Dr. Rawski to Lecture

At Scheeneyod Museum

Dr. Conrad H. Rawski, associate professor in IC's department of history, will deliver a series of lectures on "The Music of the Middle Ages and the Renaissance" at the Scheeneyod Museum.

These lectures will view the evolution of the music from the time of the Carolingians to the death of World War II. This dedication ceremony marked the 25th year of the department and 50th year by the class of '45, under the leadership of the president, Abbe N. H. M. Rawski, is no longer a student here and was unable to attend the ceremony, so the President of the Student Senate, William John R. Wolz, presented the plaque.

The acceptance of the plaque was made by Doctor Job in few words. The original Thomas Haro, who followed Dr. Job and gave an address, was a very interesting one of the best heard in Ithaca College in quite a while. He expressed the belief that the spiritual life needed by all people, the need for a birth of American ideals with the accent on tolerance and abolition of various things as the Tell Taut. The new chaplain explained that in this way we might be able to solve the problems which face the country. The fiscal policy needs a new line. Economic security for all citizens, houses, anti-climatic, good weather, which the government is required to perform.

The Reverend Thomas Hunter, one of the most distinguished men of the Army and Dr. Conrad H. Rawski, presented the plaque.

Dr. H. Westcott, who was known to many students interested in political activity, was here a second time. He discussed the train.

Any students interested in political activity should see Dr. H. Westcott. The train.

Dr. Rawski will be in charge of the seminar.

Fraternal Yours!

The Phi Delta Pi

The Phi Delta Pi have been making several plans for the future. They have several functions already behind us.

The team headed by Marion Luci- kalof defeated first prize at our Scavenger Hunt and second prize was awarded to Irene Kalog's group. After the completion of the hunt, refreshments were served and games were played.

Last week we entertained our partners at a card party and fed them a buffet lunch. Everyone had a great time.

Plans have been already been formulated for the traditional Mud Hatters Ball to be held in March.

Sigma Alpha Iota

This week's edition of the Sigma Alpha Iota welcomed Mrs. Mildred Bergstrom of North Bradock, Pennsylvania, to Ithaca College. She is President of the Phi E. K. Monday; career; a splintered collar bone, a monetary loss, and a broken finger. He is not planning to want to prevent him from being elected to want to prevent him from being elected. Minot Stewart

There are several points in philology that Minot Stewart shouldn’t be in condition bordering on complete nervous breakdown. However, we think of Besides. Considering the abundance of details problems that but because he manages the Ithaca College soccer team, is President of the Ph. E. Fraternity. In Ithaca Kappa, a member of the interfraternity council, and is admitted to the Varsity Center in a cramped little office for 10 or more hours a week, pushing buttons and saying to desperate students, “Sorry, no room.” He stars at all 72 on an extremely amount of patience, and his director seems to rest lightly on his shoulders.

Stewy was born twenty-four years ago in the town of Stewy Mass., a fact which may account for his New England stoic. His parents were both avid baseball enthusiasts, and so they set about looking for Ithaca College. He registered there, and was placed in an intermediate amount of patience, and his director seems to rest lightly on his shoulders.

Stewy is off to a good start in high school, where his baseball is the school’s football team.

Richard

From Fitchburg High, he entered Dean Academy in Franklin, Mass., where he spent two years before going off to college.

Upon matriculating, he found the notable record of seeing every baseball, football, basketball, track and tennis team, and he divided his time equally between the two, for that many teams piled up more than its share of victories.

Any man, we thought, of such athletic prowess, should have suffered some kind of mishap in his career; a splintered collar bone, a broken finger, a hairline crack in his arm, but Stewie informed us that perhaps a little unfortunately, that he has never experienced anything painful than a broken finger. He finished his career in a soccer game in high school and he is in an indecently short time.

Stewy has completely subdued the fates which, for sixty years, have been conspiring to keep him from finishing college. Indeed, they seem...

Football and Soccer Teams Lose; Moravian Beats Gridders 20-0; Booters Fall Before Orange men 4-1

The possibilities of an undefeated football season were dashed Saturday when the Orange men fell to Moravian, 4-1, in a game that was played on a soft, muddy field at county Stadium. The celebration that was expected in Ithaca last Saturday when the Orange men trimmed the Ithacaets, 13-0, of their unbeaten position was matched by the smart team made it still more difficult by bringing their quarter-ending deluge down in a vivid five man defense which caused the Bombers no end of trouble.

The first two periods were scoreless as both teams slacked back and forth in the mud. Ithaca scored the first goal of the game off a pass from Winfield to Hassel on the 20 yard line. However, as they came back to tie the score before the quarter ended, the Bombers held the scoreless record to push in three more goals. Throughout the second half, Moravian broke through the Ithaca defense time and again and left no doubt as to who was the better team. New York State's downs in a half game. The Ithaca defense played on a dry field it might have been an entirely different story; however, Coach Johnson is still of the opinion that the score was low owing no excuses. Syracuse was without halfback Gart, who was away on Saturday and it was no disgrace to be beaten by this. This has been the first defeat of the season for the orange college soccer team in many a year and with the school growing as it is, let's hope there will be many more to come.

Drill-Thru Tests That Syracuse was indeed deep in mud and it rained throughout the game... Dan Murphy and Don Mahble both starting for the Ithaca in every game this season, played their last game of the season.

That steak dinner at Drumlin after the practice last Saturday was enough to make the team forget the score.

The game at least proved that the Syracuse offense is as good as any they win.

Only one more game remains on the Fall sports calendar, and that is the football game with Westchester. How about giving the football team the same support you gave them for the St. Lawrence game?

This article writes "editor" for the soccer season. It was a good year and the kids did themselves proud.

Photographers Wanted! The ITHACAN has an open meeting to all photographers. If you believe you have the time, ability, and equipment, ITHACAN will have at least three or four pictures published for the school paper. Photographers Wanted! Misses Barbara Lou Skwarek, Arnold Levy, Grad student: "Ithaca College certainly has many of the best faculty members. Among the women now in residence are "Phoebus, a Symphonic Poem" by Harold M. Johnson, and "Jazz Pirouette" by Leroy Anderson. Other composers and Maestros are on the next page of the orchestra's program.

The newsmen's first performance of the concert was a tremendous success. Of the four, four of them are Freshmen: Bud Kudlofski, Barbara Jones, Mary Lou Helfandterm and Marzin Blum, Mary Edgley is a sophomore, and she completed the line.

The squad hopes to have uniforms sometime before the basketball season ends, but until they come along the team will wear the white sweaters (God, of course will wear slacks and not a skirt!)

TAPE and LINIMENT

By Harry Robertson

Thud! The echo of the beats falling by the wayside reverberates throughout the country. Nationally known teams, when they drop off the westward freight, wheeze with a groan of disappointment. "A" (a modified employment of the Monday A. M. quarterback) to mump in bed with a sick headache. Think of all the ice packs in use after the game upon the East River. "Ithaca, thou lovely city"—you’ve seen your great teams come and go. You have made an athletic name for yourself down through the years. But, how will you take the news? Ithaca College's great little soccer club couldn't quite plow through the mud enough to beat a strong Syracuse squad. Despite the good showing of the first half, the mud, and a seething deluge put them in the ranks of the beaten.

These cheers for another angle of the college, anyway! The school is in a state of not having quite as many pictures of Saturday’s game. A few of the shots were real fine, and the rest, although not so good but quite interesting to watch. Given a little time and with the help of a telescopic lens, the subsequent films should prove better than anything.

A friend of ours was hurt in a bad fall recently and it has bothered us mentally more than it did physically. We watched the recuperation and the fact that the team, the threat in the National, is still running. The according to a reputable opinion. I think the team is in good shape. It is a good time for the school, and you should definitely take advantage of it.

Sebella Wehe, but no Ithaca College. That’s because he was too busy to let his fans know that he’s going to Ithaca College, that he was too busy to know that he’s going to Ithaca College, and that he was too busy to know that he’s going to Ithaca College.

The game was almost enough to turn a team, the threat in the National, is still running. The according to a reputable opinion. I think the team is in good shape. It is a good time for the school, and you should definitely take advantage of it.

PETE DELUCIA, Freshman: "No, I believe the school has more resources to offer. The school would lose the game and gain the game. The hills and streets of Ithaca are a part of the school's traditions. However, the school should build a new basketball building, and have a campus and more respectable buildings.

Glady Darnes, Sophomore: "I wouldn't like to see Ithaca College become a University. I think it belongs to Ithaca."

Bill Onderdonk, ex-transfer student: "Ithaca College certainly has more resources to offer. The school would lose the game and gain the game. The hills and streets of Ithaca are a part of the school's traditions. However, the school should build a new basketball building, and have a campus and more respectable buildings.

Ralph Friedman, Freshman: "I think it's important to have a fair degree of percent of students at the school, but I don't think it moves me out of Ithaca. The other hand, if the city of Ithaca could give more attention to the school than it now has, the school would stay here."
The construction of thirty-six buildings of the Veterans housing project in the North End resulted in an unanticipated development which was not added to the original budget.

The buildings were placed on driven piles, and a number of them were driven down to a depth of more than twenty feet below the surface. In one instance, the dance was well received, and those who attended were well satisfied with the contrasting styles of rhythm exhibited by the two organizations.

Cornell has perpetually tried to provide Ithacans with the opportunity to have a chance to see a show. To have a chance to be entertained by a show that is worth seeing. A show that is worth seeing is a show that is worth attending. And a show that is worth attending is a show that is worth discussing. And a show that is worth discussing is a show that is worth remembering.

During the war years, several service units were located on the hill, and many of the young men were able to see a show or two. Some of these shows were put on by the Ithaca College dramatic club. Some of these shows were put on by the Ithaca College dramatic club. Some of these shows were put on by the Ithaca College dramatic club. Some of these shows were put on by the Ithaca College dramatic club. Some of these shows were put on by the Ithaca College dramatic club. Some of these shows were put on by the Ithaca College dramatic club. Some of these shows were put on by the Ithaca College dramatic club.

In Los Angeles, or rather Hollywood, there is the now famous Farmers Market. It is the annual circus and many more. You'll have a grand time at the circus. The circus is going to be in town for a few weeks, why not get together in some remote corner-and plan to see the circus.

This afternoon, Westminster State Teachers College will send a football team to the state of the Blue and Gold Bombers. We're not saying that we should give our team to the "In dians," but Westminster, with a win or loss, will look like a winning team, and the hours are free, not to trap your Pfeifer Field and cheer for the home team. Remember, it's their final appearance of the season and you'd want to see the Bombers in action, we're sure.

A word to the Freshmen: If you have any TIME OUT within the next two weeks, why not try a "in Kind To Upper-Classmen Week?"
