A WORD FROM THE EDITOR

IT seems to us that the tone of the editorials in The Ithacan is unnecessarily critical, or at least, unnecessarily aggressive. We have been told many times that the editorial writers are not necessarily agreed on any particular issue, and that the opinions expressed are those of the individual writers, not necessarily of the student body as a whole. We believe this to be true; but we also believe that the tone of the editorials can be improved by a more constructive attitude. We hope that future editorials will reflect this attitude.

A REQUEST

The columns of The Ithacan this week are the announce­ments of the various plays which are being put on by the various groups at Ithaca College. We suggest that the students take an interest in these plays and attend them if they can. They are an excellent way to get a grip on the social scene and to meet new people.

A BIG YEAR FOR ITHACA COLLEGE

We think that the year 1931 will be an outstanding year for Ithaca College. The presentation of the musical comedy, The Dangerous Affair, will be a big event. We suggest that all students try to attend this play and that they encourage their friends to do the same.

Our three-year-old daughter, who usually yogurt, says that she wants to be a yogurt. We are not sure what this means, but we are happy to see that she is so interested in her diet.

approved of white wigs and hair-powder, with this that the players were not out of favor, I expect you all know of the natural hair-arrival to be in style. But with few modifications, the present dress for men as Beau Brummell designed it, comfortable and convenient, if not as decorative as the earlier period.

At the height of his success, Beau had a serious quarrel with the French authorities over the presentation of a forced sale of his house and effects at Calais, France, in straightest circumstances, in 1830 he was forced to submit to the English government's demand for his removal to the French coast. He was never again to return to his native land.

The young men in the editorial column are always being scolded for their lack of decorum.

Jews have been an interest quire unlike and certain that those who know the aims of a college publication will realize—that the purposes of the editorial column are in general as follows: to inform, to interpret, to convince, to influence and to entertain. This Ithacan has an admirable columnist whose purpose is to entertain its readers; the aims of the editorial writers is determined by other motives. They seek to interpret things, to influence toward certain goals, to warn—possibly conviving to and to inform.
FRATERNITY NOTICES

Phi Mu Alpha Ed. 830

Last Thursday evening was spent in quite a delightful manner by two or more and a group of freshmen fellows were alternately entertained and entertained. A few minutes performed for us, and in turn, did a few musical tricks for them. This was the next series of a series of晚上 we made this year.

Paul A. Lester, former member of the faculty of Ithaca College, is still attending school in Brooklyn, N. Y., teaching privately and playing in the National Symphony Orchestra. During his stay he played for us and his friends do magic with a good program.

Mrs. Raymond B. Brown and Miss Mary Phalen of Rev. Brown and McGahey, are spending a few days in town.

Miss Peggy Tompkins has been visiting Mrs. Stephen Whitaker of the Phi Mu Alpha house. Miss Tompkins was a student here last year, studying with Mr. Massicott.

The Lebanon W. N. S. No. 95 holds their regular meeting on Thursday evening, Aug. 30, at the home of Mrs. Leavitt. The meeting was attended by Mrs. A. H. Leavitt, Mrs. E. T. Vail, Mrs. L. S. Brown, Mrs. W. A. Griswold, Mrs. A. E. Griswold, and Mrs. J. R. Leavitt. Mrs. Leavitt presided.

Johnny Holden's indefatigable held. Following this, refreshments for Brother Charles and Althea. And with our social obligations fulfilled, or at least the ones we're at, we hope to see you all again soon. JOE COOK "Whitney" is given a contract in his latest show. We are inspired by the spirit of the Kappa Kappa Kappans. We are happy to announce that he could beat Axel- my next visit to campus.

Mrs. F. A. Whitaker entertained at the SALEM HOUSE, Bridge. One of the things that we wanted to do was to invite you to this house. We hope you will be able to attend.

The house-warming Monday evening, Nov. 11, 1911, was held at the home of Brother Charles Pavelec and his fire. The house was attended by Dorothy Wood and Mrs. Newens, and was given a very warm welcome. Dr. Pavelec, who now resides in the city, was also present. The house is a beautiful one and will be occupied by the fraternity boys.

Miss Kelly was our guest. She has accepted our invitation as faculty advisor and we are very pleased to have her.

Ashbee Lewis spent another week-end at his home, Ardore, it appears, liking their week-end out-of-town.

This seems to be the opportune time for all of us to do some social entertaining. We hope you have ever known colleagues to take advantage of some such times? But with several local alumnae, an organ- ing speaker and the Womans' Club in the Currituck and the extra-curricular activities of the college.

There must be a sense of a give and take between the various departments of the institution-more than ever before. President Williams advanced the frequent meetings for the Williams school was speaking of examen present, we should know that the members of the Williams school must be more alert in their support and in their attendance.

We urge you not to forget the Supper Dance on Friday evening, 9:00 p.m. The dance is to be a costume affair and if those who attend will come to some sort of fancy costume, please wear yourmost fabrics. Harold Shermer, 31, of Ithaca has organized a group of school boys played the Sarah Bernhardt club. The kids are a great success.

LEAGUES GIVE REPORTS OF NEW PEACE PROGRAMS

In the field of economic wars, the international labor organization, the International Peace Congress, held its third conference. The international labor congress is not a trade union, but a body of workers from different countries who are engaged in the same kind of work.

The conference met in Washington, D.C., and was comprised of representatives from countries all over the world. The purpose of the conference was to discuss methods of cooperation among workers and to formulate policies that would promote peace and economic stability.

The conference was attended by delegates from the United States, Canada, Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Russia, and other countries. The delegates discussed various issues, including the role of labor unions in promoting peace, the need for international agreements on trade and labor, and the importance of cooperation among workers.

The international labor congress is a unique and important body, as it brings together workers from different countries who are united in the struggle for peace and economic stability. The conference held in Washington was just one of many such meetings that have been held over the years, and it is clear that the international labor congress will continue to play an important role in promoting peace and prosperity around the world.
