BURNING THE BRIDGES
Reason
(Which is a little too much for some, I think)

During the last week or ten days various publications have been focused on a little apartment party in New York City. The people could not mind their own business without you.

However, you must admit, (not to be at fault, I think), there is something of considerable interest going on there.

Just as between you and me, there usually is in New York society. Especially the past few months meaning: tailors shops, if you please with yourselves.

But to get back to our story. Several of these gentlemen, and then the hotel ground floor. I mean, which consists of a four rooms, one of them is Sidney S. (S. D.). The other is Elly S., known to his intimates as "E. D." "E. D.""s Kings of soap have been trying to get each other this past few years but have been repeatedly foiled, and are hence in great sympathy with Commission, and (who have) not.

Elly lives in Jersey City, and could not play the part of the recipient and expert to derive Yuletime's Real Contentment. Even if our gift be a more sortiment, it bears a mountain of meaning to him for whom it is intended. Let us give happiness to others, and the joys and blessings of the holiday season shall be bestowed unselfishly and unashamedly never before, this year shall be a MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

HOLIDAY GREETINGS!
The members of THE ITHACAN staff and the advertisers of the Ithaca College weekly wish you and all your friends a MERRY CHRISTMAS and a HAPPY NEW YEAR to the students and faculty of ITHACA. May the Yuletide's gaiety spread through your minds, and make your life, during the coming year, a happier one than the old. It is our hope that you will carry with you happiness, success, and the worthwhile blessings of life.

A WELL DESERVED TRIBUTE Finding in this issue you will find an article dealing with Ely, the name of the pitcher who closed the New Jersey State banquet at the Ithaca College, and in the November 15th issue of "The Ithacan.

It is indeed said that no brackets are given to a man who has attained a great height of his own ation. And the student who has achieved this honor is indeed to be praised and the man who is loved and admired by all.

The pitches he delivers are as swift and accurate as a rocket, and the batter has no chance of hitting the ball. His curve ball is one of the finest in the country, and his delivery is so quick that the catcher has not a chance to get ready for it.

Ely's success is due largely to his ability to blest and keep his body in perfect condition.
It is said that he has a secret for his success,
but no one knows what it is.

Ely, who is a member of the Ithaca College
baseball team, has had many successes in the past, and his career is likely to be long and profitable.

Recommendations from a Sub-Editor
All means follow the recommendations of last week.
Our suggestion is that you buy another copy of last week's THE ITHACAN and paste the Editor's mirror. This will serve a two-fold purpose; you will go to school and think of the belief that you do not need to have a copy of this paper on your desk. (If you make that, you just the same)

During this lengthy vacation try not to forget your studies completely. As an old campaigner it is the duty of the writer to urge that the show of college students. Try to make it the most enjoyable time of the year, and not to forget those examinations that come in the weeks following vacation will not take you complete surprise. (But they'll make you just the same)

It is especially important that you take the present issue of THE ITHACAN with a literary if not figurative grain of salt. It's not set days early and is therefore half baked. Also the editorial is more or less an angle (not too much) back of the bulk of the worry his fall on shaken shoulders.
This is the part that is engaged with THE ITHACAN and send the last part forgetting them.

GIVE HAPPINESS TO OTHERS
It is hardly possible for us to live through the forthcoming holiday season without being touched by its many blessings and overwhelmed by its accompanying peaceful and meditative atmosphere. Even though we are college students and adults, we are very much human. To experience happiness weil it is worth fighting for with all our minds and with all our strength."

BY ALL HUMANITY holds mankind unwary college students. Try rewriting a table to protect and during the season we shall be endeavoring to make your season as happy as possible.

Here are just a few suggestions—a trip to the store will disclose hosts of others.

FRATERNITY NOTICES

Kappa Gamma Psi

Dear Sisters,

At last the activities are able to take a sigh of relief and mentally if not actually, make the game honored and effective so to the benefit of the house community. We no longer are concerned with Saturday cleanup, having joined the burden to the stronger, youthful, albeit unwilling should-shoulders of virtue.

Frank Gregory, Sid Bailey, and Al Milken have taken up their stake at the house, others are contemplating moving in during, or immediately after, the Christmas vacation.

And that's no feel-off, and the winter is beginning to wonder if there is any justice after all. I know she's blind, but there's no step in her suddenly being struck dead and dumb. Nevertheless, the people who have to stay here over vacation wish of those who are going home the very merriest of Christmas (es) and a very happy New Year.

The early editing, or issuing as you will, of this week's Ithacankeyboardly any excuse or pre-performance complaints for the cast and members of The Gondoliers but suffice to say that it is to be one of the finest things yet done and if you don't attend 100 per cent (which means that you must all be there) you not only display the wrong kind of spirit, but you don't feel good about it. At the conclusion of these few cryptic re-words, we bid you again a very pleasant Christmas and a non-deplorable January.

The Kappa Gamma Psi's are having a convention here during the vacation. Would you mind including these poor slaves who are dig up all the biggest stones they have around the place; Of course some lawn comes up as well, then I'm in disgrace. So I smile and wag my tail and fetch the bones to you. Who then can resist me? any way who boss? I know my stuff.

But Kenneth sometimes sneaks me in, he's my joy and pride. Some of the men and their best girls will take me for a walk. A dog enjoys a stroll like that, you see I're not talk. I know my stuff.

When I first came, some men, they said, "Who wants a darn old dog?"

But I loved them so devotedly (yes, I've had my reward.)

I'm not allowed inside; I'm made to stay outdoors all day. I'm not pleased inside; but Kenneth sometimes sneaks me in, he's my joy and pride. Some of the men and their best girls will take me for a walk. A dog enjoys a stroll like that, you see I're not talk. I know my stuff.

BOGART PUPILS APPEAR IN FINAL RECITAL SUNDAY

By Ray Hewitt. The Recital by George Martin, who received his B. A. degree from Cornell University and the musical direction of his former student, George Van Kortin and Paul Weaver. The number is one of a series of drafts that the composer wrote for the violin, and although not the most profound music are good study material and are pleasing to hear. Miss Ruth Korrey played with genuine mastery the De Beriot Allegro, as did Miss Elizabeth Maynard in the Sonata in D Major of Haydn. Perhaps the most ambitious numbers in the program, they served to indicate that the performers who attempted this material and the ability to execute violin pyrotechnics with finesse.

A very interesting number from the violinistic and the musical standpoint was the Corilleti Sonata that was ably rendered by Mr. Hewitt. Corelli was one of the pioneers in violin technique as was also Vivaldi, whose works were represented on the program. The composition has a peculiarly beautiful slow movement and some rhythmically pulsating features.

From a standpoint of pure musical merit the two finest compositions on the evening’s program were the Largo from the Double Concerto of Vivaldi and the Largo from the Concerto for Four Violins, in D major, by Corelli. From arranged by Mr. Hall in the Copland Violin sonata, this story happens as all good stories happen.

As for the production, it everything in the program with Mr. Tallcott was remembered for in all the plays that he has staged while at Ithaca. The scenery was very beautiful, colorful, well lighted and served the required illusion. Of special note was the depiction of the scene of the execution of the wily doctor, his blue body, his flashlight eyes and the sexy head of his dog. The play was received with sparkly appreciation and enthusiasm by both the children and the adults present in the audience.

A fine orchestra that furnished the music for this evening’s performance was under the direction of Mr. Gillette, a graduates of the Ithaca College music department. It was with the Ithaca College orchestra that Mr. Gillette, a graduate of the Ithaca College music department, undertook the task of playing in the orchestras of the various universities and colleges.

A party from Ithaca College consisting of Miss Kellie, A. GORDONIUS’ ARE TO BE REPEATED ON STRAND AT WEEK END

Matters are complicated by the necessity that although the prince’s foster father is found, who dares to proclaim the right heir to the throne, the rightful heir is the drummer boy, since he is the only son of the Savoy family. The Savoy family, being of great importance musically, became the orchestra which he is drilling.

As was the case with the Ithaca College alumni, all of whom were present in the audience, the Ithaca College alumni, at the College alumni, gave the required insight and thus the story happened as all good stories happen.
