Sigma Alpha Iota

Revives Annual Musical

Under the direction of Helen Chapmeau, SAI is preparing its annual musical program to be given on May 17th at 8:15 P.M. in the Little Theatre. Evelyn Moore will be the accompanist.

The program will feature the SAI glee club, a brass quartet, and a violin duo. Members of the brass quartet are: Judith Tompson, Marjorie DuBois, Vera Tompson, and Constance Forshmich. The violin duo consists of: Verne Tompson and Helen Davis; Eleanor Brothrup will accompany.

One of the specialties of the musical will be "The Little French Clock" by Richard Kountz sung by the glee club with a pantomime finale by Debby and Marie Small. The choir will also sing Fred War­me's arrangement of "I'm a Poor Wayfaring Stranger," the "Sand­man" by Johnnes Brahms, the "China Figure" by G. Klemm and "Prayer." Felicie Levine will give a reading of the Sigma Alpha Iota symphony.

Committee chairman for the program are as follows: Publicity, Doreene Faehrenweitz; Programs, Helen Davis; Stage, Connie Conroe. The girls are planning two broad­casts, to be given later station WNYC. The first will be given in the very near future, and will be a preview of the May 11 program.

Because of the accelerated pro­gram this is the first musical given by SAI since 1943.

PUT YOURSELF IN THE WAY

"What a break he got!"

"Sure is lucky."

Was he lucky? Well, perhaps, but more likely he got that break because he had put himself in the way of it. There are some people upon whom luck benevolently descends, but the majority of successful people have worked for that break they got.

The discovery of penicillin and synthetic rubber were breaks for their respective discoverers; they were looking for something else.

Sodium was first brought to light by an accident. But in each case, the break came to a man who was intellectually alive and envious— a man who put himself in the way of discovery. A person's "big chance" will come when he least expects it, provided he is not wasting his time. In the Bible story of the talents, the Lord gave to more men a mere something of what he already had. And so it is today—when one works with and uses what he has, he puts himself in a position to realize new opportunities.

There is another thought on the subject of breaks.

There seem to be few people who appreciate the good fortune of those to whom it comes. The majority feel that because someone else is given a chance, they are treated unfairly. People who worry about others getting ahead of them will themselves get nowhere.

Work! Forget about the things you should have and concentrate on what you do have. If someone else in the race is given a push, say "My time is coming," and go on running. Keep trying for the goal ahead and others will appear. Unknowingly, put yourself in the way of the break.

Six Practice Teachers

Return With Tales

Six physical education seniors have returned to the halls of I. C. with tales of the "wild and wooly" teaching world. Beatrice Miller, teaching in Schenectady, was chosen honorary coach of the varsity basketball team and faculty spon­ sor for the cheerleaders. Violet Kissel was fortunate in being sent to Tupper Lake during the skiing season. On her first day there, Violet, who had never been on skis before, was taken to the highest ski trail at Lake Placid and was persuaded to ski down.

Mary Alice Hildebrand and Joy Pisano returned from Springfield, Mass., several pounds lighter as a result of jitterbugging in recreation classes and teaching reducing courses at the W.Y.C.A.

Arline Cooper and Shirley Will­iams taught at Schenectady and Brookport respectively. Although their experiences were not so unusual as those of the others, both enjoyed their first attempt at prac­tice teaching.

Students Are Requested To Attend Play Thursday

The next major production of the Drama Department, Mollier's famous comedy, The Imaginary Invalid, will be presented on May 3, 4, and 5, it was announced today. In a special request, Mr. Finch urged that as many students as possible attend the Thursday night performance. "It is not publicity fiction," stated Mr. Finch, "that we are giving away both townsmen and service men on Friday and Saturday evenings because no more seats are available. Hence it would be a courtesy not only to the de­partment but to the people of the city as well if students would plan to see the play on Thursday night."

College Choir Goes Annual Concert Tonight

The Ithaca College Women's Choir composed of thirty members, under the direction of Professor Bert Rogers Lyon, will present its annual spring concert Wednesday evening, April 26 at 8:15 in the Little Theatre.

The concert will open with a group of sacred numbers including, "Great Is Our Lord" by Schubitz; "Vere Languentes Nostros" by Lotti; "The Lord is My Shepherd" by Schubert; and "Praise Ye the Name of the Lord!" by Nikolazy.

Folk songs will comprise another group, among which will be: "Nenah An Oak Tree" (Castilian), "In Gornoko" (Czarinoits), "More Lovely Than the Falcon" (Ukrain­ian), and "Bells of Aberbury" (Welsh).

Among the other numbers will be: "Jubilate" by Bukhart and two chorals hymns from the Rig Veda, "To Vayu" (God of Water) and "To Agni" (God of Fire) by Holst. Miss Jeanne Switzer will play the violin obligato in the number, "Te Varuna."

Second Group of Frosh

One Acts In Rehearsal

Freshmen of the Drama Depart­ment are now preparing their sec­ond group of plays under the direction of the upper classmen of the class. The directing group is in the supervision of Dr. John Reich, "The Sneeze" by Maurice Nat­terlinke, under the direction of Mor­garet Lobbin and Edna Ruekel, telling the story of an old blind woman who foresees death. The cast includes Doris Julia Richards, Marilyn Klein, Phyllis Gross, Ger­ginia Keene, Thomas Page, Jane Shannon, Helen Leebenberg, and Carole Knapp.

A romantic tragedy of two chinese lovers in "The Romance of the Willow Pattern" by Ethel Van­derveer. Directors John Richardson and Edith Kronick have chosen for their cast David Mintowsky, Bern­ard Peters, Mary Rose Farizon, Lucille Mechanic, and Edie Levy.

Bernice Cohen and Gwendeth James have chosen "The For Away Princess" by H. Sudermann as their play to direct. This poetic fantasy of a princess who steps into real life is told by Daniel Bomarelli, Ruth Greenberg, Lillian O'udif, Sybil Hillman, Marilyn Williams, Bernice Bravman, Joan Blum, Elaine Steinberg, and William Alyea.

Definite production dates will be announced later: they will occur probably during the third week in May.

Attention girls! W.O.C. elections on Friday, April 27, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Vote in Dean Allen's office.

THE ITHACAN

Vol. XVI

Ithaca College, Ithaca, N. Y., April 27, 1945

Number 12
Orange Salad—

A La Job

Have you had any oranges lately? Yes, I’m sure you have, unless you know that the President of Ithaca College pealed a few the other day, you might think more.

One bright sunny day last week while Mary Sampson, the salad girl, was peeling oranges on the back porch of the dining hall, Dr. Job came over to offer his services.

So it was that orange salad a la Job was served that evening. Oh yes, if you found some of the white pulp on your orange, it was definitely peeled by Dr. Job.

Breakfast Blitzed

Mother Nature seems to have a grudge against the sophomores. When they planned a picnic breakfast, she melted the snow. When they planned a picnic breakfast, she brought cold weather. The sophomores intended to have a breakfast consisting of bacon, eggs and coffee at Stewart Park last Sunday, but due to unfavorable weather conditions, they cancelled it.

Those who didn’t relish the thought of getting out of bed at 6 a.m. were probably just as well pleased, but those who were disappointed Robert Schulz says, “We’ll have the breakfast in the very near future. Just as soon as it warms up—the weather I mean.”

Students Play in Recital

The Ithaca

Students of the Music Department presented a voice, piano and violin recital Wednesday evening, April 18 in the little theatre. Among the pianists were Elizabeth Kent, Myrle Terry, Ruth Mosher, Florence Paterowics, Alice Terzia and Jeanne Milisant. Jeanne Switzer played two violin numbers and Elizabeth Adamy, Alma Burger, Lola Clark performed vocally.

Theta Alpha Phi

Daniel Bonacci, Arthur Goodrich, and Jean Transue will be initiated into Theta Alpha Phi on May 8. A banquet at the club Clarat, at which Mr. William Dillon of Ithaca will speak, will follow the initiation.

Kappa Gamma Psi

Kappa Gamma Initiated three new members into the brotherhood at a formal ceremony held in Mr. O’connel’s studio April 20th. The new members are: Daniel Bonacci, Arthur Goodrich, and David Mistovskiy.

Mail Call

Dear Johnny:

Vacation’s over, Johnnie, and the kids all look fresh and spring-like, ready for another bloc at good old I.C.

We hear that Turner Carlson is now a First Lieutenant at Camp Le Jeune, North Carolina, and he has taken as his bride a pretty Lieutenant jg. of the Navy. His brother Bob is married, too, and is stationed with the Armed forces in Florida. Best of luck, boys!

Guess what, Johnnie? Second Lieutenants Don Stanford, Bob Atwood, and Moe Snyder are still stationed on Guam. Godspeed to you fellows from us at I.C.

The Ithaca received word from the American Red Cross that John R. Tulis is program director of the American Red Cross in the Mediterranean theater of operations. John taught at Falmouth, Mass. He was a graduate of Boston University and attended Ithaca College.

Say, Johnnie, remember Morty Klayman? Well, we last learned that he was on leave on the Isle of Capri. Now after 50 missions with the 15th Air Force, he is on his way home.

Several familiar faces have been seen around I.C. lately. Among them were Seaman Third Class Dick Bennison of the Armed Guard Center, 52nd Street and First Avenue, South Brooklyn, New York, and Private James Downey, PLT 971 R.D.M.D. 13, San Diego 41, California. Bruce Flaherty spent a few days with us last week too.

This afternoon in the lobby, I met two former drama students, Jean Anne Douglass and Erma Schiele, now of Syracuse Memorial Hospital where they graduated on March 12th. They attended I.C. in 1940-41-42. Now their goal is the Army Nurse Corps. It really seems swell to see some of the old crowd, Johnnie.

Just as we were going to press, who should come in, but Frances Spaulding. She’s married now and lives at Burdette, New York.

Also George Charles, and his pretty wife, the former Ethelleta Lohr, two of the Drama Departments outstanding former students are back with us again for a day of two. Upon interview, George, in his modest way, stated that his one-act play entitled “Fade Out” has been published by George Kaufman. Good work, George! He gave a few words of advice to the sophomore acting class and you can be sure that the kids soaked up every bit of information.

The postman brought mail from Bill Scott who is somewhere in Germany. He receives the Ithaca regular with his Camp McKay and asks that his mail be forwarded to his new address, a job for the circulation department. Then too, the editor got a nice letter from Bob Snyder. He seems to be on the move between France and Belgium, and from his description, he will have lots to tell us when he gets home. We’ll all be very glad to see you fellows and to hear about your experiences.

Oh, to wind up, we have learned that Merle Ford of the U. S. Marine Corps somewhere in the Pacific has been promoted to First Lieutenant. Congratulations, Merle.

Well, it looks like quitting time, Johnnie, so we’ll have to close now.

Those two hard working dispensers of musical knowledge, Ben Shifrin and Al Korkousz, added their presence to the weekend festivities. Joe Schwartz is arranging for bands at Fort Warren, Wyo.

We were glad to welcome back Steve Zarucha, and Earl Traynut last week. They dropped in on us for a few days.

Love and Stuff...
