WIBC Wins Second Place In National L & M Newscasting

The Ithaca College radio station, WIBC, has been awarded second place in the ninth annual competition among campus radio stations for broadcasting the "Best L & M Newscasts" during the 1960-61 college year.

News programs from 90 campus stations, located in colleges in 41 states, are considered each year with awards made on the basis of newscaster's delivery, character of the material selected for the pre- gram, and production technique.

First and third place contest winners are WMMS, University of Minnesota; and KUGW, Washington University.

Dave Poulet, sophomore Radio and T.V. student, was WIBC's winning news broadcaster. Poulet has been on the News Department of WIBC and has been active on other Ithaca radio stations.

WIBC receives a $25 prize as a result of the contest victory.
Dear Editor,

I am curious about the topic of Mr. Smiddy's speech on graduation day, and to that end, I believe that a feature on Dr. Eichmann should definitely be cast a dissenting vote. The presence of a "regal kind" to your Photographic Art Department, it is said, would have been of interest to many students.

Perhaps next year Moving-Up Day can be held in the afternoon so that students and teachers can be present.

COMMENTARY

By Marty Heffern

May 19, 1963 David Ben-Gurion, Prime Minister of Israel, announced in a speech to the world that Israeli agents had captured Adolf Eichmann, blood-stained, from a crowd in Buenos Aires. It becomes clear that the Israeli agents had spirited Eichmann from Argentina, where he had been living in relative obscurity.

In kidnapping Eichmann, the Israeli government grossly violated occupied international diplomacy by its use of violence and force and by its disregard of laws and a formal state. For this act, a state could have been held accountable in the U.N. or in the International Court of Justice.

Perhaps next year Moving-Up Day can be held in the afternoon so that students and teachers can be present. This paper does not necessarily reflect the views of Ithaca College.

Eichmann Trial

By Jere Douglass

Several weeks ago a trial of world importance started in the small and relatively cold (61°F) courtroom of a 13 year old this month) in Israel. In the community owned building of Jerusalem there were 60,000 Jews during World War II. Adolf Eichmann is charged with the extermination of 6,000,000 Jews. This was the final solution to the "Jewish problem."

As Prosecutor Haasner said, "The swastika flag with ashes of 'Sieg Heil' if there were again to reason the fear and deportation of the world, then again he was born in the image of man's humanity. At the trial this month, the pages of history will be turned by the building up of a collection of evidence intended to prove the Jews, "inferiority," the meaning of many Jews in the name of the Jew."

The Jewish problem was the racial "inferiority" of this man, and to that end the mass extermination of the Jews, the trial this month, the pages of history will be turned by the building up of a collection of evidence intended to prove the Jews, "inferiority," the meaning of many Jews in the name of the Jew.

cello; Clifford Spohr, string bass; Phillip Frear, percussion; and Leslie Simon, piano. Carol Pertemer and Donald Daley have rendered their services as rehearsal pianists.

Gian Carlo Menotti’s musical allegory is built upon a very ancient form—the madrigal—fable. In this medium the story is acted and danced on stage while the singers in the pit become the source of all the dialogue and commentary.

The unicorn, the gorgon, and the manticore are legendary beasts chosen by Mr. Menotti to symbolize the dreams of youth, manhood, and old age. The Man in the Castle is a non-conformist who is seen leading a different member of that bizarre trio on three successive Sunday days. Although the townsfolk at first seem to imitate him by obtaining their own creatures and just as quick to kill the animals on the assumption that The Man in the Castle has killed his, when their curiosity becomes aroused by his conspicuous absence, the indignant townsfolk march up on the castle, only to be set aback by the sight of the dying poet surrounded by all three of his animals.

Bedell broke the old record of 27 seconds as he set the record of 26.6 seconds. Rudd Betts also set a Brockport record as he won the 400 meter dash in 49.9 seconds. Coons won the 100 and 200 yd. and anchored the IC mile relay team.

Letters

The music for the new theme song of the Ithaca College appeared. To know the name of the band leader, when the band comes for a playdate?

If this summary is too critical or even wrong, I will stand corrected. In print, anyone who attended this decade, can prove any of my students to be false, overly unjust, or unwise. I would just like to know what happened to one of the traditional traditions remaining at Ithaca College?

John Gero

Dear Editor:

By bin work the collection of books for Africa will come to an end. This book collection was launched because of various reasons, one of which is to counteract Red propaganda in the newly rising African countries.

We believe that besides giving help to African students by providing books, we can do something in connection with the school curriculum. This can also show them that these books are not just red pamphlets printed for underdeveloped countries, but they contain science that the American people practice, great ideas that the American people acquire and material that the American students need.

The collection is ending with success, since there are over one thousand books collected already, all of which represent educational values in various fields. The books will be sent to African countries among which are Ghana, Nigeria, and Kenya, and to all others.

Finally, I would like to say thanks to Prof. W.J. Ireland, Dean, Dr. Clark, and Mr. Gill for donating an outstanding number of books and to all the students, professors, members and students who participated in this program.
