must have been Princess Pat at the local burlesque house, started a staccato clap. A few other degenerates picked it up and if it weren't for the intelligence of the majority around them pandemonium of foot stamping and cat-calling would have broken loose. It wasn't pretty, it wasn't nice, and it wasn't appreciated. (By the way the culprits were as far as we could tell—Cornellians.)

Attention!

A very important message to all students—pass this along to those too tired, too busy, or too smart to read this column. A Very Happy Easter Vacation To You All.

ON THE BOARDS

By Shirley Swarhout

Somehow, life still goes on. Rehearsals for one-acts, classes, rehearsals for Othello, coffee, and classes again. Spasmodically, Spring appears for a brief moment, making everyone hope that maybe March isn't really going to behave like March, this year. But March knows, I guess, and always comes through with a little wind and rain, and even snow to show us that she's still boss, for this month, at least. Despite it all, though, we're avidly looking forward, first to Spring vacation for a brief respite from the routine, and secondly, to good ol', long-awaited summer vacation. Thoughts of summer crowd our minds, with many hopes and dreams for jobs in summer stock to materialize. It's good! And time enough for classes next year! The Seniors have a slightly different situation facing them, for their jobs will be of a more permanent nature. But it all adds up to the same thing: we're anxious for school to be over, for a while at least.

Hurray for Vacation!

The instructors, as well as the students, must feel the same way . . . it's been a long grind from Christmas vacation until now . . . and things get a bit trying . . . and you begin to wonder what it's all worth. Maybe our Spring vacation, which starts (Hurray!) this Friday, will give everyone a chance to rest up, and recapture a glimpse of where they're heading, as far as school is concerned. It's a chance to look at things objectively from a point removed from the demanding, confusing, all-consuming routine of school. We enjoy IC, but it's good to get away for a bit once in a while.

So, this being the last issue of the Ithacan before Easter, I hope you all have a good rest, mentally and physically (well, mentally, at least!), and that this vacation will help you to recover from the effects of the strain of the past few weeks. Have a good time!

Over The Bar Line

By Nele Lape

Worth Hearing

Among the new recordings that have come to our attention is the Bach Prades Festival Music, directed by Pablo Casals, and including suites, cello sonatas, Brandenburg Concerti, and other compositions. The performances at Prades show in these recordings the same independence displayed by jazz musicians at a jam session. The Second Brandenburg Concerto is taken at lizzy speed; the suites, instead of lilting sedately at the more traditional tempo, rollick with Gallic wit and insouciance. Casals is superb in his solo bits, the three Sonatas for Cello and Piano; an outstanding chamber performance is the Concert for Violin and Oboe, in C minor, with soloists Isaac Stern, violin, and Marcel Tabuteau, oboe. The entire recording, although dulled slightly by muffled acoustics, is adequate.

Better Scheduling

We realize that the Ballet Russe comes but once in several years, and is certainly a worthwhile thing to see, but it does seem unfortunate that it should obliterate almost completely such an outstanding musical program, as was heard at the student recital on Wednesday, March 14. The enthusiastic, if sparse, audience, was treated to some of the best musical performances of the year; the movement from the Bruch Concerto, as interpreted by Richard Dennis, was alone worth an evening's "sacrifice". Please—let us try, in the future, to avoid simultaneous scheduling, so that we may take full advantage of all the worthwhile programs.

Coming Events

The month of April offers a variety of excellent musical programs, including student recitals, band concerts, and faculty performances. Among the scheduled events are an organ recital by Professor Frank Eldridge, a du-piano recital by Professor Frank B. Page and Joseph Page, and a Repertory Band Concert. The band concert, incidentally, will be the first musical program after vacation, on Sunday, April 8; watch the bulletin boards for detailed programs and further information.

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

By Ron Pedrone and John Tucker

We were quite startled the other day when we overheard a conversation between two students who were discussing the Ithacan. It went something like this:

"When are those morons on the Ithacan going to learn how to write?"

"Yea. What a paper. They never get all the news in it."

"Yea. They're lazy, that's all. If they were on their toes they'd have the paper out every week. They don't know anything about newspapers anyway."

"Yea. Well I'll see ya'. I'm goin' home and hit the sack."

The other intellectual walked into a neighboring bistro for a beer.

And now on to brighter things: our two stars for the week . . . Bil Cappola and Lee Landau.

Bill Capolla

Lee Landau

Do you know a Broadway producer who is looking for a good-looking young man, intelligent, who has a wonderful voice, and can act as well; then tell him to stop in his tracks—we've found the man he's looking for right here at Ithaca College . . . Bill Cappola. We're not being hyperbolic either; Bill, who is a scholarship winner in the Drama Department, has taken part in just about everything a drama student could. In fact, during his Junior year, Bill was in nearly every major production and in a good share of the laboratory one-acts presented at school. Bill has also written, directed, acted in, and sung in the last four "Scampers," not to mention several radio shows over WITJ and some singing dates over the Rural Radio Network.

Bill hails from Newark, New Jersey, where he graduated from Our Lady of Good Council High School in 1947. As is to be expected, Bill was very active in extra-curricular functions in high school. He acted in the dramatic productions, sang in the Glee Club, won many school public speaking contests, and placed second in a regional contest for the Forsenic Club. He was also business manager on the year book staff for three years. Besides all this, Bill was kept busy singing over the local radio station.

Once here at Ithaca College, Bill quickly established himself in his department and was soon elected to Theta Alpha Phi, the national honorary dramatic fraternity. He is now secretary of the organization. Last year Bill was on the photography staff of the Caygan and does occasional work for the Ithacan.

Next year Bill is enrolling in the Graduate School here at Ithaca, and then plans to teach private high school or college. Since he is already an Equity member (he worked with the

Do you ever notice the smile that Lee Landau has whenever you meet around the campus? That's what greeted me when I met her for our interview. It makes my assignments much more interesting. Lee is a Senior in the Drama Department. I think we all remember her as the nurse who was confronted by the three eccentric doctors in the Scamper's Socialized Medicine scene.

Back in Hazleton, Pa. she is remembered as the hard working high school girl who did so much for the school paper and drama club. She was president of the Oratory Club and an Honor Thespian. Her character of Judy in A Day With Judy was one of the best that the Hazletonians have seen. The Swimming Club consumed much of her time.

After graduation she entered Susquehanna University. But, soon she discovered that she wanted a background in drama. Therefore she transferred to Ithaca College in January. While here she has participated in many of the drama activities. Last year the girls of Hilliard wanted her to serve as their president for the year. The W.C.C. has always counted on her in their activities.

If you ever want to please Lee exceptionally well, just set a dish of fried shrimp in front of her and her smile will be even brighter than ever. After graduation Lee will get married and perhaps teach. Good luck Lee and keep that smile sparkling during your last spring here.

(Finger Lakes Drama Festival) he plans to spend his summers in stock. After a few years of teaching, he wants to enter professional theatre: preferable musical comedy. We don't have to say we hope you make it Bill—we know you will.

RADIO AT RANDOM

We're proud to report that Gretchen Taylor, Dean of Women at Ithaca College, has made her debut on WITJ. After being interviewed on Campus and Community by Lucille Levine, Dean Taylor wanted to know who the fellow was in one of the studios with the bandana on. Am I mortified!! It was yours truly with my worn cap. From now on, I'll wear it only when off the air, but who's got the strength to comb a head of hair like mine?

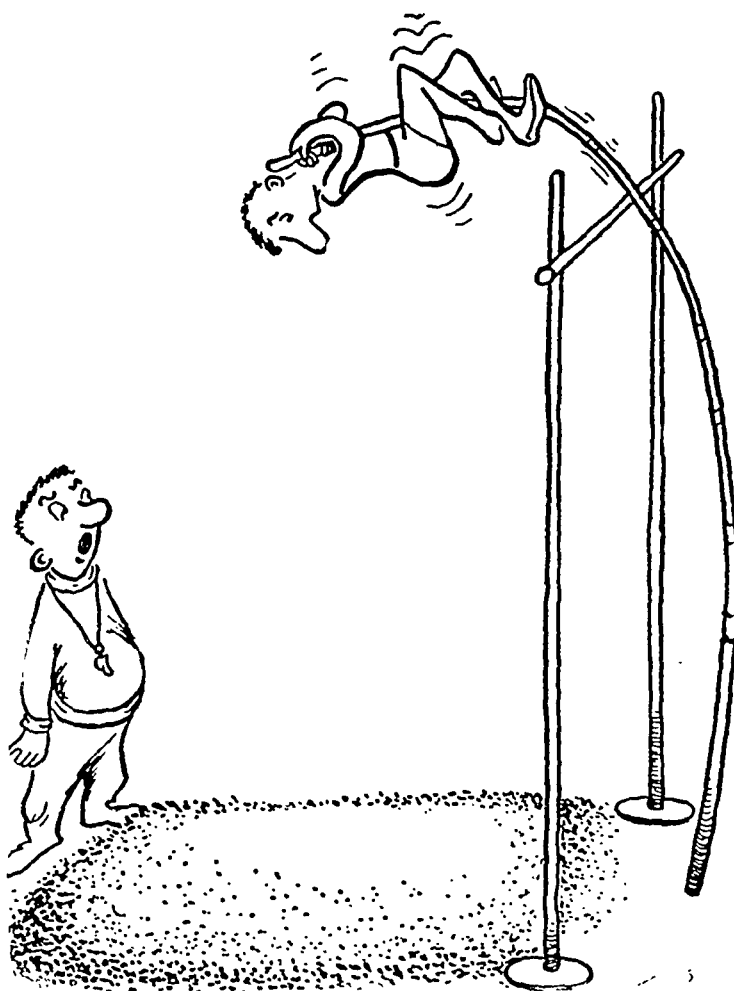

WITJ has a system by which we'll be getting more of the popular discs. We've realized for a long time that the latest music is a necessity for a good listening audience, and now we can build up our pop record library.

Both the Drama and Radio Departments got favorable comments after WITJ aired The Reader's Theatre. Shows that these people can work together to make a good show.

The Junior Class plans an extensive publicity campaign for the Junior Prom . . . May 5. To date we have two recordings by Gene Williams and His Band Of Tomorrow. He formerly cut for Mercury but now has a contract with King Records. You'll be hearing more of his music on WITJ.

If you want to see the hard workers, drop in some night when three of our transmitter engineers are around, namely Chuck Angell, Randy Greates, and Bill Garriett. Once they get started, there's no stopping them. Chuck even walks into a "live" studio with a hammer . . . he's so eager to work.

We were pretty worried the night Pris Palmer interviewed Pete DeStefano and John Lupetin but Pete played it straight and Pris was able to do a very nice show for Campus and Community. Congratulations to all three.

Feminine Basketeers Upset Big Fix's Favored Guerillas

By Roberta Moehringer

A week ago last Monday night in the Seneca Gym, Phyllis McCarty's female all-stars upset the highly favored male Gallo Guerillas by a score of 13-12.

The all-stars were sparked to victory by high scoring "hot-shot" Jo Hercinger and Rita Hiter with 5 and 4 points respectively. High man for the losers was Pete DeStefano who dumped in a "lucky" five points. Previous to whistle time, Coach Gallo attempted to bribe Captain McCarty, but to no avail.

The all-stars were represented by Capt. McCarty, Jean Burke, Ellie Meier, Betty Fuchs, Rita Hiter, Toots Tower, Jo Hercinger and Anny Herbek.

Captain Gallo's Guerilla's took to the floor, dressed in gay-ninety costumes. The line-up included. Choo-Choo Murphy, Steve Callendar, Bob Alberti, Joe Calegeri, Pete DeStefano, Melzie "highlander" Cameron and Manager Harold "vitamin" Meszaros.

The game got underway with the Guerilla's taking the ball down the court where with his back to the basket, Pete DeStefano sunk one of the most sensational shots ever seen in the Seneca Gym. Rita Hiter came back for the McCarty-women with a quick two pointer to tie it all up. Referees Nancy Bush, Art Gruber and Edgar Chapman unanimously charged Murphy with "un-sportsmanlike conduct" for tagging Toots Tower. Her free throw put the all-stars out in front and on their way to the initial victory.

Highlighting the contest, was the unusual passes and court performance of DeStefano and little Jeany Burke. Outstanding was Coach (Smockey) Joe Hamilton's famous "shiver" as performed by the former grid star.

Business II Takes League For Second Straight Year

Jayvee Five End With 2-7 Record

Coach Chet Gray's Jayvee quintet wound up their 9 game schedule on the short end of a 2-7 record. Although 2-7 doesn't seem to be such an impressive record, the Gray-men ran into some rugged competition this season.

They averaged 60 points a game, but most of their losses came by close margins.

These margins were particularly close in the game at Syracuse when they were opposed by a powerful General Electric five. This game went into two overtime periods and still remained all tied up.

The officials and respective teams decided to play sudden-death (team who makes next basket wins) to make way for the main event of the evening—the professional Syracuse Nets vs. Indianapolis Olympian's game. So the preliminary went into sudden-death.

Swish!!! Just one of those "lucky" shots, two points, game was over, Ithaca Jayvees were on the short end of a 60-58 game, and so went the season.

Scoring for the season as summarized by Manager Don LeRay was:

	Games	Total Points
John Sens	7	77
Wayne Sunderland	9	74
Don Grundtisch	8	63
Henry Osmer	5	46
Don Gutschow	6	41
Ron Coles	6	35
Dick Moomey	4	32
Ralph Sausville	4	30
John Damoth	5	27
Dick Renner	5	18
Pete Galitis	3	17
Arnie Simms	4	16
Nick Mamula	7	16
Tom Hickey	3	12
Lew Bakos	3	11

Monday night Business II downed Kappa Psi Alpha 54-36 to take the Interdepartment League championship for the second straight year. Kappa Psi, looking as though they might make an easy night of it, took an early lead and remained in front 14-1 at the end of the first quarter. Their lead was short lived however, as the businessmen quickly retaliated with seven straight buckets, and as the half ended, found Kappa Psi's lead shaved to five points.

Led by Dick Murphy, the businessmen's most prolific scorer, Business II came back strongly as the third period got under way to go far out in front to a lead which was never to be relinquished. The fourth quarter found Kappa Psi still trying hard to regain the lead but they were unable to overtake the fast hard fighting Business II team. Business II which enjoyed a decided height advantage by virtue of some very fine board work contributed by Sprague and Vincent.

Dick Murphy who was a major factor in the win, was the high scorer of the game with 17 points followed by Eric Werner of Kappa Psi with 15 markers, and third in line Clair Vincent who had 10.

The box score is as follows:

Business II	FG	FT	TP
Sprague	2	2	6
Holton	7	0	14
Murphy	8	1	17
Norman	3	0	6
Enright	0	1	1
Conley	0	0	0
Vincent	5	0	10
Kappa Psi	FG	FT	TP
Werner	7	1	15
Spennard	2	2	6
Brown	0	1	1
Patala	3	0	6
Meiczinger	1	0	2

Phy Ed Basketball

Monday night, Mar. 12, the Excelsiors defeated the Black Knights to become Phy Ed champs for the second straight year. The Excelsiors, made up of seniors, had to rise from the fifth place position to win and take the championship. After their win Tuesday, Cornelius Van Deusen presented them with the team trophy, and individual trophies are on their way. The Excelsiors' team is composed of the following men: Barney McGovern, Mgr., Charles Walsh, Bob Relyea, Bill McCarthy, Al Pafunda, Hank Lewis, Andy McGuffin, Gus Koch, Eddie Frye, and Robert Barton.

As president of the Intramural Sports Association, I congratulate you on your success. Your individual Oscars will be presented as soon as they arrive.

The Black Knights which is runner-up team, played a very good game, in fact they ended up in the first three teams.

The Black Knights are under the leadership of Angelo Macci, Mgr., Fred Brittel, Sam Volo, and Tony Maneen make up the team.

Medals which can be worn on suit coats will be presented to the Black Knights as soon as they are received.

Cornelius Van Deusen, vice president of the Intramural Sports Association in charge of the Phy Ed league should be highly commended for the job he has done, but all of the praise should not go to Cornie alone. He had the able assistance of Bob Strong and Vince De Simone, both of whom gave much of their time in order that the Phy Ed League might function smoothly.

Interdepartment Bowling

Physio II has won the bowling league championship, with Business I a very close second. Although the Physio II team won the championship, they do not hold any team honors, and only one of the individual honors. All team honors go to the second place Business I team, and also the high single average.

In fact all three men of the Business I team have high single averages. Robert Benson has a 221 and 226 game, Carol Schipp, captain, two games with a 225 score, and Ted Patros has a 223 game.

I wish these athletes my sincere congratulations and again I will say that individual Oscars and medals are forthcoming and will be presented as soon as they arrive.

Interdepartment Basketball League

Monday, Mar. 12 and again on Wednesday, Mar. 14, the Business II basketball team defeated the Drama-Radio team in the semi-finals to make them contenders for the Interdepartment championship. Kappa Psi Alpha defeated Physio I in a two out of three series two weeks ago to be the second contender for the finals.

Final game were played Mar. 16, 19, and 20 at 8 p.m. in the Seneca Gym. In the final game between Kappa Psi and Physio I, nothing could stop Greg Patala of Kappa Psi, and Joe Siciliano of Physio I. Greg sunk a total of 24 points while Joe topped him with a cool 29 points.

Last night, Dick Murphy did most of the scoring and ran up a total of 22 points.

Lacrosse Berths Open

Coach Pete Hatch started Lacrosse practice last Wednesday in preparation for their 4 game schedule. He received a small turn-out of only 15 boys which was probably due to a great majority of the fellows have the idea that Lacrosse will be dropped next season. Also there is the feeling that newcomers would not see action this year. Fact of the matter is Coach Hatch expects to mould together a whole new team and use plenty of able reserves. So if there are any of you who like the game and want to play it, you better get yourselves over to the practice sessions immediately or someone else may get the jump on you.

LaRock to Wrestle Japs

Jim LaRock will fill in 167 pound berth on the 5 man squad of collegians from Cornell and Syracuse Universities who will oppose 5 men from the Japanese Olympic Team who are touring the U.S. The match will be held in Barton Hall at Cornell University Tuesday evening, March 20, at 8:00 P.M. The other collegians are Bob Blackman and the newly crowned Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association Champion, Frank Bettucci from Cornell and Lou Tschirhart and Bob Bury are the stars from Syracuse University.

Frosh Eligible

Under the new rules Freshman will be eligible for Varsity competition this year, starting with the Spring Sports.

How "clean" do the players of the intramural league play at the Seneca Gym? Ed Chapman and Ed Angers did a fine job of refereeing a tough ball game without either man having a whistle. Compliments to both the referees and the teams that play there.

HATS OFF this week to Coach Ben Light and his team. Although they had a 8 wins 13 losses record it only tells half the story. For instance, it doesn't mention that the hardwood warriors competed against some of the finest teams in the East and probably the whole U.S. Coach Light has always been known to produce good ball players and this year is no exception. Ray Kirkgasser is one lad who is probably being watched by the Pro squads. Also sparkling on the floor is 5'7" Burt Maskin. His flashy fine floor work both defensively and offensively was definitely instrumental in many of Coach Lights wins. These are but 2 of the many fine flashy floor work both defensively and offensively was definitely in your fine boys who are champs as far as we're concerned.
