WICB RADIO

WEEKEND BROADCASTING BEGINS THIS SATURDAY

WICB Radio will be on the air all weekend beginning Saturday evening Feb. 27th. WICB General Manager, Stu Infante has given the final O.K. for week-end broadcast starting to start, beginning at 6 P.M. on Saturday night, and going right through to 1:10 A.M., also Sunday evening from 6 P.M. to 10:00 P.M. As a result of scheduling changes, WICB will be able to occupy WICB radio both nights.

Every type of music will have its share on the airwaves over the two day weekend.

Week-end broadcasting is not new at WICB. It was tried two years ago as an experiment under the able direction of Ed Gimzack and Armond Robert. The experiment was not a success, and is now being tried again. This time on a more permanent basis.

The Ithaca College Student Council has requested the presence of Mr. Gordon McNeil at its next meeting to explain the reason for the curtailment of snack bar service. Mr. McNeil is the manager of the College Dining Hall, and other Slater System interests here, including the Snack Bar.

The Snack Bar, previously open until 7 P.M. from Monday through Friday, has now resumed a 5 p.m. closing hour, as a result of action taken by the Slater System.

Student Council members, Art Cohen and Steve Brown, had the "requisition" movement to determine the Slater System's motive for the shortened hours. They also wish to query Mr. McNeil as to why the action took place without any notice being given to the Council.

In an interview with a Council member, Mr. McNeil learned that the Council System has made a thorough study of the situation which Mr. McNeil imposed to the Snack Bar open the second additional hours and still operate at a profit. He added that a "30 day reading of the cash register in the Snack Bar showed that the intake very rarely exceeded $1, while the net labor cost was $5."

The meeting with McNeil will take place this Monday, March 2, at 7:00 p.m. The room number will be posted on the Council Bulletin Board (across from the Liberal Arts mail boxes) in the Annex.

Ithaca Announces

Thirty-Six Senior Physios Begin Semester in N.Y.

Thirty-six seniors in the Physical Therapy Division of Ithaca College have begun their spring semester studies and clinical application at Albert Einstein College of Medicine, Bronx, with which the College is affiliated.

Dr. Howard I. Dillingham, President of Ithaca College, and A. Gorman Singewall, director of the Physical Therapy Division, said that the new program will continue next year, with Dr. Arthur Aaroomson as medical director. He is professor of rehabilitation medicine at Albert Einstein College of Medicine.

The Ithaca College officials cite the benefits of this new cooperative interschool training program. This year marks the first time since Ithaca seniors began their study program in New York, 18 years ago, that their faculty have all been from a medical college.

Previously Ithaca College has been affiliated with independent hospitals. It will continue this practice, with the approval of the Department of Rehabilitation Medicine of Albert Einstein College of Medicine.

Seniors students are living at the residence hall of the medical college, and share in its educational and recreational facilities. This is more conducive to strengthening college life and its educational and social benefits than in living in quarters in various sections of metropolis.

Phony Democracy?

It is obvious that something should be done to aid the Student Council. As it stands now the Student Council is free to do anything it wants because as it doesn’t interfere with the plans of the administration.

The purpose of the Council was originally to legislate in a democratic manner, and that they think is proper or advisable, and the student council is nothing more than a voice of the administration, in all reality, while in principle it remains as a democratic governing organization. In that the administration of certain controls, the council must remain in this position.

Considering that we are living in a “democratic” society, we expect to be governed in a democratic manner, yet colleges and universities are operated as virtual dictatorships—they have to be.

Most colleges and universities have Student Councils which are “democratic”. But they are relatively powerless organizations which seem to have been created to preserve the democratic spirit in the education of American students. Perhaps some changes ought to be made, and perhaps its about time we stopped kidding ourselves.

The way things stand now, it appears that the Council has a great deal of power when its thinking agrees with the administration, and less powers, if any, in areas where it disagrees with the thinking of the administration. The Student Council is the legislative body of the students, yet there are various fluctuating limits as to what is actual legislative powers are. If any exist.

If the Student Council cannot be given any areas where it has any say in, and where it can make suggestions without the interference from the administration, in effect, performing the whole basic function of the Council should be changed. Perhaps the Council should be changed from a powerless legislative body to that of a faculty of administrative ADVISORY body of the student.

Under such an advisory body, the students would be able to voice their opinions and suggestions to the administration and/or faculty. This would give the Student Council a free hand in making or changing any policies, or suggestions, that they think is proper or advisable, and the student council would not be a “democratic hypocrisy.”

THE ITHACAN

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor: Please print this letter to the dining hall:

Dear Dining Hall,

When things go wrong—every one complains. We at Ithaca College are the ones who go right—no one seems to say much.

We, students of Ithaca College, have been eating at the snack bar for the past three years and feel the time has come to compliment you on the exquisite meal which you prepared for dinner on Friday, 12/13. We have eaten better meal at home. There was not one thing wrong with the meal that was not right before us. As a matter of fact, the portions were even adequate. Anyone complaining about that meal must be sick. Not only this meal—but for the past week the meals have been simply delicious. (Feb. 18—19) Please keep the good meals coming.

via NBC radio and television news facilities. This told something about life in their respective countries today. Chet Huntley acted as M.C. and connected the Ithaca College students to the overseas visiting posts via the NBC HOF LINER.

Culligan later went on to talk about radio and sound. He demonstrated his ideas concerning imagination and memory with tapes of segments of IMAGE RUSSIA, an NBC series now finishing up on the network. He also integrated tapes of various NBC radio sounds and a Bob and Ray skit done on MONITOR to demonstrate imagination.

Radio, TV In Business

Further into the lecture, Culligan advised business students at I.C. that opportunity in Radio & TV is tight, but new jobs are constantly being created. At this point he referred back to what he had said earlier in the day about starting concentrated specialized broadcasting. He spoke of his ideas to give specialized programs to professional men, such as doctors, with the use of FM radio. The new programming would feed music into doctors' offices throughout the day, and twice each day special programs relating to the medical field would be piped to doctors' private offices while music was still being fed to the outer offices. "Things like this," he said, "will provide new jobs in all phases of the industry."

Of WCB Mr. Culligan had this to say: "I haven't seen anything better than what you have here other than the networks and larger market stations." Culligan's engineer told reporters that the facilities which I.C. has now in both radio and television are equal to those of many commercial stations, and in some respects are better.

Culligan told reporters that in order to get where he wants to go on the network level, the I.C. graduates should start right out at a network as a page, or a clerk in the mail room, or an employee similar to one of these, and then work his way up.

Culligan also said that when hiring at a network, marks are not examined as closely as knowledge of the business and background. "When I do hiring for my staff, I look at the person's background and knowledge of the business and then I find out if he fits into the particular situation."

TEENIS NOTE

All individuals interested in playing Varsity Tennis are urged to meet in the Physiotherapy Building on Thursday, February 26, at 7:00 p.m.

Sullivan Leads Marines In 95-65 Victory Over Bombers

Jack Sullivan, former Little All-American at Mt. St. Mary's College was the main factor in the 95-65 defeat inflicted upon the Ithaca College Bombers by a strong Quantico Marine Quintet last Wednesday night at Boynton Gym.

The Bomber five entered the fray on the crest of a six game win skein but were completely outclassed by the Marines.

During the first half of play, the Marines put on a fine exhibition of shooting, as Sullivan sank baskets from far and near. His favorite shot, a jump shot, was his best point-getter as he netted a total of 12 points. Sullivan also hit 15 of 27 attempts in the first half. Making their last appearance on home boards for the season, the Bombers were sparked by Phil Leibrock who, responsible for setting up a few fast breaks was about the biggest threat to the service men defensively.

Rich Slomkowski, the I.C. point maker, was held down to a mere 14 points. This was big Steve's last home appearance with the Bombers. Graham, Antel, Hoyt, and Bailey also seniors, closed out their home careers.

SHORT SHOTS: Lefbrick, with useful goal, made 8 of 9 from the foul line . . . Sullivan was cuffed by the Philadelphia Warriors of the N.H.A., and hopes to be with them just as soon as his three year hitch with Uncle Sam is up . . . The Marines made 37 of 37 in the first half . . . The talents of J.C.'s lanky center George Strickland will be missed next week when the Bombers travel to Cortland to finish off their season against a State Teacher five . . . Sullivan has averaged 23.2 points in Quantico's 39 games to date.

The instruction at the medical college includes both theory and laboratory sessions, clinical case work under physicians' supervision, and thorough grounding in the responsibilities of a physical therapist.

Dr. Abrahamson, who is a prolific writer on physical medicine, is supervising the teaching and the clinical activities of the students.

Dingwall said that the faculty members of Albert Einstein College are outstanding in their individual specialties.

"We are pleased with the central-ized program at the College and at the Bronx Municipal Hospital. Both are on 59 acres of landscaped area, an ideal layout for a college campus in a metropolitan center like New York."

The seniors spend two and a half days a week for a six weeks period in the affiliated hospitals in New York where they implement practical experience. The hospitals will be used for internships for three months during the summer, after graduation.
