Ithaca College Basketball Men Defeat Middlebury and Norwich Walter C. Roberts' "Winter Dust" To Have First Showing in Little Theatre

Three-Act Tragedy Penned By Prof. of Drama, To Be Given Thursday, Friday and Saturday

Batterson and Devine to Head
One Cast; Keller and Short
To Star in Other

By Ruth Byrne

The new play "Winter Dust" by Walter C. Roberts, professor of Dramatics will have its premiere performance in the Little Theatre of Ithaca College, Thursday evening, December 15. The play is a tragedy in three acts, the scenes of which are laid in New England.

The play's production here was authorized by D. W. Griffiths, famous producer and director. Mr. Griffiths controls both the stage and screen rights of "Winter Dust" and "Damn Deborah," another play written by Mr. Roberts which was produced in Ithaca last year.

The play will be produced under the double cast system, with Frances Batterson and Paul Devine heading one cast and Virginia Keller and Joseph Short playing the stellar roles of the other. Others playing important parts are Virginia Herman, Sarah Osborne, Madge Pitroff, Margaret Myers, Arthur Sheppard, Edward Flynn, and Michael Fusco. The drama is under the direction of the author and Edwin Whittaker.

"Winter Dust" will be presented for three days, December 15, 16, 17 and Saturday matinee.

Kappa Gamma Psi Is Penalized For Disobeying Rules

A special meeting of the Student Council was called Thursday to penalize, if necessary, Kappa Gamma Psi, for breaking the new bidding rules by not having the bids mailed from Dean Powell's office.

President Whittaker read to the Council a letter of explanation which he received from Mr. Hubbard, president of the organization in question. Mr. Hubbard claimed that the unintentional error was due to the misinterpretation of the rules.

The Student Council passed a motion to penalize Kappa Gamma Psi by suspending their bidding power from the time of the special meeting to December the 15th.

T. H. Kullujian

Liberty Bell Rug Is On Display At Tremen & King's

Mr. T. H. Kullujian, world-renowned rug authority, and friend of Kings, Queens, and Presidents Theodore Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding, Hoover and President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, as well as other internationally known personages of highest rank and royalty, is now in Ithaca with his famous Liberty Bell Rug. During his stay in this city, Mr. Kullujian will be the guest of Treman, King & Company, making his headquarters at the store. He will deliver his lectures here and also at high schools and women's clubs in Ithaca.

The Liberty Bell Rug, which is being exhibited on the 4th floor of Treman, King & Company, is a priceless heritage to the oriental weaving art, and to the historic annals in which is played so important a part. It formed part of the setting at the palace of Versailles when universal peace was proclaimed. Its name is derived from

Student Recital Of December 6th Has Best Attendance

The fourth Student Recital presented in the Little Theatre December 6, continued the policy of exceptional musical excellence demanded by the Music Division of Ithaca College. The offerings were presented in sincerity and the soloists exhibited an excellent stage technique. This was, by far, the best attended of all the Recitals and is due in no small measure to the student leaders who were delegated by Albert Edmund Brown to create interest in this worthwhile and necessary project.

CHOIR CONDUCTOR

Bert Rogers Lyon

Handel's "Messiah" To Be Sung Sunday At First M. Church

The combined choirs of St. John's Episcopal Church, the State Street Methodist Church, the First Congregational Church and the First Methodist Church of Ithaca will give Handel's "Messiah" next Sunday night, Dec. 18, in the First Methodist Church at 7:45 o'clock. The chorus of 180 voices will be under the direction of Bert Rogers Lyon. The soloists will be as follows: Soprano, Lorraine Johnston; contralto, Mrs. Florence Allen Wilcox; tenor, Frederick Vaughan; bass, Ralph Ewing. Miss Louise Titcomb will be at the organ.

The choirs of the several participating churches are in part made up of students of Ithaca College. The production of the "Messiah" at Christmas time will be an annual affair. It is intended to be non-sectarian. The public is invited.

Blue and Gold Cagers Lose To Saint Michael's at Win- ooski; Score: 30-35

By Metcalf Palmer

The Ithaca College basketball team won two of its three games played last week in Vermont. St. Michael's College was the lucky team to defeat the strong Blue and Gold quintet 35-30 at Winooski, Wednesday night.

The Ithacans looked bad under the basket and the failure to make shots good after getting near the basket spelled defeat for them.

Patrick's floor exhibition was the highlight of the game. Repeatedly Patrick faked his man to gain a shot under the hoop, but failure to convert these chances into points left the Blue and Gold on the short end of the score.

It was just a bad night for the Ithaca contingent. They seemed unable to find the hoop at short range while the Saints had little difficulty in this department.

The Blue and Gold "Reds" had little difficulty in defeating Norwich, the Green Mountain Conference champions of last year 47-11. The game was played at Norwich.

Ithaca proved to be the better team from the very outset to the final whistle. The entire second team was called upon to play in the second half. The score at half time was 22-5 in favor of Ithaca.

The long shooting and defensive game of Ithaca was excellent. The university was able to score only four field goals all evening.

Continuing with their usual game the Blue and Gold "Reds" took the strong Middlebury College team into camp by a 39-33 score at Middlebury, Friday.

The Ithacans grabbed an early lead and never lost it. At the half Ithaca was leading 22-13.

Patrick and Hawley worked well together at the forward posts gathering in 28 points between them.

This victory marked the third in four starts for the Blue and Gold.

Fay Outlines Work of the Band and Orchestra School

Since the opening of school the Band and Orchestra have made 15 public appearances, including two football games, a concert for the State Teachers' Association at Elmira, an Armistice Day Program in the High School and a concert at the Zion M. E. Church. Two of the concerts in the Sunday Afternoon Series have been played.

Following is the list of numbers studied by the Band and Orchestra up to date, every number having been played at least twice, and the numbers starred having been prepared with great care and used in a public appearance.

Ithaca College Symphonic Group Makes Appearance

The second Sunday Afternoon concert illustrating the development of the classic symphony was presented in the Little Theatre a week ago Sunday. The Ithaca College Symphony Orchestra was presented in its first appearance of the year, playing Beethoven's Seventh Symphony and the Tschaikowsky "Elegie."

The movements are Poco Sostenuto; Vivace-Allegretto-Presto; Presto Meno Assai and the Finale; Allegro Con Brio. They were conducted by Leonard Whitney, Claire Evans, Dudley Mairs and Victor Salvo.

In continuing Mr. Fay's policy of an added number to contrast the premier offering, the Symphony Orchestra presented the "Elegie" from the "Third Suite" in G major by Tschaikowsky. This number was conducted by Philip Lang.

BETTER NEVER THAN LATE

The college student who is preparing to be a teacher of youth should be exceedingly cautious not to overlook the social side of his own training. His specialized and academic knowledge is of little objective value unless he has learned to consider his fellowmen, the members of society. Social courtesies constitute no small part of his personal educational equipment. He cannot be considered fully a gentleman unless he exercises the rudiments of good social behavior, at least.

Being on time at public performances is one of the social rudiments which the college student often mutilates and fails to acknowledge. To this individual we wish to say, "Better Never Than Late"; for, he not only interrupts the atmosphere created by the performers, but embarrasses the ushers, and distorts the attention and thus the show itself for numerous members in the audience. Tardiness at public performances is an unnecessary evil which the college student can easily eliminate by a little foresight and serious empathy on his part.—E. P.

THE NOBEL PRIZES

In accordance with the specifications in the will of Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor, the Nobel prizes were awarded at Stockholm, Sweden, last Saturday to those men who "conferred the greatest benefit on humanity." (The physics and chemistry awards are made annually by the Swedish Academy of Science; those for medicine or physiology, by the Stockholm Faculty of Medicine; those for literature, by the Swedish Academy of Literature; and those for Peace, by a committee of five persons elected by the Norwegian Parliament.) One American and three Englishmen received the honors. The chemistry prize went to Dr. Irving Langmuir of the Schenectady General Electric Company. Mr. Langmuir, the thirteenth American to obtain a Nobel diploma, made outstanding discoveries in surface chemistry. John Galsworthy received the prize in literature. Professor Douglas Adrian and Sir Charles received the medicine prize for research into the nerve cell and its processes.

King Gustav, with a staff of nobility and dignitaries surrounding him, presented the diploma, medals, and prize money to the winners. The guests were given a reception at the Grand Hotel where each one made a short address. Dr. and Mrs. Langmuir were accompanied at the hotel dinner by John M.

Morehead, American Minister, and Mrs. Morehead. The affair was very stately and pompous. It was typical of European award procedures.

Americans who have received Nobel prizes in former years are:

Physics: R. A. Millikan, 1923; A. H. Compton, 1927. Chemistry: T. W. Richard, 1914. Medicine: K. Landsteiner, 1930. Literature: Sinclair Lewis, 1930. Peace: Theodore Roosevelt, 1906; Elihu Root, 1912; Woodrow Wilson, 1919; Charles G. Dawes, 1925; Frank B. Kellogg, 1929; Jane Addams and Nicholas Murray Butler, 1931.—E.P.

Dr. Martin Shows Speech Defects In Clinic Patients

Last Thursday morning Dr. Frederick Martin, director of the Department of Speech Correction, presented his annual demonstration of the work done in his school. He began with a defense of the stammerer, explaining the causes and the corrective measures. The rest of the hour was made interesting and instructive through demonstrations by Dr. Martin's students.

NOTES AND NOTIONS

By Bob deLany, '30

Hornell, New York

Rumor reaches me, as rumors will, that "several students and faculty members" do not like "Notes and Notions." They complain that it is "so uninteresting."

Believe me, that hurts. To think that I spend at least five full minutes of my precious time every week, scratching through newspapers or jotting down bits of sight and sound, in order to fulfill my agreement with Editor Emil—and all for naught! Woe is mine!

If someone were to accuse me of murdering the English Language, I could but bow my head in guilt; for I realize that I split a wicked infinitive. My High School English teacher and I were pals. We never bothered about intransitive verbs and predicated nouns, or such-like rot.

But as I say, to be accused of boring my readers, implies all sorts of fatal fates. It is as good as saying several things, and frankly I don't know what to do about it. Unless some gullible Frosh writes me a little note of encouragement (forwarding address: Spring Lane, Ithaca), I shall probably go the way of all disillusioned flesh.

Meanwhile, however, I have a couple of items that I call interesting. If the "several students and faculty members" disagree, then I surrender:

Item number one: In 1928, in the tiny town of Whitesville, N. Y., one of the local churches faced a heavy debt and all of the traditional methods for making extra pennies had been exhausted. "Some more lucrative way of getting money must be conceived," said the minister, and after much bickering a plan was agreed upon.

Various prominent members of the congregation were given packets of twenty-five penny postals bearing a new photograph of the church, and urged to sell them for as much as possible. The scheme was a good one, since the project involved very little overhead expense.

One of the ladies of the church, a seventy-year-old live wire by the name of Mrs. Millsbaugh, hit upon an idea. She said nothing for fear of ridicule, but taking her pen in hand she wrote a letter, which follows—exactly as I copied it from her copy, a week or so ago: "Hon. Herbert Hoover President to Be, I hope.

My dear Mr. Hoover,

Am inclosing to you under this cover, 25 post card pictures of our little country M. E. church, and am asking you to autograph same and return to me, thereby assisting me to cancel the remaining debt of $2,500 on same.

In this little town of 600 population, with one other church, last year we rebuilt our church at a cost of $7,000 all of which we paid except the above amount.

We are all poor common people, whom Abraham Lincoln said "God loved, because he made so many of them," and we are hoping you, in this way, will help us to reduce our indebtedness. You may think me presumptuous to ask this favor.

One year from now, we are hoping and praying, you will be receiving $100,000 a year as our President of this great Nation, while we will still be struggling with our debt, so please help us.

My late husband was a Civil War veteran as well as a U. S. Regular (Continued on page four)

Santa's Calendar of Gift Suggestions

- ¶ There never was a year when it was more appropriate to give "wearables" than it is this year.
- ¶ One just can't go wrong with selecting shirts and ties and hose for men, now.
- ¶ First, because they're the thing to give and second, because when you get them here you know they are the things men get for themselves.

SHIRTS

By "Arrow", of course and that means the best there is. In plain colors or stripes or patterns and in white, blue or tan—$1.95 and more.

TIES

You've never seen a more engaging assortment than we have for you to see, right now. Here are solid colors, or neat patterns almost undecernable or in pin dots, or in stripes at $.79, $1.00, $1.50 and more.

SOCKS

Should you wish them in rayon, they are here; or if your fancy calls for silk and wool, or hiles — you'll find them, too. From $.35 to $1.00 the pair. There's a most extraordinary boxed assortment at 4 for $1.00.

- ¶ And you'll find so many more things like robes, belts and buckles in clever boxes that become cigarette boxes after Christmas, scarfs and so many other things — and for the most part most reasonable in price.

- ¶ You really ought to make it a point to spend a few minutes in here right soon while the choosing is so easy.

Tuesday night, Dec. 6, the Zion Methodist Episcopal African Church Choir under the direction of Clifford Ormsby journeyed to the neighboring town of Varna and gave a short recital.

Wednesday evening, December 7, brothers Lynn Bogart, Jay W. Fay, Dayton Latham, Douglas Card, Adelbert Purga, Harris Wilson, William Hahn and Stuart Mackay assisted at the concert given by the Ithaca Civic Orchestra in the Ithaca High School auditorium.

It was evident that a delightful evening's entertainment was enjoyed by all who attended the informal dance given by Sigma Alpha Iota Friday night, December 9.

We are formulating plans for our pledging service which will be held Sunday, January eighth at four-thirty o'clock. A tea will be served by the active members after the pledging. On Friday, January thirteenth, the formal initiation of the pledges will take place at the Delta Phi house. This service will be followed by a formal banquet and dance at the Bank Restaurant.

Cecelia Kiefer, President of Delta Phi last year, was a very welcome visitor at our home last week.

Last Friday evening Harriet Peniman accompanied by Beth Carhart sang at the Sanitarium at Taughanock State Park. Her selections were "Jesu Bambino" by Pietro Yon and "Vergebliches Standchen" by Brahms. Louise Titcomb presented her students in an organ recital, December 14 at the Methodist Church.

A Christmas party in honor of our new members, Louise, Grace, Beth, and Hilda, is planned for Tuesday evening at the home of Florence Wilcox.

Delta Psi Kappa

Those of us who attended the Phi Delta Pi Bridge on Wednesday spent a most enjoyable evening. We are proud of Miss Jarvis for upholding our bridge reputation by winning first prize.

Our activities have been varied this week. Shorty Bowman and Marge Bushnell have been elected captains of intramural basketball teams. Flo Sidur has become quite skilful in the art of hunting. And there must be something other than indigestion, we think, which causes a certain member of our group to arise extremely early in order to breakfast at the Home Dairy.

Merry Christmas everybody!

Another week-end has passed and everything seems to be normal. The fellows have not as yet reported any "prowlers" so the boys have not had the opportunity to show their ability to give and take. A number of the Brothers were away last week on an extended basketball trip.

Mike Spierdowis, an alumnus, was married to a Miss Doris Colburn a few weeks ago. Another brother, John Wheeler acted as best man. Mike is physical director at Albion High School.

Kappa Kappa Kappa
Metcalf Palmer

The Tri Kappa boys held a house dance Saturday night which proved to be one of the season's best, both in quantity and quality.

Our secret of consolidation with another national teachers organization of this nature seems to be slightly coming into the limelight. We are pleased to announce to those who may be interested that we are willing to accept the proposals offered us. This merger will strengthen our organization by some fifteen chapters of national and international fame. I wish to extend my heartiest felicitations to our adept local negotiators.

The following have recently been accepted on the Tri Kappa all time membership role: Kenneth Patrick, Edwin Sawyer, William Van Buskirk, Gordon O'Reilly, and Raymond Harrington.

This list will be followed by others from time to time, showing most succinctly the quality and extent of the musical experience afforded members of the Band and Orchestra. The starred numbers will suggest the type of music through which the Band and Orchestra makes a contact with the general student body and the public.

These lists, cut out and pasted in a note book should furnish members of the various ensembles with a most valuable list of musical materials, which will serve in good stead when numbers are needed for High School Bands and Orchestras.

Coda.

the fact that the historic Liberty Bell rested upon it for more than five months, after that great symbol of freedom was removed, for the first time, from Independence Hall in Philadelphia to the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco. Old World monarchs have trod upon the famous gem, as well as five United States Presidents and dignitaries from every civilized nation.

The Liberty Bell Rug will be formally exhibited at Treman, King & Company beginning Saturday, December 10th. Mr. Kullujian will be there with the most fascinating set of records and war memorials to be found in a private collection. He will again deliver his message of thanks for America's humanity.

soldier, as a member of the 7th. Reg. P. Car., he assisted in the capture of Jefferson Davis the President of the Confederacy, he was also an ardent Republican a Deputy Sheriff in our Co for 27 years.

I am now 70 years of age and have been a rock-ribbed Democrat all my life and succeeded in raising our only child, a son to be the same, but this year, we are both voting for Hoover, as we are done dry and Methodists, and cannot vote for a man with the record of Alfred E. Smith or for a party which will nominate a man with such a record.

But I am not condemning all the principles of the Democratic party, nor giving approval to all things Republican. Am hoping your committeemen will not overlook the fact that everything that subtlety and chicanery can accomplish will be done by the opposing forces, to elect Gov. Smith.

Yours for Victory,
(Mrs.) Ella G. Millspaugh."

She mailed the letter and the cards. In a very few days they were returned, signed and ready for sale. Mrs. Millspaugh tucked them into her pocket, left the house and bombarded the neighborhood with her story. Before the chickens had gone to roost not a card was left, and the church debt was lighter by fifty-three dollars.

"My only regret," says Mrs. Millspaugh, "is that I lied to Mr. Hoover about the population of Whitesville."

There you have item number one.

Item number two is copied from a crusty volume, published nearly fifty years ago, entitled, Hold Up Your Heads, Girls or Helps for Girls, In School and Out. I came across the book in the library of a church at Gowanda, N. Y.

Page 192: "It is certainly right for you to think of marriage, to regard it joyfully, yet so as with a serious joy. But girls, dear girls, do not inflame your hearts with the visions of married life which are so frequently delineated in the prevalent fiction of the day . . . Do not read the trash; it will make you expect too much. . . It will cause you to be more and more susceptible in the presence of young men; it will blot leaves in your book of life which ought to be white, and lead to temptation, to death."

If Annie H. Ryder, who wrote the book, were alive today—well, she isn't, so let it go at that.

There, you have my "couple of items," submitted in humility and hope.
