Freeman's Men Rally In Second Half To Conquer Alfred Men; Score 12-7

I. C. Plays Losing Game First Half, Kincaid Makes Winning Touchdown.

The Ithaca College football team kept themselves in the undefeated all-conference territory victory over a much heavier Alfred team at Alfred, Saturday night.

The Ithaca team was a considerable betting in the first half, as they pounded the Blue and Gold gridiron for 12 points. Throughout the entire first half, it looked as though the weight advantage of Alfred would be the deciding factor of the game.

After the fifteen minutes non period Coach Freeman's full carriers returned to the field with added determination and with just enough punch left to snatch an apparent victory from the hands of their much favored opponents.

The game started with Alfred kick- ing off to offside. After a punt the kick and brought the ball back to midfield. About 20 yards forward. At several attempts at the line failed to gain. Sawyer crossed the midfield. On this point until the half ended, the Ithacans were in command, and their defense, exemplified the Blue and Gold.

Utilizing both double and triple lines, various line splits, the Salons marched steadily downward. Buffalo finally hit the center of the Ithaca line for the first score. Best kicked the ball back to the 17,800 meter area.

The Ithacans were having much difficult of the line from making larger holes for their running backs. It seemed as though the Salons could not be stopped. Although they were being pushed away into Ithaca territory, the Blue and Gold seemed to be all that was keeping Ithacans in the ball game and was the big hero in blocking and dispatching.

The second half saw a highly spirited Ithaca team return to the field and began an unfolding dance for the remainder of the game.

Captain Patrick called for a pass play that entirely baffled the Salons. After the Ithacans pounded their way deep into Alfred territory, Patrick received a shovel pass from Sawyer and galloped across the goal line for a touchdown. Patrick failed twice to get the point from placement.

Ithaca 6 – Alfred 0

The final quarter started with Ithaca on the 25 yard line and Alfred on the 50 yard line. After several long gains failed to pay off, Sawyer, on an end run, broke the line for a big yardage on a cross field pass for a 35 yard run advancing the ball to the 3 yard line. Patrick immediately turned forward and crossed to Kincaid who shook off three would be tacklers, and crossed the double lines for the second Ithaca touchdown of the game. This extra point failed, Ithaca 12–Alfred 0.

Alfred staged a slight comeback late in the game. It seemed as though Alfred might score, but Kincaid was strong in the last yard. He was last, when Harner recovered the ball on Alfred's 4 yard line.

Ithaca lost the ball on downs by suffering a fumble on a powerful pass play when the referee's whistle blew of the play. Ithaca 12–Alfred 0.

Each Monday, and you book your return ticket, at the college business office.

The Ithaca College soccer team met at Ithaca College, Wednesday evening, October 18, 1931, at 4:30, for practice.

Religion

There is a similarity between the church and theater, but I have not thought much of this, but the relation does exist.

It seems an error to regard music, poetry, painting—all the standby goods of art—merely as translations into different language. I am not trying to find the same fixed quality of imagination in this manner, the sensuous element in art is made a matter of professional. It is art that does not speak to pure intellect, but to imaginative reasoning through the senses. There are different kinds of the beauties of art, differing according to the variance of the senses themselves. And each of these kinds of beauty has its own special mode of reaching the imagination.

However, although each artist possesses its own specific inspirations and its special, astral, batalchon charm, there is an unusual intermingling of form—this oddness of aspirations toward one goal.

Some delicate pieces of music seem almost to be approaching a landscape. Architecture, too, seems at times at aim at fulfilling a picture, like Giotto's largest composition, the strangely twisted staircase of the Siena Cathedral.

But to me, music is the ideally consummate art toward the principle of imagination and the artifice. It embodies all ideals. It is the art of arts.

Eternity Vye With Time

So warm and restless in bed—I watch the minutes pass.

The clock clicks daintily — impatient. I want for the dawn.

In a room on top of a barn—alone with a mouse on a fence.

Can't catch a bit of the hereafter—

So still there is the musing chuckle.

Of a sudden a hump and a death—

Poor thing, there is a trap.

He squirmed and then died. Now the silent chanting once

Of the clock as the hands around seems to say: "I, now. I, now. Wow, you—yes but I shall not—done."
