Of Rochester Meets

The Ithaca Club of Rochester Meets

On the evening of Saturday, January 21, an informal dinner was held at the Ithaca Club of Rochester. This event was sponsored by the Rochester Alumni Association of Ithaca College. It was held at the Ithaca Club of Rochester. Following the dinner there was an informal call, and all attendees were called to order. The meeting was then opened by the president of the Rochester Alumni Association, who read the agenda. The meeting was then adjourned by the president of the Rochester Alumni Association.
BAGATELLES
By J. Preyer

Those boys who ride in street cars all night for excitement, amusement but hardly intelligent...
-From a newspaper article.

The Englishmen do not smoke during their meals, and that traveling in the United States they consider...
-From a newspaper article.

Discovered recently that the boys who wear golf trousers used to stuff their pants pockets with things for the shape of the leg.

Marks are unimportant, if they're from B up.

Is quite a like to the new post.

Clyde Owen's dining girls included in the Freshman class; Bertha doesn't show up for dinners.

Ithaca College students have no restraint except in class preparations.

Assuming that flying tackle to the pistachio, Buderus and Windt.

That student who thinks that one M on a license plate denotes the owner.

Depar Johnston falls totally for Art.

It seems to me: that one is measured by his activities from the sudden access of steam from an automobile muffler.

That personal idiosyncrasy of the individual are influenced in thought and action.

The school year is going altogether too hard.

It seems incredible that such pictures as Berkeley Square, Treasure Bedroom, Lighting and ladies equally as good were considered dollars usually.

From all indications the new Man (Continued on page four)

The Editor Gets a Letter

Dear Sir:

In Ithaca College there are three departments: Physical Education, Drama and Music. In each departmen target people are specializing—specializ

Not so with the dramatic students. They are taught the commercial, symphonic, and "hot" aspects.

Many are the delays to a day of leisure, when rushing becomes a mere form. The force of the wheels bears them in a frenzy to nothing as an ad

For the first lectures in this course

State College, Pa.—The peaceful and scenic countryside, morn tain air of Pennsylvania State College's tier-encrusted mansion was pierc

Throughout our informal expeditions of the three types of jazz—"hot," "sweet," and "cool." The listeners occasionally avoided the hot, but the cool was generally preferred by their hearers—conclu

"Nonsensical," Mr. Nichols recently said.

It was after all the thought of which has in its purpose to entertain the public.

The first time that the movement

The first American institution higher learning to offer a course in medical instruction was Columbia University (N. Y. C.),

The collegian. They tell me.

It justly gained the reputation of being the breadbasket of the nation.

Ithaca, N. Y.

A GREAT PLACE TO EAT
We serve the best

DICK'S DINER

R. A. HEGGIE & BRO. CO.
Manufacturing Jewelers

COFFEE

The Collegiate Review

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

Freshman "MECCA" of those who enjoy GOOD FOOD

Monarch Restaurant

204 E. State St.
Ithaca, N. Y.

Tom Murray On WHAM

Tom Murray, a graduate of the Drama Department, Ithaca College '34, will be in the WHAM radio play this Saturday night. He is an old friend of the WHAM director, Mr. R. J. H. Howard.

Dance Held In Gym

Phi Delta Pi held its first dance of the year in the gymnasium last Saturday night. The music was furnished by Mr. A. F. B. Ferris.

Mr. Reagon wrote a letter to the collegian.

The collegian is the magazine of Ithaca College.

Joe B. Howard is a new staff member of the collegian.

The collegian is the magazine of Ithaca College.

Mr. Reagon wrote a letter to the collegian.

The collegian is the magazine of Ithaca College.
EXEMPLARY JUSTICE

(A Fairy-Tale for the grown-up)

by A. C. Roundlaw

The little Shoe-box Courthouse was booming, humbling, and thrilling with excitement, for the jury was seated in the trial of Piece of Paper for the kidnapping and murder of Little Fly, only child of Lightning Bug and Lady Bug. Rivulet O'Cream, who had always had a great reputation, and Paper declared they were incriminated of the crime.

The judge made up of farm-folk from the county, included Ants, Toads, Worms, Hornets, Caterpillars, and Crickets, and was chosen only after much pitting between Worm, the Prosecutor, and Grasshopper, the Defense Attorney. Judge whispered a detailed account of Insect Court, called by order of the community, to the witness box. Lady Bug wept loudly as the proceedings began and not even Lightning's flashes of kindness could console her.

Betsy Bug was the first witness to be summoned to the stand, and she, in a fitting manner, told how she had often seen Paper lying about in gutters, dump-beans, and sewers, and that she had always considered Paper a menace to the community, and that she had always said that Piece of Paper would come to no good end. After denouncing the first defendant, she hastened to add that the O'Cream woman had suffered from lack of occlusion, and that she was above all drinking into anything that was as remote as salt.

The Defense Attorney, Grasshopper, hopped to his feet, waved crossing-examination, and stated that he would produce witnesses who would dispute the testimony. Mr. Worm, impatient with fear at the hold asserted by Grasshopper who sprang to the witness stand in Wurm's direction.

The gentle Evening Breeze was called next by the prosecution and she whipped a detailed account of how she had carried Piece of Paper, sock and pillow to the privacy of the Bug house where she had dropped him. She also assured the court that she had seen Rivulet O'Cream out of the Bottle at Shadowtime-on the evening of the kidnapping and that when she had asked Rivulet what she was doing in the Bottle at that time of night, Rivulet only curtly answered and wouldn't answer. Grasshopper again raised crossing-examination, declaring that he would produce witnesses who would dispute that testimony.

Gusio Wind, who followed Evening Breeze, could offer no facts concerning the case, since on the facing night he had been blowing up its usual beat on the other side of the town. Wurm, however, managed to squeak from Gusio the fact that he had on many occasions taken Paper on a mid-morning jaunt about the town and the rural district in which the Birds lived, thereby proving that Piece of Paper knew the locality thoroughly.

Wurm now produced his most important witness against Paper and O'Cream, defendants. He called for Downy Whitefly, former housemate in the Bug-house, who had been called back from abroad, especially for the trial. The fruit, little creature nodded and wavered as she moved into the witness chair. The court was asked as the sign of a moonbeam as the dusty Spiritual correspondents of the day. Lavin gave her testimony. She waited a title that made poor Grasshopper drool thinking it would all be hypocrisy, quickly. Miss Thistle told how she had been called out of the nursery for a very short time.

"How long a time?" asked Wurm. "Perhaps as long as it took a rain drop to fall from a Cloud to the ground."

"Fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss O'Cream.

"As long as it took a rain drop to fall from a Cloud to the ground."

"You can't do that," said Wurm. "As long as it took a rain drop to fall from a Cloud to the ground."

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.

"If you don't mind," said Miss Thistle.

"It's fine enough for an insect to crawl in the window and kidnap little Fly?" asked Wurm.
Cephus Answers the Remaining Questions

(Continued from page two) has got something to do with it. But there's one thing if the people let Hasty Long and his colleagues and cohorts keep on nosing around, we'll never get out of it.

Question: Which department in Ithaca College would you want your son to attend? (If you had one.)

Answer: That would depend on my wants him back on but can't find him. Flea. Question: Should a person work his way through college?

Answer: Generally speaking, no. I figure a person can do better learning and thinking if he don't have to worry about the ordinary necessities of life. This person is almost sure to incur debts which he worries about or ever learns to disregard. Some of the best students of course are among those who are working their way but I think they would be better even if they had the time they have to spend, scrubbing dishes etc. It isn't fair to the student, the college, or those that get cheated out of. Of course a little hard ordinary labor is good for anyone but they should get it before coming to college. On the other hand too much money can do more harm than too little. Example of which cannot be found in Ithaca College but one elsewhere in Ithaca.

Again hoping to meet with your approval Mister Editor I am very sincerely yours, Cephus P. Strebly.

Bagatelles

(Continued from page two)

green is balking. You probably won't agree with the dramatic student who sends a letter to the Editor this week. There are enough of incidents besides alcohol. I am thinking of the Phi Mu Alphan who was recently arrested by police other night. At rate that's what he said. Am amused by the interfraternity dating competi-

Dr. and Mrs. Martin Give Tea

Teachers in the speech department of Ithaca College were guests at an informal tea Saturday afternoon given by Dr. Frederick Martin and Mrs. Martin of 414 East Buffalo Street. Mrs. Martin poured.

Exemplary Justice

(Continued from page three)

"No, Mr. Worm."

"Were you asleep?"

"No— I mean, yes, Mr. Worm."

Then you would have noticed anyone trying to climb into the house by the window near you?"

"I am very sure I would, Mr. Worm."

"Now, Miss Vine. Could Piece of Paper have blown into the window and out again without noticing you?"

"Remember, you were asleep."

"I think he could have done so, Mr. Worm."

"Thank you. Your witness, Grasshopper."

"Miss Vine," asked Grasshopper, "You are quite sure that, since you were not awake, you were asleep."

"Yes, Mr. Grasshopper."

"Could you have noticed Paper if you had been awake?"

"That depends, Mr. Grasshopper."

"On what?"

"At what time of day, Mr. Grasshopper?"

"And at what time of day did the kidnapping take place?"

"Sometimes after Shadow-time, Mr. Grasshopper."

"How could you know that since you were asleep?"

"Because— because— because, Oh, because I go to sleep at that time—Shadowtime."

"I guess that is all, Miss Vine."

Back at the Courthouse, Piece of Paper stepped up to the stand, quaking a little at the case that had been built up against him and his co-defendant. He could not deny that he was in the vicinity of the Bug house, clung to little Flea and carried the poor little fellow out of the window, and that Rivulet O'Cream had carried them both away. He declared that they had killed little Flea, because they were afraid to try for ransom, and because they were afraid to return little Flea to his parents. Worm opined that Rivule-

The Jury retired to a corner of the room where they weighed the evidence. The evidence against the defendant was not convincing, but they might have to listen to another trial if they didn't convict them. Paper was worthless and since Rivulet was saved, it wouldn't make much difference, really, but perhaps they should recommend mercy for poor Rivulet O'Cream. Then, too, Lady and Lightning were Big Bugs, and they should have some justice meted out, and it might as well be on Piece of Paper and Rivulet O'Cream as anywhere. So the Jury returned with a verdict of "Guilty, in the utmost degree" for Piece of Paper, with a "recommendation of Mercy for Rivulet O'Cream."

The judge June Bug ordered the defendants to stand and face the jury and pronounced sentence: You are to be whipped until so stiff that you will not be able to move, after which you are to be imprisoned for the rest of your natural life."

And so Justice again dealt with Crime; Mr. and Mrs. Bug returned to their home satisfied that the murder of the poor little Flea had been avenged, and the entire Insect World went home, snug in their satisfaction that crime would receive its just de-ters while they had the power to select the prosecution.

all gone—
you're telling me they satisfy?

On the air—

MONDAY WEDNESDAY SATURDAY

LEUCHEBIA LILY RICHARD RONALD KOSTIJEK'S ORCHESTRA AND CHORUS

9 P. M. (r. s. v.)—COLUMBIA NETWORK

© 1933, LOUIS & MIKES TOBACCO CO.