Sigma Alpha Iota Sponsors Annual Greek Sing Friday

The third annual All Greek Sing, sponsored by the Ithaca chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, will be held this Friday evening at 8:00 in the Senter Street gymnasium.

The various fraternities and sororities of Ithaca College will compete in singing contests for S.A.I.'s trophy. The winner will be awarded the possession of this trophy for one year.

Last year, the brothers of Phi Mu Alpha were the winners. In 1959 the Physical Education fraternity of Phi Delta Pi won the Initial Greek Sing.

The Judges for this year's competition will be Dr. Eliza E. Clark, Dean of Students; Helen H. How; Dean of Women; and Miss Mary Campbell, Ithaca College librarian.

The sisters of S.A.I. would like to stress the fact that this event is for the entire student body and faculty alike. Ticketing for the Greek Sing may be obtained at the door for twenty-five cents.

College Anti-Segregation Committee Meets Tonight

The Ithaca College Committee Against Segregation will hold its initial meeting tonight at 7:30 in Room 11 of the Allen.

The main speaker at the meeting will be Dr. Robert Williams, Department Chairman of Sociology and Anthropology at Cornell University. Also at the meeting will be a Cornell Phi Delta Phi singing group headed by Dick Coda.

The Committee Against Segregation was formed at Ithaca College last year after a similar committee had been formed at Cornell University and in the city of Ithaca. The Ithaca College Committee bases its plans on the following beliefs:

1. There must be no such thing as second class citizenship; we are all equal members of the American community.
2. We are presently confronted with a pressing problem—segregation—which is morally incorrect and dangerous to the future and fulfillment of our society.
3. It is our responsibility as Americans to take positive action toward the improvement of race relations in our community and our country.
4. Faculty members, students, and others interested are welcome to attend the meeting.

Sweetheart's Ball Set For Saturday

The 14th annual Sweetheart's Ball, sponsored by Phi Epsilon Kappa, will be held this Saturday evening, February 18, from 9:15-1 at the VFW hall.

Student Council Given Effective Central Powers By New Proposal

Ithaca College's Student Council will have a more effective use of its power as the result of a plan presented by President Fred Douglass at last Wednesday's Council meeting.

The plan calls for the establishment of a seven-member committee that will draw up a set of rules by which Student Council will give advice to, and coordinate, all events proposed by the Ithaca College student body. The Council will be concerned only with plans affecting the entire student body.

Activities now sponsored by College organizations will not be affected concerning initiation and membership. The plans for these events will pass through Student Council for improvement and new ideas.

Immediate effects of the proposal will be less confusion of activity, more and more student-centered events. Ultimately the plan will help organizations for help on various projects pertaining to I.C. students. Council hopes to install an increased spirit in College students through greater participation in school activities.

All organization heads will be interviewed by the committee. Suggestions from the organizations and interested students will be discussed and incorporated into Council plans.

Committee members include Ithaca students, Helen Costello, John Gero, Dan Canavan, Douglas, John Gero, Don Shoulder, Sue Ann Lurie, Sue Ellen Albright, Mary Keating, and Pete Costello.

The Cosmo Brothers, a five-piece group from Cortland, will provide the music for the dance. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the physical education fraternity for $1.00 a couple.

Brothers Select Finalists

The five finalists for the Queen of the Ball, as chosen by the Phi K. K. brothers, are: Mimi Teleisha, Barbara Parlati, Sue Ann Lurie, Peyton Waddell, and Mary Ottoway.

Active Cheerleader

Mrs. Parlati, 19, is a 1959 graduate of Roosevelt High School in Yonkers, N.Y. A sophomore in the Liberal Arts Department, she has been an active cheerleader for the past two years. Barbara is a member of Delta Phi Zeta sorority and was one of the finalists for the Rose of Delta Sig earlier this year.

She was also a freshman attendent during last year's Spring Weekend.

Cortland Transfer

Sue Ann Lurie, a transfer student from Cortland State Teachers College, is a 1959 graduate of the High School of Music and Arts in the Bronx. The twenty-year-old sophomore is a member of the Ithaca College Choir. Miss Lurie was also one of the finalists for the Rose of Delta Sig.

Miss Waddell, a Speech-Drama major from Hamilton, N.Y., was a member of the graduating class of '60 of Buffalo High School. The 18 year old Drama major appeared in the Drama Department's major production of "Two on An Island" earlier this year and was a member for the Rose of Delta Sig.

Congo Crisis

Reports from the Congo have placed a high degree of uncertainty on the face of former Premier Lumumba. We respectfully submit if the former premier is out of the picture permanently, the Congo has been benefited immensely. Lumumba, with his uncertain leanings, rabblerousing speeches, and bar-touting annoyances, did nothing constructive for a Congo that, at best, was in need of a strong government.

The damage has been done however. The best must be made of this uncertain situation. The duty of the United Nations is now to back the unadulterated Congo government of President Kasavubu. The uneducated masses of the Congo, seeped in superstition and ignorance, need a leader to give them confidence and direction. We, the editors of THE ITHACAN, believe now is the time to comply with the regulations.

College buses which operate between the Administration Building downtown and the Science Laboratories at the Quarry Street Dormitory are for the exclusive use of students who have a class at either point during the hour immediately following the departure of the bus from that point.

Buses are not for the use of students going back and forth between points who do not have classes at the starting point the hour before or at the termination point the next hour.

Some students have expressed the belief that the payment of their ticket entitles them to ride College buses. Such and opinion is an error. Buses are not provided for the convenience of students but simply to expedite their getting from one class to another. These are just a few of the reasons extending the use of some of the buses leaves much to be desired. Men of good breeding should permit ladies to board a bus ahead of them. Some of our boys seem deliberately to crowd the ladies aside.

The bus drivers have been given the authority by the Dean to control the boarding procedure and to report any student failing to comply with the regulations.

We of the Ithacan believe that College students should not have to be asked to display good manners but should have advanced to that level by this time.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I feel that certain my letter will be neither one of the many expressions of student opinion concerning the college written by Don Canavan. I feel that I owe an obligation not to only to the my own fraternity but also to the general body itself. "I have a proposal to make." Let's take a look at Ithaca College as it exist without those ter-

"Two Tickets To Heaven"

The curtain went up on "Two Tickets To Heaven," the Scampers show for 1961, last Wednesday amid an unprecedented opening night excitement. Opening night usually isn't much around Ithaca College, but one could certainly feel the enthusiasm for the much publicized Grand Opera opened that evening.

Charlie Moss, lyric writer and director, was pacing back and forth. Carol Silver, the book writer, was calm and smiling. Jim Capuata, the producer, was running here and there making sure everything was all set. Larry Holdridge, stage writer, stood by. Their efforts paid off. The show was a big success.

The highlight of the evening was obviously the song, "It Takes a Girl Like You," sung by Chet Carlin to Margo Schekman. The audience was laughing so hard, the song became almost inaudible. (Speaking of being inaudible, in a few of the numbers the orchestra was more predominant than necessary.) Chet Carlin, who played the idealistic "villain" Dudley Sible, gave a smooth and seemingly effortless performance. The object of his affection, Lisa Toller, was played by Margo Schekman. Margo Schekman was delightful. Her song with Dudley, "A Lady's What I'm Gonna Be," couldn't have been better! This twosome shared a good deal in the success of the show.

Jim Gregory certainly had a fine voice for Preacher Small. In the scenes with his wife, as played by Barbara Grasven, we saw by far the best acting in the show. We wished the Preacher's song "You Don't Need Wings To Fly" had been longer. Barbara Grasven, who didn't have a singing role, made up for it in her portrayal of the best defined character in the musical.

Annie and Clive were the romantic leads in the show. As Annie, the daughter's mother, Janie Bridenbaugh sang one of the best tunes in the show, "Follow Your Heart, Little Girl." We didn't care too much for the Preacher's daughter, Janie Bridenbaugh served them. It was great fun seeing Jim Murphy, as Harper Gorn—wealthy merchant, running around during the dream sequence in an angel robe, complete with halo and wings. In this scene, which didn't quite jell, the dancers especially seemed out of place in their purple ruffled angel robes, complete with halo and wings. Al Graubard surprised a great many people. Playing the part of the Preacher's daughter, Janie Bridenbaugh served them. Carol Gold's imaginative choreography was indicative of the talent and effort that went into this production.

A few of the supporting roles were very well done. Scott Hunter got a few laughs with a one-word line reading: "Sissago." Kathy Keating, as Mrs. Toller, played her part with enthusiasm and polish.

The Scampers orchestra was a real surprise. The arrangements were all in good taste and appropriate. Our hats are off to the guys who spent the long hours setting down the orchestrations! Al Hamme, Charles Houllan and Larry Holdridge, Charles Houllan, orchestra conductor, had a big job to do and from the sound of things he did them well.

There were many memorable melodies in the show, Mr. Holdridge is to be commended. The book he fashioned these tunes for was more than anyone. Good continuity, flowing dialogue, and various tunes gave spontaneity and believability to the script. Mr. Moss had showed a definite flair in the theatre. Obviously, this show was well directed and shaped. Charlie's last effort at Ithaca College was quite successful.

On the whole, the show ran smoothly and the audience enjoyed themselves. A great deal of work and talent went into this production; perhaps one of the finest Scampers productions.
