RUDIGORE READY; TO PLAY IN BINGHAMTON ON MARCH 2

Debate Club To Engage Susquehanna Team

The Ithaca College debate club, under the direction of Mr. Sidney Landon has arranged several debating engagements for the near future. The club, which has been functioning three years now, has thus far successfully turned itself to a light debate schedule, but this year, under the leadership of Miss Elizabeth Lusher, president of the organization, it is planning a more extensive program.

It has been pointed out that this particular team is one that has not been demanded by the state department for a year, due to its long Oriental efforts, and that there are those in recent years who have graduated without presenting. A number of the members of the team, in particular, are returning, and it is expected that these engagements will be all on-decision affairs.

Freshman Music

The Ithaca College choir and a symphony orchestra, under the direction of Charles F. Judson Pratt, will present a recital at the Assembly Monday evening, in order to avoid confusion, and to assure clearness of performance.

Binghamton Alumni Will Hold Dinner

An alumni dinner will be held at the Gillis Club, March 24, in conjunction with the performance of the Opera "Ruddigore" at that city, under the direction of Mr. Charles F. Judson Pratt, in charge of the symphony orchestra, as well as those at the college.

Keuka College to See "Strangers at Home"

The Charles Donnelly play, "Strangers at Home," produced so successfully in the Little Theatre two weeks ago, has been booked for presentation at Keuka College on Friday evening, March 18. It has been the custom of the Alma Mater to present a play or two each year, besides those at the college in Keuka. Sunday, February 23 at 3 o'clock.

Performances to Follow

Continued performances will be given in the well proved a great success. The Little Theatre in Keuka has been approved as one of the most complete and beautiful in the state. The staff of the opera company have taken advantage of the strong advantage on the Little Theatre in Keuka.

College Cagers End Successful Tour

Since the last time that the Ithaca College basketball team has been playing basketball games for the neighboring town of Cortland and the college they have been overpowered the teams want to work in New York where the average of the team has, for the last three years, dropped down. This trip, the stocks of Ithaca College went up in the Blue (and Gold) and the team returned with the record of ten wins and four defeats.

Students urged to reserve tickets for "Rudigore"

Before the first performance next Monday evening, it is urged to avoid confusion, and to secure enough tickets to cover the entire senior year, in the Hall of Science.

WHAT'S WRONG?

An annual activity which deserves the support of the student body is the college magazine. True, its aims and objects are stated, but too often the response given the production by the student body this year has been sadly limited. It is certainly appreciated in previous years. Can it be that interest in literary activities is waning?

Original productions have always been outstanding here, and there is no reason why they should not continue to be so. The directors have always produced a splendid product which their tastes and the standards have been highly commented on by all who have attended. There is no doubt that the opera and the college magazine have been of increased advertising schedules. They have again become necessary to change the general makeup up of the college and its activities in order to make full use of its number of pages to six, instead of the four released in the latter part of the semester.

Comments on this alteration were not generally accepted by the students. The following are the opinions expressed:

"If we had to pay more for the magazine, then we would have no reason why we should be paying for it."

"I believe that the magazine should be made a requirement, but if we are to pay for it, then it should be of high quality."

"I do not think that the college magazine should be a necessity, but if it is to continue, then it should be of high quality and well produced."

"I think that the college magazine should be optional, and if it is to continue, then it should be of high quality and well produced."
A Senior Looks at Life

Even though a look at Life from one person's viewpoint is necessarily limited, I believe that the picture I am presenting is one of the multitude of positions of our little lives, and being popular it is entitled to a great extent. Consequently, I feel that I am not over crowding someone's time too much if I present a few of my views.

At present I have spent three and one-half years at Ithaca College. When I say "spent" that is exactly what I mean. Perhaps my budget hasn't balanced every year; perhaps the red ink has shown itself. I have only, nevertheless, indulged in it to a great extent. Considering the discards have been on the red ink because of the red ink, it has tipped decidedly for the red ink. This is the position in regard to the social status. Sixteen young men have tipped decidedly for the red ink, I shall endeavor to shift the balance in their favor.

A few years ago I had not thought of the necessity of the organization, but it is exactly as though I had been feeding the mind as one feeds his mother. For after all, if it hadn't been for Nancy Hanks, there probably would have been no Lincoln—just a thought for speculation.

The CO-NO press, weekly sheet of Cornell Normal refers to Benny Quick's on Sunday last, quickened the possibility of a similar course to engage the attention of students on the streets of this fair city: "IT'S TOASTED"—professional jealousy again!

"Was told that Dolson visited the Quick's on Sunday, and made ... all things! fudge!"

The following from the pen of Maxwell, whose name has appeared heretofore on these pages, should suggest to some young people the possibility of a similar scene-on the streets that may frequently be seen on the streets of this fair city:

MIZ POSSUM
Mr. Possum, do you see
A thousand pines—
Sometimes
Her home in cities;
Spends her days
On moops, in sewers;
But at night
She goes on tours—
On the alleys
And the streets,
On the lookout
For her eats.
Oh haga worthy
To be seen—
The lady carries
Feces young!—

"I'll just start the fire, it isn't you.
Some apache left from the last following seen in the office, take them for what they're worth—a few of the fresh faced girls has recently changed her name to Miss Ed. Nelson. Fresh frozen, and are easily spoiled. This, dear, we must hard to date, wonder why Walt Schmidt attends to the furnaces so diligently in the winter evenings. Jack and Art were invited to the movies, and didn't like the terms. Nelson being a big help to some senior girls baking cookies and doleful going in for senseless dates."

Each Puff Less Acid

A LIGHT SMOKE of RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

Luckies are less acid. One of the chief contributions of the Research Department in the development of A LIGHT SMOKE is the private Lucky Strike process, "IT'S TOASTED." This preheating process at higher temperatures constitutes four main stages, which involve carefully controlled temperature gradations. Quantities of undesirable constituents are removed. In effect, this method of preheating at higher temperatures constitutes a completion or fulfillment of the curing and aging processes.
ALUMNI NEWS

As interesting an event from Mini Delta Phi Sorority is the Fall Pledge Supper of 1932, and now a teacher in Hawaii, she recently received by mail an Alumni Secretary, Miss Saunders, as follows: "Greetings, from Hawaii! I hope the alumni association becomes a real thing, for we usually have our first meeting in your school's home. The news from your school is wonderful. The pledge class at Delta Phi Sorority. The pledging ceremony will entertain the sorority at its annual banquet at the Victoria Hotel and will be followed by a social hour. The Delta Phi Sorority. This BUSINESS OF PHILOSOPHY

Well, here we are again, with another two weeks gone—where? Which brings to my mind the layman's theory of, "Here today and gone tomorrow." I'm not familiar with that, but I have gathered it; in fact, I've been meeting people of having no philosophy at all, but then, aren't we all our own private philosophers? A philosopher seems to be one of those wise men who are wiser than we are, and who seem to understand the human nature, whose beliefs are that we are all alike, and who seems to be a little bit behind the scenes. In some way or other, it all ties up with conscience and personality. It can be a tribute to one's nature or it can be a deterrent to one's self. I pity the person who is not conscious of his philosophy. I am reminded of the huge man who is philosophizing about the handiwork of nature, whose beliefs are that we are all alike, and who seems to be a little bit behind the scenes. In some way or other, it all ties up with conscience and personality. It can be a tribute to one's nature or it can be a deterrent to one's self. The members of the sorority had a supper at the house on the 16, and plans are now being made for another one on the 22.

A Complicated Drama
In Our Short Act

It occurred on a crowded elevator in Rochester's department store. Five people play the principal parts in a strange little human drama; a swank-looking young lady from Ithaca College robed in impressive looking furs, looking young lady from Ithaca College robed in impressive looking furs, looking young lady from Ithaca College robed in impressive looking furs, looking young lady from Ithaca College robed in impressive looking furs, looking young lady from Ithaca College robed in impressive looking furs, looking young lady from Ithaca College robed in impressive looking furs, looking young lady from Ithaca College robed in impressive looking furs, looking young lady from Ithaca College robed in impressive looking furs, looking young lady from Ithaca College robed in impressive looking furs. The elevator stopped at the second floor, and the second floor, and the second floor, and the second floor, and the second floor, and the second floor, and the second floor, and the second floor, and the second floor.

I, too, have been told that Mrs. Envin Tropp are the parents of a son, Brian C. Tropp, who is music supervisor in the New York City schools, of the class of '33. Lyle W. Anderson of the class of '32 has been appointed Postmaster at South Vernon, Mass.

Ken Patrick of last June's class reports that his basketball team is going strong, having won 7 out of 9 games so far this season. Ken is teaching at Franklin, New York.

Victor Salvo, of the class of 1933, is guest instrumental supervisor at Kenmore East High School, and is coaching at the Fabius, Tioga Co. For Digestion's Sake—Smoke Camels

Natural digestive action notably increased by smoking Camels

People in every walk of life get "knoepped"...live too hurriedly. The effects on digestion are known to all! In this connection, it is an interesting fact that smoking a Camel during or between meals tends to stimulate and promote digestion—Enjoy Camel's mildness...the feeling of well-being fostered by Camel's matchless blend of costlier tobaccos.

Smoke Camels for digestion's sake!

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCO—Turkish and Orientali—than any other popular brand.

Costlier Tobaccos!
Could never figure out why people who invited me out to visit Sunday afternoon think that the guest is any less hungry Sunday evening than on any other night of the week... nevertheless, Sunday night suppers are always such meager things... custom, I suppose.

Pam faying thick and fast the past week... Nancy has been, if you care to listen... but be sure to laugh. Like Doc Smith's remark about the red-headed youngster from the fruit salon... "Like a nine-hole gold course"... and the one being circulated about the faun.

"Course"... and the one being circulated about the faun.

Puns flying thick and fast. Like Doc Smail's remark about the southern tier was... "like a nine-hole gold course."... and the one being circulated about the faun.

If necessary, a matinee will be given if needed... just an old Chinese custom... I suppose.

The deceit of women!... but quite "at home"... not one would say "strangers"... but quite "at home"... just an old Chinese custom. But wouldn't it be wonderful if it still persisted to be a favorite sport. The name of this place doesn't mean anything except when you're the last one to your table. My best to you and your circulation.

Strange, how some people... seniors in college, have not lost the decidedly juvenile practice of "telling the truth" every time they feel they have been mis-used. Take carrying on usually a risky way to waste time, because sooner or later one is found out... and no good ever comes to anyone by this method. However, it will probably be a favorite sport at the institution devoted to the arts... those who say, should make sure that they can fully cover and defend themselves after the devil has been done. Perhaps a bit of acting technique would not be amiss.
