4-20-1932

The Ithacan, 1932-04-20

Ithaca College

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.ithaca.edu/ithacan_1931-32

Recommended Citation
http://digitalcommons.ithaca.edu/ithacan_1931-32/24

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Commons @ IC. It has been accepted for inclusion in Ithacan, 1931-1932 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ IC.
LITTLE SYMPHONY PLAYS EXCELLENT PROGRAM SUNDAY

Joseph Lauster Gets Extend Applause As Soloist
Of UnusualMerit

More Symphonies Come Soon

Joseph Lauster, tenor soloist, and the Little Thibau Orchestra, under the direction of Joe W. Fay, were presented by the Ithaca last Thursday night. The program was a success, and the musical benefit concert for the Ithaca schools was a decided success.

Mr. Fay gave the historical background and the chronological development of the symphony as a form and took us, in our imagination, through the development of the symphony from Haydn to Mozart.

Mozart was the composer whose music we heard.

The symphony is one of the most popular forms of music today and the symphony orchestra played a principal part in the development of the symphony.

The symphony was a success, and Mr. Fay was happy to have the opportunity to conduct the symphony orchestra.

The symphony orchestra is composed of the following members:

- Violinists
- Violists
- Bassists
- Cellists
- Double Bassists
- Bassoonists
- Clarinetists
- Saxophonists
- Trumpeters
- Trombonists
- Cornetists
- Timpanists

The symphony orchestra is a large and well-balanced ensemble, and the performance was a success.

The Little Thibau Orchestra performed a Haydn Symphony, and the program was well-received by the audience.

Musical Bequests to Russia

A committee of composers, consisting of Professor David Bearns, University of Illinois, as chairman, Mr. J. C. M. Evans, director of the university symphony orchestra, and many others, met on Sunday, April 24, at the Ithaca Hotel to present the Russian State Symphony Orchestra with a new symphony.

The symphony was composed by Mr. M. J. M. Evans, and it was performed by the Russian State Symphony Orchestra.

The symphony was a marked success, and the audience was pleased with the performance.

Curlus Burns Has Fine Cager Team

Team Trained by Former Elcona Man Wins Conference Title

A meet was held last week, and the team of curlus Burns, former student of Elcona High School, and his partner, Mr. P. F. Pleasant, won the conference title.

The team made the best of all opportunities and won the title by a score of 50-40.

Men's Glee Club Has Successful Mclean Concert

The Men's Glee Club of Ithaca College, under the direction of Joseph Lauster, presented a very successful concert in Mclean Hall, on Saturday, April 23.

The concert was a great success, and the audience was pleased with the performance.

The concert was well-received by the audience, and the performers were highly praised for their musical talent.

The concert was held in Mclean Hall, and the performance was a great success.

Three of the performing groups were:

- The Men's Glee Club
- The Women's Glee Club
- The Chamber Choir

The concert was a great success, and the audience was pleased with the performance.

The concert was held in Mclean Hall, and the performance was a great success.
THE JOURNEY'S END

The students of this college have wonderful opportunities to attend the best in productions: athletic, dramatic and musical. Our college is unique in the fact that it contains many fields of activity. Again we maintain that students here are fortunate. The recent performances of JOURNEY'S END gave us all an opportunity to think of the wonderful plays and dramas and one of the most perfectly written plays of the modern epoch—a play so just in its conception as to inculcate values demanded of every possible opportunity to do so. The concerts under the expert guidance of WALTER C. ROBERTS have always in our relationships expressed our thanks to MR. EMIL B. RGA DOROTHEA 34. It is with a feeling of warmest gratitude on the behalf of the Faculty, the Fraternal Groups and the Student生态圈 of ITHACA COLLEGE that we wish to illustrate the growth of the symphony. One picture called for the exclusion of a tree, "Chad" says. "In order to avoid trouble with the forestry law, we built a fake one at great expense of money and energy. It was our plan to pull the tree over with an invisible wire, using only enough power to keep it in a position to make the incident realistic. Unknown to us, Tracy, put two pounds of black powder under it. The scene was ruined. The powder was touched off. The tree fell into the air so quickly that the camera never even registered anything.

"Chad," I asked, "you suppose we always have trouble with the forestry laws, didn't you?"

He smiled. "Oh, I don't know," he replied. "Folks are all right, if you treat 'em all right!"

CHAS. H. BROOKS Jowcer
Costumes and necklaces, brooches and ear rings, Bracelets, Elgin, Hamilton, Wal­ ters, a watch which carries the name of Compacts, cigar lights, Blisters, etc., in this case. All at reduced prices.

5.95

Laky

Angora

3.95

Series Of Five Concerts

PRESENTING THE LITTLE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA AND BAND OF ITHACA COLLEGE

JAY W. FAY, Conductor

LITTLE SYMPHONY

EVERY SUNDAY AFTERNOON AT 3:30 Admission Free

386 E. State St.

ITHACA, N. Y.

The largest organization in the United States specializing in collegiate photography. Chin Photographers to: Ithaca College; Cornell University; Union College; United States Military Academy; Annapolis Naval Academy; Syracuse University; Columbia University and many other large colleges.

STATE

FRIDAY-SATURDAY

JOHNNY WEISSMULLER

TARAZAN, THE APE MAN

Sun.-Mon.-Tues.-Wed.-Ben Lyon

BIG TIMER

Conservation Commission

TEMPLE

FRIDAY-SATURDAY

TOM KEENE

THE SADDLE BUSTER

Sun.-Mon.-Tues.-Wed.-Ben Lyon

BEAST OF THE CITY

Wed.-Thurs.

CHIC SALES

THE EXPERT

DINNERISMS

What Does Careful Selection Mean?

The NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY is a company of mutual stock. Each of the several thousand men constituting its membership submitted to a rigid medical examination, and the applicants for membership are required to submit to a similar examination, which means that the policy issued upon successful completion of the examination is, in a way, a certificate of good health. Medical examinations are necessary to minimize a low mortality rate and continued low cost of insurance.

Do You Measure up to Northwestern Standards?

THE NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

I. E. DENTIS, District Agent

234 E. State St. Dial 3185

If She's Out of Town

If You're Out of Town

Just Telegraph FLOWERS

Distance is no barrier at all to expressing sentiment in a most courteous manner. Just come in and make a selection—a being members of the floral Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association. Each of the members in this association are filled carefully and on time. And the only additional cost you pay is for the telegram!}

Roses, $3.00 doz.

Spring Flowers, large bouquets, $2.00

Pratt's Flower Shop

214 East Seneca Street • Dial 8560
FRATERNITY NOTICES

Siganu Alpha Iota Dorothy Wood
Lorraine Johnston, Betty Eddy
Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Baptist Student Forum to Trumansburg on last Sunday evening; Lorraine and Betty sang and gave a splendid performance. The following officers were elected for the coming year, President, Mary Bells Holder; Vice President, Wadsworth Corrigan; Corresponding Secretary, Martha Southby; Treasurer, Olwyn Neff; Assistant Treasurer, Grace Van Zant; Sergeant-at-Arms, Barbara Goldsmith; Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, Dorothy Wood; Editor, Lorraine Johnston; Assistant Editor, Thelma Fields.

Min Martha Shannon was our guest last week-end.

On Thursday evening, we are looking forward to the Annual Banquet.

All girls in the fraternity are planning to attend.

Phi Delta Pi
Gertie Crowe
Because I have nothing to say on this topic, and because it is necessary that I must have considered; is it true, if not is it nice? Are all the impossible to please everyone.

The cause for all the excitement is the meeting called to approach Educational Convention to be held in Philadelphia this week. We’ve spent the last week preparing ourselves for the coming events, putting down our best effort, and planning a splendid performance which we shall receive an unlimited amount of publicity.

We have been told over the telephone that we have overlooked the fact that any publicity given where publicity is due, is necessary that I say something I have decided to give.

There is no means to please anyone. In order of rows they are Mrs. Freeman, who won the first prize for the most effective war-like atmosphere. The Sophomore and Freshmen, in the course of the examination it proves to be true. They have so much to tell us and value of the training received, that conditions are so bad, they are the pledges of Phi East soon and be with us for our next formal initiation.

There is a nice treat in store for the Amherst students who are planning to attend the performance of Music Conference given by Min. Mary Southby on the evening of April 18th.

MUSICAL RACKETEERS
A two-act musical comedy presented by PHU MU ALPHA and KAPPA GAMMA PSI

TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 3
LITTLE THEATRE
ONE NIGHT ONLY
Single Admission 50c

Phone 224

The air is echoing with foot-notes about sports shoes in black and white, tan and white, all white and tan and brown. Your site is here.

MEN’S SHOP—Street Floor—Just Inside the Door

ATHLETIC SHOP
PHONE FOLLOWING SMOKER
9:00 to 12:00 P.M.
Admission—50 cents a couple
(51-53 Varsity Letterman Admission Free)
PURCHASE YOUR TICKETS AT ONCE!
Bob York, Representative.

Send Your Photograph
Instead of the usual Flowers or Candy
On Mother’s Day
Light... they’re all hand-made, tied together, even the soles. Cool, too, for Summer wear. In white, colors and combinations.

Priced at $5.00
—Sports Shop, Second Floor—

Trevor Teele Studio
203 N. Aurora St.

Save Your “Dough”

TRENTON’S

FOR THE
MUSICAL RACKETEERS

A two-act musical comedy presented by PHU MU ALPHA and KAPPA GAMMA PSI

TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 3
LITTLE THEATRE
ONE NIGHT ONLY
Single Admission 50c

Ticket Sale Starts April 28

A Man Can Beat Fine Time with
Freeman Shoes
$5

But He Can’t Beat Rothschild’s Price

The main of the first election of officers for the new executive board of the Women’s Co-

HALL — WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27
7:30 to 8:45 P.M.
All men invited — No Charge

 Tolkien

“WHICH GREET THE AUDIENCE,
THE ITHACAN: WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1932”
STUDENTS STAR IN MILITARY PLAY
(Continued from page one)

homage under the conditions of the front, the paths, the fertility, the horizon, but the soul is the same. The play runs the whole gamut of emotion and type of behavior, and the prevailing influences are those of hate and love. We certainly feel that the influence is not self-servingly fair in our judgment, but we must maintain that the students for an ideal presentation were realized in the first performance that started William Petty in the part of Captain Studaughter.

To distinguish between the performances themselves will be difficult and not in all probabilities.

We are led to believe that for the convenience of the audience it was to his part, his best role. We do not quarrel with the approach was subjective and in some cases might have been a closer to the ideal Sturgeon if it had had more concentration and restraint.

We shall not attempt to delve more deeply into the relative merits of the casts. Edwin Whittaker was playing in his usual husky. We might say here that in a play similar to Journey’s End the character is not as subtle as in a play like the absence of the intelligence of the play, for we are left within the emotions, especially where one play a role of such a nature as this. The histrionic mechanisms only exceed those of the traditional New England students in the case of Mr. Brown and Mr. Petty, it was largely obtained. They do not quarrel with the approach was subjective and in some cases might have been a closer to the ideal Sturgeon if it had had more concentration and restraint.

We shall not attempt to delve more deeply into the relative merits of the casts. Edwin Whittaker was playing in his usual husky. We might say here that in a play similar to Journey’s End the character is not as subtle as in a play like the absence of the intelligence of the play, for we are left within the emotions, especially where one play a role of such a nature as this. The histrionic mechanisms only exceed those of the traditional New England students in the case of Mr. Brown and Mr. Petty, it was largely obtained. They do not quarrel with the approach was subjective and in some cases might have been a closer to the ideal Sturgeon if it had had more concentration and restraint.

We shall not attempt to delve more deeply into the relative merits of the casts. Edwin Whittaker was playing in his usual husky. We might say here that in a play similar to Journey’s End the character is not as subtle as in a play like the absence of the intelligence of the play, for we are left within the emotions, especially where one play a role of such a nature as this. The histrionic mechanisms only exceed those of the traditional New England students in the case of Mr. Brown and Mr. Petty, it was largely obtained. They do not quarrel with the approach was subjective and in some cases might have been a closer to the ideal Sturgeon if it had had more concentration and restraint.

We shall not attempt to delve more deeply into the relative merits of the casts. Edwin Whittaker was playing in his usual husky. We might say here that in a play similar to Journey’s End the character is not as subtle as in a play like the absence of the intelligence of the play, for we are left within the emotions, especially where one play a role of such a nature as this. The histrionic mechanisms only exceed those of the traditional New England students in the case of Mr. Brown and Mr. Petty, it was largely obtained. They do not quarrel with the approach was subjective and in some cases might have been a closer to the ideal Sturgeon if it had had more concentration and restraint.

We shall not attempt to delve more deeply into the relative merits of the casts. Edwin Whittaker was playing in his usual husky. We might say here that in a play similar to Journey’s End the character is not as subtle as in a play like the absence of the intelligence of the play, for we are left within the emotions, especially where one play a role of such a nature as this. The histrionic mechanisms only exceed those of the traditional New England students in the case of Mr. Brown and Mr. Petty, it was largely obtained. They do not quarrel with the approach was subjective and in some cases might have been a closer to the ideal Sturgeon if it had had more concentration and restraint.

We shall not attempt to delve more deeply into the relative merits of the casts. Edwin Whittaker was playing in his usual husky. We might say here that in a play similar to Journey’s End the character is not as subtle as in a play like the absence of the intelligence of the play, for we are left within the emotions, especially where one play a role of such a nature as this. The histrionic mechanisms only exceed those of the traditional New England students in the case of Mr. Brown and Mr. Petty, it was largely obtained. They do not quarrel with the approach was subjective and in some cases might have been a closer to the ideal Sturgeon if it had had more concentration and restraint.

We shall not attempt to delve more deeply into the relative merits of the casts. Edwin Whittaker was playing in his usual husky. We might say here that in a play similar to Journey’s End the character is not as subtle as in a play like the absence of the intelligence of the play, for we are left within the emotions, especially where one play a role of such a nature as this. The histrionic mechanisms only exceed those of the traditional New England students in the case of Mr. Brown and Mr. Petty, it was largely obtained. They do not quarrel with the approach was subjective and in some cases might have been a closer to the ideal Sturgeon if it had had more concentration and restraint.