In charge of the entire production of the Holiday For Spring '59 festivities are Al Frost and Dick Bell, the Pabel Production Team. They have organized the entire production under Rho Tau Sigma authority, and have come up with what looks to be 60 hours of wonderful entertainment.

The line-up of shows looks like this:

Beginning at 12 noon Friday, WICB Radio will present special programs on the history of show business, to go along with the Spring Weekend theme of "Broadway on Parade." At 9 P.M. Friday night, WICB remote units will cover the "Plain & Fancy" dance from the VFW hall. Freddie Blood, as his musicians will entertain from 9-11.

Music continues throughout the night, and some fine parade floats will compete for the title of 9-11. Following the float parade broadcast the I.C., B.P.T., Baseball game will be aired on both Radio and Television.

After the ball game's over to the studio for more music and news until it's time to go to the "Bonej Eulached Evening Dance" at Ithaca College, by Jimmy McBurnet's orchestra will entertain.

Meanwhile, WICB radio hosts will interview school personalities and the royal coronations, and fashion descriptions done by the girls will also be aired.

After the dance WICB continues through the night until 7 A.M. when Bernie Ruttenberg takes over at the Normandeau Restaurant for The Sympathy, the week-end breakfast.

Marella To Compete In Russia

Bob (Tiny) Marella, Ithaca College's 210-pound grappler who had never seen AAU wrestling before the annual national tournament, has been named to the AAU team that will compete in Russia and other European countries this summer.

The big Ithaca senior, an all-American in 1952 and 1953, will also compete in the 1954 National AAU and Olympic team meet. The 1952 and 1953, was unable to make the trip because of other commitments. He is a medical student and is studying for the NCAA Heavyweight title this year, and 4 (Case Institute of Technology Tournament) champion for the last two seasons, admits to being aloof over his good fortune. He calls it "the opportunity of a lifetime."

The AAU matches will fly from New York on June 17 for Moscow. They will compete there on June 19, and later in Leningrad, Kev, and Tbilisi. The team has tentative plans to fly back via Iran, Turkey, and Persian Gulf. Commitments have been made for mat appearances in Copenhagen, London, and Paris on route home.

Marella, a 21-year-old athlete, has never been pinned in scholastic or interstate wrestling competition. He won letters in varsity football in his fresh and sophomore years at Ithaca College until he gave up the sport on the advice of a physician because of an injury. He holds the New York Track and Field AAU title, and has been made for mat appearances in Copenhagen, London, and Paris on route home.

Marella went to the National AAU's as a representative of the New York Athletic Club. He was recommended by Frank Inzulli, former Cornell and Olympic team member. "I picked up a lot of the AAU rules at the tournament by just sitting on the bench and watching other fellows questions," Marella relates.

Tom Bills of Oklahoma State, who had decided Marella for the heavyweight title in an overtime period, at the NCAAs, was eliminated from the AAU competition by Marella at the AAU's in a round robin bout. The Ithaca grappler enthralls about "having the benefit of Herb Brownwell's coaching at Ithaca College. "That has been a factor in getting as far as I have."

He said "Herb had been pushing me to keep in shape for the tournaments. I was."

Marella was the only small college wrestler at the NCAAs and the National AAU's. The affable and jovial Marella has been advised to keep his weight.

To Cut or not to Cut

By the time that a student gets to college he is expected to have a sense of responsibility. If a student is responsible it is obvious that he doesn't need someone to tell him when or when he should go to class. If a student is smart enough to get into a college, he should be smart enough to stay there. Likewise, if a student is considered responsible for his own actions as well as for his own welfare, why can't a student be responsible for his own attendance at class?

Perhaps complete abolishment of the cut system is too radical for Ithaca College. If this is the case why can't some liberal policy where students, other than those on the deans list, be able to have the freedom to decide when and when not to attend classes. Perhaps it would be wise if some restrictions pertaining to parking, class on the lower class men or the freshmen. But why should juniors and seniors, who have been in college for two years or more, be treated like high school students? Perhaps a one or two year period should exist where students should consider themselves college students.

Such a "transition" period is probably needed for some of the entering students. Perhaps such a cut system should also include all students who have been placed on probation. But why should students who have proven that they can keep their work at a satisfactory level be placed under such restrictive measures?

Sports Circus Slated

The annual Sports Circus, sponsored by Phi Delta Kappa, will be held Thursday, May 7, this year. It promises to parallel last year's program in all except a few departments. One important change for those wishing to attend, is the place of the proposed proceedings which this year will be the Boynton Gymnasium.

Last year the circus was held at the Collegetown house, 115 Glen Place. The presentation of the cup to the first place winner will be held at the Ithaca College-B.P.E. baseball game at South Hill, immediately following the parade.

Judge of the floats will be based on originality, neatness, general appearance and clarity of theme, in keeping with the Broadway on Parade theme of the entire week.

around 290 for the trip to Russia. "I will not have any trouble doing that," he said with a grin, "I like to eat."

He will be able to graduate at Ithaca College commensurate June 6, and then go on to New York for a week of training with members of the AAU team.

Marella's stroke of fortune has delayed plans for a June marriage. He said he would postpone the wedding date until later in the summer.

Tiny has a reputation among his college friends of being a good entertainer. He formerly was a member of a barbershop singing trio. "I didn't have time to get one organized this year," he said. He was in the cast of two musical comedies at the College during his four-year scholastic career.

Marella competed in football, wrestling, and track at Jefferson High School, Rochester, before entering Ithaca College. He was coached in wrestling and football by Roger Bunce, Ithaca College graduate still on the staff at the Rochester school. Tiny broke the state scholastic shot put record while in high school.

But he said, "Wrestling has always been my favorite sport." Right now Tiny admits to being in somewhat of a turmoil over his scholastic future after that. He will be able to graduate at the College during his four-year scholastic career.
