In an attempt to capture the myriad facets of this college year, the 1969 Cayugan presents a mosaic of its events. Each picture portrays a minute part of your college life and you.

Within are moments of wild joy, of quiet sorrow, of endless pressure and welcomed leisure, of probing questions, of deep answers, of fond greetings and of sad farewells.

We shall not attempt to give it meaning, we have only provided the mirrors and windows for insight. It is for you to give this year your own definition and it will be as accurate as you are alive...

In response to requests from a number of members of the faculty, administration and student body, the following constitutes a general statement of administrative policies concerning demonstrations at Ithaca College.

The administration believes that it is the lawful and moral right of students and/or faculty of Ithaca College to bring to the administration's attention any grievance, proposal, suggestion or other matter which is designed to remove inequities, assure academic freedom, improve conditions within the College, and enhance the objectives of the College. The administration is prepared to receive, analyze, discuss and to react to such presentations by any member of the faculty and/or the student body, acting on his own initiative or on behalf of a larger group, when such presentations are made in a manner acceptable in an academic community.

The administration believes that this is the only wholesome way of assuring that both faculty and students have a means for expressing justifiable dissent, and for having a voice in determining the direction of effort and growth by this institution.

The administration will not condone any action on the part of students, faculty and/or staff which constitutes a potential hazard to life and property; which is designed to disrupt academic or social life on campus, which is accompanied by arbitrary demands or threats, or which is calculated to provoke or encourage unlawful seizure or assembly.

As deemed appropriate and depending upon the exact nature of the incident, the administration will take prompt action to assure that the integrity of the classroom and of academic freedom and of the life and property of students, faculty and staff are maintained. For this purpose, the administration will employ any or all resources available to it.

April 24, 1969

I have had several requests to clarify the last paragraph of my statement of April 22 concerning campus demonstrations.

There has been some fear that in employing "all resources available" the administration might turn immediately to law enforcement agencies to quell any disturbance. This fear is unfounded. The administration will not interfere in any way with rights to peaceful assembly and demonstration.

Should buildings, offices or classrooms be occupied by demonstrators, direct negotiation between the occupiers and representatives of the College community will be initiated immediately. The hope is that we will be able to thoroughly discuss and amicably resolve any issues in contention.

As President, I shall conduct these negotiations with counsel from members of the faculty, administration and student government. I invite recommendations from all three groups as to how such counsel can best be utilized to achieve a College consensus on a course of action. I shall maintain dialogue and negotiate for as long as this can be continued in a peaceful manner, leading to an orderly resolution of the issues in conflict.

If the demonstrators will not negotiate, or open a dialogue on the issues, if they will not comply with reasonable requests to give up occupied buildings, or if they employ tactics which endanger life or College property, the College will seek from the Courts a restraining order. The order will be served. Should the order be disobeyed, then warrants for arrest must be issued. It is then — and only then — that police officers will be involved.

In other words, we shall use every means at our disposal to resolve among ourselves any issues which may be in conflict. We shall seek restraining orders only when all reasonable channels of negotiation have been exhausted. Police action will be involved only if restraining orders fail. If civil arrests have to be made, the demonstrators become subject to civil prosecution.

I do not believe that it should be necessary on this campus to go to the full length of the processes outlined above. I commend the student body for the orderly manner in which demonstrations have been conducted in the past, for the democratic procedures through which changes are being effected. I see no reason why we cannot make even more rapid progress, if we recognize that the resources of this institution are not sufficient to bring about constructive changes on a crisis basis.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

This yearbook contains a pictorial record of an important period in the lives of men who will become graduates of Ithaca College.

In leafing through these pages, one cannot help but be impressed by the student effort which has gone into the production of this book — and the activities it portrays.

Like all books, The Cayugan has a beginning and ending. Fortunately, the significance of what happened in the year it covers has not ended with printing the pictures and setting the type.

The experience of participating in academic and extracurricular activities is only a prelude to the challenge and excitement of participating in the more complex affairs of the world beyond the campus. To an extent you may not realize, your college experience has been preparing you for this larger role. This book depicts many of the contributions which you made to the intellectual, cultural, and social life on campus during 1968-69. There is an urgent need for comparable creativity and imagination in the world about us.

In the final analysis, a college degree represents not the conclusion of an education, but the preparation for a new and more challenging phase in that continuing education which is life itself.

To the seniors, especially, I extend congratulations and best wishes as you begin this new phase of your education. I am grateful for the contributions you made as students. I am confident that, as alumni, you will use this education and experience in ways which will redound not only to the enhancement of your own stature but to that of the College as well.

The Ithaca College Jazz Workshop had an active schedule including a Winter and Spring concert on the Ithaca College campus, programs at nearby high schools and colleges and a week-long Spring Tour. The Jazz Workshop recently presented a lecture-demonstration at the Music Educators Convention in Buffalo, New York, where Mr. Brown discussed techniques of teaching improvisation to public school students.

The addition to these activities, each year the Workshop commissions a composition for a prominent jazz soloist and the Lab Bank. In the past such notable jazz artists and composers as Phil Woods, Jim Hall, Chris Swanson and Frank Foster have appeared with the Band. Part of the 1968 commissioned work is available on a newly released album by Frank Foster entitled “Manhattan Fever”. This year the Workshop had commissioned Thad Jones, co-leader of the Thad Jones-Mel Lewis Jazz Orchestra of New York City, to write a work for trumpet soloist Jimmy Owens.

The Jazz Workshop was organized at Ithaca College to give those sincerely interested in jazz as an art form an opportunity to take part in ensembles where creativity through improvisation and composition is encouraged. Stephen Brown, Director of the Lab Band has toured the United States with the Les Elgart Orchestra and has performed on major television programs with the Xavier Cugat Orchestra.
The Junior Class officers worked hard to produce a successful Spring Weekend '69.

The Senior Class officers have tried to achieve student involvement and school unity at Ithaca College. They have kept Physical Therapy Seniors in New York City informed of campus activities by sending various circulars; they have helped initiate a movement to pay tribute to the late Brian Truhn, an outstanding Senior. The Hundred Days Party and Senior Week concluded a successful Senior year of class pride and unity.

CAYUGAN

The 1969 CAYUGAN is the first summer edition of an Ithaca College yearbook. It is a break with tradition, but one which gives a more realistic and meaningful picture of this college year. As with any change, the reactions were varied. For the seniors, it meant giving up the enjoyment of discussing the contents among friends in order to gain a coverage of their own graduation.

A lot of time and effort goes into the production of a yearbook. I would like to thank everyone who contributed help in getting this Cayugan to print. Special thanks go to Mr. Tony Bruculere, the American representative, for all his extra effort, to Mr. Paul Yorkis, our advisor, for all his lists and records, and to the staff who patiently typed in triplicate and searched the pub for someone who could name the missing people in the pictures. To the 1970 CAYUGAN, Happy 3R forms!!!

Long ago in a distant land, Greeks invaded Ithaca in a Baldwin. Seven of fourteen survived. The pygmies dissolved in acetylcholine— not even their Fearless Leader could save them.

Meanwhile, Health, Education, and Welfare, was secretly planning a Murky strategy. Details revealed mysterious things in store for "Bebe"— the curse of the Wool Frisbee— even though the police were his mother and father.

An athlete in disguise from Seton Hall supplied the enemy with Chinese kosher vegetables, attempting to defeat Lit Majors Unlimited, and the Freedom Underground. The battle was squashed by Pumpkin, descending from Olympus with the Great Kappa.

FOOTBALL SUMMARY

It was a rebuilding year for the Bombers as they compiled a 3-5 record. With the loss of 17 lettermen from last year, and a rash of young players (only 10 seniors were on the squad), Coach Butterfield laid the groundwork for next year's rough schedule.

Nevertheless, the year had its high moments. In the opener against West Chester on a brilliant, sunny day, the Ithacans threatened an upset, but West Chester's manpower took over in the second half and won, 28-6. The following week, I.C. suffered a 33-6 belting from Central Connecticut. However, safety Jim Bell intercepted a Connecticut pass and ran 95 yards for a new I.C. record.

Cortland beat the Blue 34-13, taking advantage of Ithaca errors at Cortland. The Red Dragons were awarded the Cortaca Cup, and have now defeated Ithaca three consecutive years. When I.C. tasted victory with a 24-6 passing over Susquehanna before a Fall Weekend crowd at home, things started looking up. The Bombers barely missed upsetting Lambert Bowl champion Wilkes, 28-19, and tough C.W. Post, 27-14 in away affairs. Tim Carr, the Post quarterback drafted by the L.A. Rams, helped defeat Ithaca.

Yet I.C. still defeated Bridgeport at home Nov. 2nd, 15-13, but suffered a tragic loss at the same time. Brian Truhn, senior flanker back, collapsed on the sidelines, never regained consciousness, and died the following Monday.

Somehow, Ithaca pulled together and downed Montclair, 17-13 the next week to close out the sad season.

For Coach Butterfield, it was a tribute to his coaching skill that Ithacans even won three games. There are better things to come.
FOOTBALL SENIORS

JIM RYAN
HONORABLE MENTION – LITTLE ALL-AMERICA

Jim Ryan, Captain senior linebacker, 5’8”, 160 pounds. from Horseheads, N.Y. achieved the honor of being named NCAA Little All American-Honorable mention.

Ryan made 106 tackles, and assisted with 56. He was selected as Ithaca College Athlete of the Week three times nominated six times for ECAC honors, and was the first non-physical education major to be named captain in four years.

Despite not playing very much in 1957 because of a knee injury, Jim was tabbed as top defensive man in seven games during the season.

Coach Bob Mitten – West Chester – “The best I have seen this year. A great athlete.”

Coach Jim Butterfield of Ithaca – “Jimmy is everything an athlete should be. Desire, discipline, heart, a leader, and talent. He is the best linebacker, pound for pound, anywhere.”

Jim expects to go into business world, and with the same qualities he has exhibited to be named Little All American: Honorable Mention, Ithaca’s loss is business’s gain.

FOOTBALL SENIORS

Jim Bell intercepts pass – runs 95 yards against Central Connecticut.

Dick Backer scores against Susquehanna to lead the Bombers to victory.

GYMNASTICS

Tab Ames

The 1968-69 Ithaca College varsity basketball team was a winning one, 13-9, despite several handicaps.

I.C. got off to a slow start, losing three road games, but came back to even the mark at 4-4 going into a big game with Rochester. The Bombers then upset the Yellowjackets and Susquehanna.

Bob Modliszewski was thereafter put on probation and the team lost its fine outside shooter with a 19 point average. With his loss, I.C. fell apart and lost a hope for an N.C.A.A. Tournament bid.

Ithaca fell to Buffalo, Buffalo State, LeMoyne, and Albany before an eleventh hour heroic effort pulled out a winning season.

Statistically, All-American Greg Albano was the top scorer. He scored 190 points in the last seven games and averaged 14.2 rebounds per contest.

Rich Miller had a 13.2 average, and Ed Kowalski had a 10.4 average. Mark Rowley led in assists with 56. Dale Dirk, Keith Shields, and Steve Burr started and acted as top back-up men for the team. All of these players contributed heavily to Coach Hugh Hurst's second best season.

The freshmen team, who finished 15-6, will be put to the test in the future with Albano, Kowalski, Burr, Dirk, and Miller graduated.
Greg Albano
6-5 200 lbs. Irvington, N. J.

Greg Albano is an All American. The selection of Greg to the 1968-69 Associated Press Small College All American Team is the greatest honor ever bestowed on an Ithaca College basketball player.

He set 11 individual records in his three years, while averaging 17.7 points and 13.2 rebounds per game.

This year he reached his peak during the second half of the season and led Ithaca on a five-game winning streak. He averaged 21.8 points per game, and 14.2 rebounds.

He also gained a spot in two categories in the final NCAA Small College statistics. Albano finished 16th in the nation in field goal percentage with a .588 mark, and 11th in the category of most points in one game. He had 45 against RIT.

At the close of the season, he had been named to the E.C.A.C. Division II All-Star Team for ’68-69. He made the weekly Division Teams on four occasions during the regular campaign.

Greg was later honored for the third straight year as the Most Valuable Player of the varsity squad, as well as Most Improved Player.

The varsity—co-captain was also Ithaca’s Athlete-of-the-Week seven times in the two year history of the award.

In another area, he was named for the 10th time on an All-Opponent Team.

Coach Hugh Hurst summed it up best: “Greg Albano is the best small college center in New York State,” now considered an understatement.

The Ithaca College wrestling scene will miss the services of Terry Habecker. The 137 pound co-captain from Mendon, New York, accumulated numerous laurels in his star-studded career at Ithaca.

Being selected Athlete of the Year for the 1967-68 season was a great honor, but it has been enhanced now by Terry’s selection as All-American.

It came about after Terry’s fourth place finish in the 137 pound class at the Small College Wrestling Championships at San Louis Obispo, California. He won four out of six matches and missed the crown by four points via 5-4 and 5-3 decisions.

Later he participated in the NCAA University Division Championships at Provo, Utah and pinned his first opponent before losing his next decision. The students of the College, not the administration, sent Habecker to Utah.

His record at Ithaca was 46-13-2. He served as co-captain for the past two years, while recording dual meet marks of 9-2-1 and 12-0, winning two tournaments and finishing second in two others.

There were few performers in I.C. history as colorful as Habecker. He always went for the pin and worked every minute of every match to get it.

Besides his wrestling exploits, Habecker earned three letters in soccer and track.
