Unusually Large Audience Attends Choir Concert

The Little Theatre was not sufficiently large for those wishing to be in attendance at the College Choir, Sunday evening, May 15, under the direction of Bert Rogers Lyon.
The background of flowers and the arrangement of the chairs and the comparatively few spectators was particularly delightful.

This superior program was enhanced by distinct interpretation of the Robert Burns selections, with the obvious enjoyment the members of the choir showed in presenting the outstanding performance of the year.

Three Scenes from Twelfth Night To Be Presented Alumni

Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" has been in rehearsal for the past few weeks for its production on the earnings of June 8, 9, and 10 in the Little Theatre. Three of its com-mony essays, the Drinking Scene, Mar-ricia's Letter Scene, and the Duel-ning Episode between Viola and Sir Orsino, will be performed tomorrow afternoon for the alumni.

The play will be presented in two parts, with the act involving rounds the Ithelian theater, the Delta Omega's garden, and the "Twelfth Night" is one of the most popular plays in the program's repertoire and will be the first presentation of the Midrak Drama Festival at Union College to be held this summer. To those privied to see both performances it will be interesting to compare the efforts of the student actors with those of professionals.

Council Inaugurates Tradition Related to Commencement

At the last meeting of the Student Council it was decided to inaugurate the tradition of having two boys and two girls from each department in the school, from the junior class, serve as ushers at Commencement.

Representatives for the Commencement Exercises at the Methodist Church for the class of 1937 on June 11 will be Clara Blakely, Ellen S. Kimbrough, and Katherine Cromwell from the School of Commerce; Dorothy McLaughlin, Mildred Dietz, and Harriett Quigley from the Department of English and Drama; Kenneth Mixon, Earl Biggan, Alice Greve, and George
Cornett from the Physical Education Department.

It was also decided to select the boy and the girl having the highest scholastic rating in the junior class to lead the junior class at graduation.

Kathryn Kersey and Gene North were the two whose names have merited this appointment.

Questionnaire Put To Seniors To Discover Facts and Attitudes

Who is the most popular senior girl? Who is the handsomest senior man? Do you approve of President Roosevelt's Supreme Court plan?
Who is the youngest person living today?

These and many other important questions will be answered by members of the senior class by Monday afternoon, May 11. Questionnaires have been prepared for the seniors and they are to fill them out immediately and return them to the secretary of the three department heads-Miss Lyon, Miss Mixon, and Miss McLaughlin.
In order to get a representative sample, every senior will be asked to scind which of the following people were of the same sex and from the various press groups.

Dr. R. A. Talbott would like to meet all the seniors for graduation at noon Monday, May 31, in the Green Room. This is important. All must be in attendance.

Murch Gives Final Demonstration with Unusual Originality

Miss Marjorie Hurler presented the final Senior Demonstration.

The program was composed of a group of original recitals and an original one-lace, "Sun Fears Light." The laces were especially interesting since they enflected Miss Hurler's personality as well.

The exercises were excellently executed since they reflected phases of Miss Hurler's personality.
Several outstanding selections were: "Miss May for Money," "Love, Honor, Fare," "Land of the Cradle," and "As Do the Trees." They were all well-delivered, however, because Miss Hurler naturally believed what she had written.

Murch's play was well-written, her "sides" being particularly amusing. However the presentation of characters lacked the necessary thrust to make them distinctive; this fault may have been due to the construction of the play or to the hurried student's rapid rate of speech.

Miss Murch is a student of Virginia Becker; her sisters were Rosalie Grantham and Nancy Houston.

Seven Active Alumni Chapters Now Organized

Possibility Appears For One To Be Formed In Hawaii

Largely due to the efforts of John F. B. Bureau, alumni secretary, there are now seven active alumni chapters of the college. These chapters are located in various parts of the country as follows: The Capitol District room, taking in the territory in and around Albany and Schenectady; the Jersey-shire zone; Rochester zone; Ithaca; Binghamton; and New York City. There are many chapters in the process of being organized: Philadelphia, Pa.; Chicago, Ill.; and Cleveland, Ohio.

Since the fall there will be seven individuals, who are alumni or who have attended the College, in Hawaii, a possibility of a chapter being organized there is very likely. At present there is Mrs. John Sher-don; formerly Katherine Jones, who married John. John Sheridan. Dr.
Rogers, who will be in residence in school here the next year, working for his degree; Mr. and Mrs. Carrelli (Mrs. Carrelli was Dorothy Fur-ington prior to her marriage); Lu-en Mauer, and Mr. E. H. Douam (formerly Properance Home) in Hawaii. Officer Vogt is to be there this fall, making English, history, and public speaking and dramatic in the Mid-Pacifc School. Forming an alumni association would be rather unique and distinctive at the same

TO THE ALUMNI—

The Ithacan whole-heartedly bids welcome to the returning seniors. You have been out of college for one, two, three years, or maybe longer. Many of you have set an enviable mark for the future alumni of Ithaca College to hold before them as their goal. Some of you will never meet again. May hearing of it. So, with best wishes for a bright future, we wish our seniors returning alumni. You have been out of college one, two, three years. TO THE SENIORS—

To reveal our feelings in parting from our seniors, it is impossible to avoid becoming a bit maudlin. However, it is human nature to feel sentiment when the years roll by and you think of the time when you were young. It is impossible to avoid becoming a bit maudlin. TO THE UNDERGRADUATES—

You have now completed another year of your college education. Some of you have made excellent grades and have made prominent places for yourselves on the campus. You are the leaders in the scheme of success for Ithaca College; you are important parts in the diagram of the institution’s “design for living.” It is up to you to continue in your position until your return next September. You will be most cordially welcomed back, and you will be glad to be back.

Now some of you have not accomplished the things you would have liked to this year. It may be your own fault, or it may be that the oriental term, “Kismet,” or “Fate.” But now you have a whole summer before you to think over the events of the completed year. Let them pass before you as the scenes of a moving picture. Reflect upon them, and if you regard them honestly, you will discover where you were responsible for mistakes. Praise for your successes, and return next fall with the self-assurance that you will not commit the same errors, but rather go on doing better, higher things. You too, will be welcomed back, and that welcome will infer that you are being given a new lease on life. The faculty realizes the potentialities in you, and they are here to lend your sincere support in bringing out and developing your major talents. Perhaps in the new year you will rise to positions of campus leadership. Good luck.

TO THE FACULTY—

Credit should be given where due. Believing this, we wish to express our sincere gratitude to those members of the faculty who have helped us, each in his own way, and to all other students and members of our college body. Many of you, who have been so helpful, will carry with us pleasant, warm memories of kindnesses done us by various members of our faculty. Little things outside the line of duty will especially give us a twinge now and then as we recall them.

At Ithaca College we have found a certain real friendship and fellowship existing between the faculty members and us, the college-going students. This feeling between student and instructor is not prevalent everywhere. It is impressive to see the one which has characterized our college; you are important parts in the Ithaca College scheme of success. You are the leaders in the scheme of success for Ithaca College. "Hold the curtain" in stage parlance may mean any number of things, but not one of them is as illusive as the English language, in which a word or phrase may be used in many different ways—difficult, isn't it? May—

Humor is often an illusive thing. Either it is lacking in the phraseology, or the listener lacks the vital sense of humor. Referring to Mr. Winterhalder's latest bit of spice:

"Interesting conversation:'

Sir Orco wishes the alumni the very happiest of reunions, ecstasies, the class of 1937, and a profitable vacation to the undergraduates.

In the solo passages, the number was characterized with good taste, which made it more enjoyable to the audience. Robert Campbell played the "Schubert" in sharp minor, Mendelsohn in a brilliant fashion. Perhaps due to the extreme tempo that this number was played, it seemed to be a bit mechanical but it was quite evident that the adroitness had a marvelous command of technical facility, especially in the long and difficult left hand passages. It was a good performance and his appearance on the programs next year will be anticipated.

SPORTS

The Cayugas, benefitting by a warm sun and a dry field for practice, took the opening start and, in the first inning, took the opposition into count with well timed hits and the pitching of Andrew E. Eaton. After pitching for the first time since the St. Lawrence game, he was at his best in the opening inning but the first, but when the going became tough, he tightened up and kept the game under his thumb, while the score remained nil.

Dutch Pronczel reached the mound with a hitter in scoring position in the second inning. Baker was at his best in the third, striking out three batters in his second visit to the mound. Dutch singled up the sixth and came home on

Mr. Howard Smith, who previously was successful in pitching against the Cayugas by Oswego. Eaton got off to a flying start in the fourth, but when he lined out to third on a passed ball, and came home on base, struck out the side. He had men on base in the fifth inning, but backed up by the right sort of backing, the Cayugas, aided principally by the pitching of Andrew E. Eaton, got off to a good start and, except for a few minutes when he lost control of the ball, kept the opposition well under par.

The Cayugas, aided principally by the errors, hit and threw, and all around the bases, so the Cayugas were well rewarded, with the highest opposition at the finish. The Cayugas, through the first period, had the home field advantage. In the seventh inning, with two men on base, the Cayugas scored a run, an error went to third on a passed ball, and came home on base.

In the eighth inning, the Cayugas had bases loaded, and scored a run. Dutch single up again in the ninth and came home on an error. Wood stopped the Champs with the seventh run, when he got on base by an error, and was safe the rest of the distance by Al Amato. The Cayugas followed Eaton with Dutch on base and duplicated the first.

The Cayugas scored three runs in the second inning. Our boys reciprocated with three runs in the second inning. Our boys reciprocated with three runs in the second inning.

CHOIR CONCERT

Dynamic control of tonal color was most remarkable, ranging from delicate and graceful singing qualities to thrilling fortissimos. Correctness of pitch was pleasing with the least exception of a slight discrepancy in the lower sections in “In these Delightful Plains of Green.”

The program was nicely varied—A group of Madrigals, one of part songs, Carols and folk-songs (which included Scottish, Finnish, Jewish, Slavic, Roumanian, Spanish, Italian and Negro-Spirituals).

Particularly outstanding was the encore in, “I Won’t Kiss Katy.” It was rendered a second time as an encore. At the end of the program after volumes of applause, Mr. Luns and the Choir, offered, “In Memory Alumnae.”

The group of folk-songs at the end of the program seemed even more graceful to the concert.

Accompaniments played with much skill by Kathryn Knesevich, added a certain freshness to the Madrigals. Adaline Mate and Sarah Bracken, violins.

“AL” LITTLE TO HEAD BLAISELL’S ORCHESTRA

Hick Blaisell’s orchestra, known to dances-here and there in the surrounding towns, has transferred itself to the bands of “AL” Little. “AL” has cut quite a figure in post town in conducting orchestras in Student Sceneces, as well as for the “Maniac’s” Ball. Although “Hick” was not going to be in Ithaca next year, he wishes to keep his same dance-band together so he has handed over the leadership of this, one of the best-known dance bands on the “Hill” and throughout the city to “AL”. Henceforth the orchestra will be known as the “Shadows of Rhythm” Orchestra.
