Bombers Defeat Utica by 72-65

by Jim Aversa

A capacity crowd was on hand as the IC cagers defeated a poorly coordinated Utica College five 22-65, assured the fifth consecutive victory of the season at Boynton Gym last Saturday night.
The Bombers, paced once again by the versatility of flashy Phil Leibrock, pulled ahead early in the first half and were never seriously threatened. The speedy back court combination chalked up 19 points and thrilled the IC roosters with their play making ability throughout.
Big Don Mueller, playing perhaps his best game of the young season, contributed 16 points to the IC lead.

Gain Early Lead
IC jumped to an 8-3 lead in minutes after the opening whistles through the efforts of some fine offensive play by Wambold and Simons, and the never-tiring rebounding efforts of Mueller and sophomores Jim Rutenberg.
The spree inspired the Uticans to call for a time out, but the brief respite served to be a greater help to the home team as it returned with a quick 13 point spree to enjoy a comfortable 40-23 halftime margin.

Bombers Extend Their Lead
"Big Red" Frank Furtado, with his smooth driving ability throughout the second half, chalked up 19 points and the visitor played by Richard Harming.

The Bombers extended their lead, 65-55, with 18 points to 11 by the visitors. Phil Lelbrock's foul shots, Mike Halpern's, John McCabe, Sandy Paolini, and Ed Pilkington.

SOME OF THE members of "Bus Stop" cast rehearsal scene from semester's last major production.
The play opens tonight in the College Theatre and will run through Saturday. Left to right are Mike Halpern, John McCabe, Sandy Paolini, and Ed Pilkington.

Face Cortland
Concerto Program Scheduled Sunday

Sololits with the Ithaca College Orchestra will present a concert program at 8:15 p.m., Sunday, January 17, in the College Music Hall.
"A Concerto for Clarinet" by Mozart will be played by Robert Leither.
John Neumayer will sing "Minn'i Sou'er a la Volta" from Samson and Bella by Saint-Saens.
Howard Hannon's "Concerto in B Minor" for Piano will be played by Richard Hausman.
Moenis Ann Burke will do "Die Fledermaus" by Johann Strauss.
The following students will play the final number, "Pluno Concerto in A Minor" by Robert Schumann.
Leither is a junior, and the other soloists are seniors.
New Year Predictions

It is an annual custom for every newspaper, magazine, etc. to make predictions for the New Year.

Ithaca College has plenty to look forward to, not so much in the coming year as in the coming years. For projected throughout the sixties, Ithaca College plans to construct a new unified campus.

With this new campus comes the question concerning the old campus. I mean the organization on that campus. Are they preparing for the new campus?

The only indication I've seen thus far is the Student Council. After a conference in New York the attending members of the council returned with new ideas for strengthening the present council setup.

One idea is coming up next week. A series of lectures will be given by Dr. J. B. Harcourt on Parliamentary procedure. It would be worth while for all the organizations to send a delegate to this series of lectures. Something can be learned.

However, all of the organizations on campus do not have a rosy future. The junior class has failed to support some of their members in the planning of spring-weekend. It is my prediction that the class will continue along these lines, with a not too remote possibility of the class-sponsored weekend being called off.

Accomplishments will be made at Ithaca College in the next year, but hard work and efficient organizations are needed to assure progress.

Let's Shape Up

It is quite obvious that something ought to be done about the I.C. cut system. If informed, the present cut system, is for the most part, sufficient.

In the past, however, some elements have been clamoring for unlimited cuts. While most students probably would not abuse such a system, I think we should be immediately concerned with correcting the abuses in the present cut system.

At the present time the College allows students absence for sickness and other "legal" excuses. Besides this practice, which is easily exploitable by "skillful" students, students are also allowed cuts each semester, without a one week total out of each semester. While the cuts were intended for emergency reasons, they are generally regarded as an extra week's "vacation" from classes.

It seems ridiculous that students are willing to pay over $500.00 per semester for tuition, and then try and figure out schemes as complicated as Rube Goldberg inventions to gyp themselves out of what they have paid for. Yet this seems to be the case and there appears to be little we can do about it.

Rather than looking down on the ways the student body regards the cut system, perhaps the failing of the whole system is in the way it is informed. Indifference towards the cut system does nothing towards making it work successfully.

If the system is to continue in the way it exists now, it should be informed in spirit as well as in word. If it is not perhaps it is time for some changes to be made.

Controversial Issue Discussed

"Controversy", a discussion program presented every Tuesday evening at 7:30 on WICB-TV, expanded its viewing time and duration for the discussion of questions of major importance to students.

The selection of guests for the discussion was based on the previous schedules of the department of government, the Cornell department of government, and the Ithaca College department of business administration. The discussion was designed to present differing views and to allow the audience to make up their own minds.

As the theories of the various guests were developed fully and adequately, the audience was allowed to witness the evolution of convictions and to understand what it saw and heard. The achievements of last Tuesday's program indicate support for this reviewer's long-considered belief that when these series need to be continually bombarded one another with opinions and convictions in order to establish their respective positions concerning the topic of discussion within the limitations of a thirty-minute format.

At the request of these Gate guests, the committee decided to develop fully and adequately the viewing time and duration for the discussion of questions of major importance to students.

"The finer the filter strands, the finer the filter action" is a way of saying
