New Fraternity Rules
Put Ban On Members
With Sub-40 Indices

All Bids Due Feb. 6

The Inter-Fraternity Council has passed several new regulations which will have a serious effect on scholarship delinquents.

It was decided that any member of a fraternity or sorority having a semester index of below forty would be suspended for one month, and if this were repeated, would be suspended from all fraternal activities, business and social, for the entire semester. This rule goes into effect immediately and will affect marks at the end of the present term.

Since the present semester is slated to end the 24th of January, all bids must be in Dean Powell’s office by February 6.

It is suggested that pledging chairmen reread the Inter-Fraternity Council rules regarding bidding before bids are sent to prospective members. (See page 4.)

Orientalism Keynote
Of Coming Production

On the evenings of January 29, 30, and 31 at 8:15 p.m., the Department of Drama will present the charming oriental play, Lady Precious Stream and S. P. Hoss.

Johann Reisch, who is directing the third production of the season at Ithaca College, will treat the play in the traditional Chinese manner. Chinese music will be used, and the inevitable property man will wander unconcernedly about the stage during the action, setting up properties and taking them down. The property men will also attend the actors’ every want. Tea is served after long speeches, clothes are brushed after every encounter with furniture or floor. The whole performance of these non-acting actors strikes the eye for an unusual evening.

In order to carry the spirit of the characteristic Chinese stage settings and conventions, George Hoerner and Martin Avery are designing and constructing the Chinese furniture and the exotic settings.

Lady Precious Stream, with all its native charm and loveliness, will be an enjoyable novelty to local theatre lovers. It is a welcome temporary escape from the

Streamlined Schedule No Obstacle To Scampers

At a meeting held January 12, it was decided that Scampers ’42 should be held, in spite of the accelerated schedule. Both faculty and students feel that it is a worthwhile activity. Besides being a definite contribution to the 50th anniversary celebration, it provides valuable professional experience for participants. Also, it supports the Oracle loan fund.

Script is being written and many scenes are complete. Several drafts among which are a tap routine and modern dance, have already been rehearsed. Most of the music has been arranged, and is ready for rehearsals. Some very fine tunes have been used, both old and the ballyhoo and the series type.

A definite and efficient schedule of rehearsals will be followed, directly after the semester exams. It is urged that before undertaking any responsibility in connection with the show, each student consider carefully whether or not participation will have serious effect upon his curricular activities.

Scampers will be presented March 10, 11, 12.

Cayugan Staff Requests
Orders Be Placed Now

The Cayugan staff announces that due to the shortage of paper and other materials, it is imperative that students order their copies now. A down payment of one dollar will hold a copy of the Cayugan for you until the books come out. The balance can be paid when ordered.

Order your Cayugan now from any representative of the staff.

This year's Cayugan will be larger than previous ones in celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of Ithaca College. An added feature will be the history division. Photographs of all kinds connected with the College should be handed in by the 15th of February. Important events throughout the history of the school are needed for publication.

One-Detailed Cagers
Seeking Ninth Victory

From the jagged, soot begrimed hills of northern Pennsylvania will emerge a coterie of basketeers intent on wreaking havoc in the local bandoings. Needless to say, the pride of I. C. will have somewhat similar ideas. Tonight, the boys from Scranton U. will meet the Bombers in a tilt that should be jammed with thrills and chills, as both teams are comparatively equal. However, should the Blue continue to play with the aggressive drive and spirit that has become so characteristic of them, victory is no mere possibility.

So far the Ithacans distinguished play has netted them victories against defeats. Upon their return to classes after the holidays, they have met and defeated Mansfield, Alfred by scores of 63-42, 43-41, respectively. The only defeat handed them was by St. Bonaventure 33-31.

In all fairness, it can be safely said that we have a potentially great team. No one player is responsible for the team's successes. Rather, it has been a perfect coordination of five individuals. The team is well balanced in both temperament and ability. Probably its most outstanding function, which the ordinary fan fails to appreciate, is its dynamic defensive play. Seldom does one have the pleasure of seeing a team as aggressive on offense as it is on defense. The Bomber team tends to coast a little on defense, and only in the closing seconds.

The Repertory Band, under the baton of Mr. Philip Kessler, will present a concert Sunday evening, January 25, at 8:15. The program will include Grade IV numbers from the N. Y. State contest list and should, therefore, be of special interest to future music educators.

Report from Kelly Field
Gives Info On I. C. Boys

A recent report from Kelly Field, Texas, gives us information about three former Ithaca College students who are now serving in Uncle Sam's Air Corps.

Henry George Gendreizig, upon graduation from the famous World War pilot-training center, will probably be attached to the newly created 84 combat unit of the United States Army Air Force. Gendreizig was a member of Phi Epsilon Kappa and an active participant in football and track.

Howard L. Hall is a member of the first class of aviation cadets to enter the air corps replacement training center at Kelly Field. He was a senior in the Drama department when he gave up his studies in the winter, 1940, to enlist in the United States Air Corps in California. Hall is a member of the National Dramatic Fraternity, Theta Alpha Phi.

The last of this week's group is John K. Parkansky who left school in his senior year with Howard Hall to join the Air Force. Parkansky tells us that he and Hall were expectedly ordered to move on December 15, and are now at a base in the Pacific. Howard Hall is a member of the United States Air Corps in California. Of Accelerated Program
Junior Out in '42

Dr. Jab announced in an interview last Friday that the present semester and next semester will each be shortened by one week. Along with the majority of colleges in the country, Ithaca College is following this speed-up program because of the national emergency. The plan eliminates spring vacation and schedules the end of the second semester in May.

Plans are underway to inaugurate a new semester in May, beginning in the fall of 1942. A student who is a junior at the present time, for example, will probably graduate in December before Christmas recess.

It has not at this writing been definitely decided whether this plan of three semesters in one year will be carried out. However, it is compulsory that students follow this accelerated program, the administration must first determine whether or not a sufficient number will attend the proposed summer session. Those who desire to graduate at this time must be undergraduate students and fill out a questionnaire expressing their views on the matter.

Viola Wasterlain, Soloist
With Concert Orchestra

The celebration of the 50th Anniversary Year got off to a grand start in December when the Ithaca College Symphony presented a magnificent concert to a capacity audience. The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Henrotte, deserves full credit for the splendid performance. The music of the day is a very important to this institution.

The guest artist of the evening was Miss Cornelia Otis Skinner, violinist. Miss Wasterlain, of the class of 1926 was a member of Sigma Alpha Iota. While attending Ithaca College, she studied with the celebrated violinist and teacher, Cesar Thompson.

After being in concert work for 10 years on the West Coast, Miss Wasterlain made her New York debut in Town Hall in 1937. When she made her second appearance there in 1940, the New York Times critic described her as "one of the most generously gifted of young American women violinists. She is the day" who "again proved herself on the concert platform, as well as in her animation, breadth and unfailing taste.""Gifted artist, her father, Miss Skinner was undoubtedly one of the most beloved of actors to appear before the American public. And it was with Otis Skinner that she made her professional debut in "Blood and Sand.""(Continued on page 6)
Margaret E. Tuttle

One night last week your writer dropped into Sigma Alpha Iota to witness the previews of a new picture, "The Life Story of Margaret Tuttle." We had no idea of what was in store for us, but as soon as the first scene appeared on the screen, there was no doubt but that we were in for a very pleasant evening. Chapter after chapter was unfolded before our eyes and interest ran high.

Many years ago—in reality, it was just a short time—Meg, as she is known on our campus, made her début into this universe... (Just imagine a chubby baby screaming at the top of her lungs and you get the idea). During the early years of her life, all activities and interests centered around Northport, Long Island. The proximity of school to her home had its influence, and signs of versatility began to show.

"Meg's "theatrical instinct" prompted her to accept a counselor's position at a summer camp and here "Miss Meg," as she was called, counseled girls in dramatics and music. (Again, imagine long hikes camping out every night, administering iodine to cuts, tucking the children in every night—all in a day's work.) Then, one summer we saw her departing from New York via railway to Pittsburg where she entered Carnegie Tech for a summer session in dramatics. When this was completed, Cornell appealed to her heart and she entered our college. The second summer brought a transfer to our campus, and the men sat up and took notice!

At the beginning of the sophomore year, Meg received bids to Adelphi and SAI. These were her first stepping stones to success in Ithaca College. Meg was elected secretary of SAI for the junior year, and a climax to her career came when she was elected President last year. That brought with it the biggest thrill of her life—a trip to national convention in Los Angeles. She decided to really tour the country so—after convention she took a tour up the west coast and back through the Canadian Rockies.

And so, our fair lady of this week's Futurama comes to the present. Thus our film ended—now comes the unwritten chapter.

Students Requested To Observe Black-Out Regulations

Within the next two weeks the city of Ithaca will hold a test black-out. Local police give the following reasons:

1. The city is ordered to hold one.
2. There is a possibility of an actual raid.
3. We must prevent this city from serving as a land mark for a defense center that the enemy might be aiming to bomb.

During the test black-out, the students of Ithaca College will be asked to comply with the rules of the city which are:

Turn off all lights upon hearing the signal and leave them off until the all clear signal is sounded. Remain in the house if possible. Do not strike matches or smoke cigarettes. Leave radio turned on but do not telephone.

If driving your car, pull over at the extreme right side of the street and cut switch and all lights. Do not move your car during the black-out. Be careful and don't park in parking areas or break other parking rules.

If you are walking when signal sounds go to some safe place and stay there. Do not cross the highway or street. Stay away from traffic congestions. Do not smoke, use matches or light a flashlight. If you are at the theatre you are to remain seated until the test is over. Above all use no lights no matter how small. Be careful to obey all rules. It is also advised that you keep up with the local daily paper so that you will be aware of any sudden or last minute changes before the test.

To the future. When quizzed about this, Meg said, "Teach, of course—at least for a few years. Then...

Throughout our visit we were deeply impressed by her sincerity and lovely personality which, combined with the vitality and versatility which she possesses, insures a very successful future.

Frosh’s First Defeat

A 43-41 Heart Breaker

Last Wednesday evening the Ithaca yearlings lost a close decision to a strong Syracuse club at Syracuse. Ithaca still looks a little green, but with three games under their belt they should go on and wind up the season with a fine percentage. Their record to date is 2 wins and 1 loss.

In their first game together, which was played the first day we arrived from our vacation, the frosh visited our neighbors on the hill and walked off with a 43 to 17 in a hot game.

I. C. scored first on a smoothly executed play from the tip off-Knize to Beene to Fauls. The frosh played very well for a team not used to a large crowd. They made mistakes, yes - but what ed to follow all their sporting lives.

Carolyn Frosh were a bit harum-scarum at first but soon settled down and did some fine ball playing. Coach Murphy has a fine prospect in Booze, a center who hails from Cincinnati, Ohio. He can shoot with either hand and sure ave es su.

Phi Mu Alpha
To Hold Dance

Phi Mu Alpha will hold its traditional Mid-Semester dance Saturday night, January 24.

A recent meeting of the members reported that the Province Convention, which was held in New York City during the Christmas vacation, was well attended. The convention was due to be held in the spring of 1942.

We were happy to receive letters from our brothers who are now serving in the armed forces of the United States. A letter from Bill "Snoopy" Snider was also received. "Snoopy" is in the R.A.F. and is stationed somewhere in England.

Kappa Gamma Psi
Broccardo Elected To National Office

President Joseph Broccardo was elected First Vice President of Kappa Gamma Psi National Fraternity at the National Convention held here during the Christmas recess. Representatives attended from as far west as Salt Lake City, Utah, and as far east as Boston, Mass.

After the business of the convention was concluded, officers and members gathered at a banquet at the Alpine.

National President, Collin B. Richmand, presided over the convention and expressed his sincere appreciation for the cooperation and fraternal spirit which was displayed by the Kappa Gamma Psi fraternity.

Although many sacrifices were made for the convention everyone felt that great progress was made. Much of the discussion and action is considered to be of historical significance to the fraternity.

Monday night eight pledges went through informal initiation. The initiation got off to a grand start with a legitimate recital. Piano, clarinet, and French horn solos were rendered. Vincent Setticase and Bob McGraw gave very impressive dramatic readings.

Other pledges who participated were Charles Roosevelt, Lanny Morton, Ralph Roudi, Aaron Morton, Roger Walle, and Carleton Ewer.

Sigma Alpha Iota
Mag Reports On Fraternity Affairs

We were happy to hear that Marian Wilbur and Kenneth Bumgartner were married December 31, 1941. Much luck and happiness to both of you.

Monday night we had our first formal meeting of the new year and of several weeks. Mag Tuttle gave her convention report of business and fraternity affairs as of convention in August 1941.

Our sincere and deepest sympathy is extended to Bernadette Nichols, who lost her father in December.

Bagatelles

What's happened to the romance between Ed Reulke and Howie Ward? It started like a flash, but went out like a light. Could Uncle Sam have anything to do with it, Edna?

It was okay when Storus and Keeler occupied the stage for their daily after-lunch chat, but look what it started. During the last month the number of seats occupied has increased 75%. In fact when I walked in yesterday and saw the scattered couples I thought there was a performance going on.

What church do you go to, Rooney? You didn't accidentally get crossed up last Sunday, did you? It's okay, kid. It was nice to see you up and around especially on Sunday.

Fred Reilly and Betty Conner and Jimmy (from Cornell) make a happy triangle. They're either all together or trying to evade each other. At least, that seemed to be the case at the Post Office one afternoon before vacation.

What that pretty Phry Ed Phy Ed that Glenn Virgo is seen with quite regularly? That couldn't be the reason for his perpetual smile could it? Maybe he had it before he came to college.

You should have seen Sherry Siegel at the Kappa Gamma Christmas dance. She came in with three men. One took her wrap off and talked with her, three men. One took her wrap and disappeared. One walked to the couch and talked with her, maybe, the others with other girls. I'm not certain who did take her home.

All Catholic students of Ithaca College are cordially invited by the members of the Cornell Newman Club to attend a party and dance tonight. The Newman Club is trying to promote good fellowship among the Catholic students of the two schools. The party will include games, prizes, dancing, refreshments, and lots of fun—all for only ten cents a person. Grab your date and come up to the South Room of Barnes Hall (upstairs in the Co-op building across from Wilard Street) at 8 P.M. Girls who do not have a way of getting up the hill should meet at Hilliard House at 7:45. Cars will be there to take them up.

Phi Epsilon Kappa
Formal Initiation January 30

We take pleasure in announcing that the following men have successfully completed their pledging through the informal initiation of Joseph Abraham, Richard Conwright, Thomas Green, Rudolph Albomone, Thornton Newhouse, Carl Cook, John Hausmann, Arthur Wheaton, Charles Lent, Henry Adams, Theodore Fay, Charles Compton, and Lucien Blumberg. Formal induction will take place on January 30.

At a formal meeting last Monday, plans were discussed for our annual weekend. Al Fermichella was appointed chairman for the affair. It was decided that all members must maintain at least a 40 index in fulfillment of the new regulation of the inter-fraternity council.

Several brothers now serving our country have written us telling of their achievements. Frank Kraus, stationed at Jacksonville, Fla., writes telling of his experiences while completing his first solo for the Navy. Gail Elbingel has become one of Gene Tuney's assistants at New London, Conn. Jack Krah is wearing two stripes on his arm while doing his bit at Camp Croft. C. Jim Hemingway has his shoulders weighed down with the gold bars of a second lieutenant. Jim Carson has also successfully completed his solo hours out in Denver, Colo. Bob Papper has received a commission from the Navy while working at Racine Point.

There will be an open house dance at the Kappa Gamma Zeta house on the "House on the Hill," and we would like to see large turnout for it.

Unwilling to depend on her father's fame, however, Cornelia soon left the legitimate stage for solo characterizations. She has ample proved her ability to get along on her own, for it is through her monologues that she has gained fame. Hers were no simple readings, though, but as her own dramatist, director, designer and producer, she began the notable innovation of creating sequences of related scenes in the proportion of full length plays. Miss Skinner charmed the peoples of America, Canada and Europe with her excellent one woman productions.

After so many years of soloing, how she fares surrounded by a group of other talented actors and actresses is a matter of general interest in the theatre world; and Miss Skinner definitely shows the skeptics that she is really a talented trouper in any situation. Julia Lambert, the queen of the modern London stage, is her role in the comedy by Guy Bolton and Somerset Maugham adapted from Maugham's novel.

The part of a creature so wholly professional, romantic and remote from her public, is a difficult one for Miss Skinner. But she amply justifies her decision to return to group drama. There are times, of course, that she "shoots too directly at her audience—a hang-over from her long training in the point blank technique of the drawing room vaudeville school"—to quote a New York critic. There are some who say, too, that Miss Skinner is not as convincing as she might be, but even these admit that she is easy on the eyes and is more expert with her pointed lines than many of today's leading ladies.

The love affairs of British Theatre's "Darby and Joan", who are married to each other, forms the basis of the plot. Their relationship, unknown to the public and their own son, is purely platonic and in the interest of good business; in fact they have been divorced for three years. They separate because of a quarrel over a new show she wishes to produce, one which her husband claims is a much too youthful role for her. That the separation is only temporary, is quite apparent. How they manage to reunite, is the best part of the whole show—sparkling with clever and comical lines.

Don't get the impression that "Theatre" is all Skinner, however. Arthur Margetson, a trouper of much experience and many parts, plays the husband more than adequately. Viola Rosche, seen here with Katherine Hepburn in "Philo-delphia Story" last year, is a character actress recognized for her ability. She takes the part of Julia Lambert's backstage maid in this comedy. The cast also includes such people as Helen Flint, John Moore and Stanley Harrison.

"Theatre" is not the best play ever written, nor is it the best on Broadway today. Much of the novel's wit and effective story-telling is unfortunately lacking, and Miss Skinner, as has already been mentioned, is not always convincing as the middle-aged actress. But for an evening of good fun and a chance to see Cornelia Otis Skinner, which is worth the price of admission no matter what the show, "Theatre" is a production that can be recommended to all of you interested in the theatre.
