NEEDED—A LIBRARY
Recently a visitor who was being shown through the Conservatory asked to see the library. It was with great embarrassment that the guide was forced to admit that there was no library. The visitor found this hard to believe. "I was sure that a school of this kind would be fully equipped with a library of drama and music," she said.

Indeed it is hard to believe that this Conservatory does not have a library of its own. Why even High Schools are equipped now with libraries to meet the needs of their students. Surely a Conservatory like this one, with the number of students increasing every year, should be able to afford one.

Although we are permitted to use both the library on the Hill and the one over town, we do not find either of them satisfactory. The one on the Hill is situated at quite a distance and is not easily accessible to all of us. The one over town is not complete in books of music and the drama, the two subjects in which we are most interested. Then too, the librarians are not always obliging and are often annoyed when we ask their aid. It is not at all the same as having a library in the school where we could go between classes and do our reference work.

Certainly the reading of good books is a necessary part of everyone's education. If we had our own library, we would be likely to read more of the worthwhile type of literature. We hope that some day we shall be able to show to visitors of our school a library that will make us proud to say, "This is the library of the Ithaca Conservatory and Affiliated Schools."

Feinstein.

FOR A CONDENSED MUSIC HISTORY CLASS
At the present time the music history class of this school taught by Dr. Reigler every Tuesday and Thursday, is entirely too large. The ratio of this class to any other class is five to one, which proves in itself that it should be divided, especially for the benefit of the students. It would also give the teacher liberties which he does not have at the present time.

The Music History class is one of the most interesting classes in the Music course, but, with present conditions the students in the back of the room cannot understand the explanations given by the teacher.

Order in classes is one of the things the teacher expects from all pupils, but as a course in nature, pupils that have the idea that the teacher cannot give as much attention to them as he would in smaller classes, have the tendency to be very restless, and inattentive. I dare say, over half of this class have not been called on for any kind of recitation, which proves the fact that the teacher cannot base a fair mark in examinations. I'll admit that the teacher cannot, and should not, spend a whole blessed evening on correcting over fifty test papers, but with a smaller class of ten or fifteen, it would be more pleasant.

This history class can easily be equally divided. It has been done with other classes, such as English and Harmony.

To whom this may concern, we can abolish this gross class and divide it equally for the benefit of the pupils and teacher.

Schwartz.

SUPERVISORS OF MUSIC IN DEMAND
In 1900 there were less than a thousand people who were employed professionally as supervisors of music in the public schools. During the past twenty-five years the growth in the field of public school music has been simply phenomenal. Today there are over 16,000 people who are engaged in the teaching of music in the public schools of this country. The growth of the general vocal as well as the instrumental work in the public schools has been greater than has been the growth in any other department of education.

Twenty-one years ago in 1907 Keokuk, Iowa, 69 supervisors of the Middlewest formed what is now known as the Supervisors National Conference. The first biennial meeting of this Conference will be held in Chicago from April 15th to April 20th, and it is expected that there will be between five and six thousand people at this important Convention. This gives one some idea of the growth above alluded to. It is also interesting to note that the call for Ithaca-trained teachers is greater than ever before.

THE MOON
Dear Con Folks:—
During the vacation I received many thoughts of thanks for Moonbeams cast in just exactly the right places. You remember—I promised you'd help.

A few alumnas have come into view. Dorothy McClelland is playing stock in Erie, Pa., and Evelyn Bozeman is teaching dramatics and English in Onichita College, Arcadelphia, Arkansas. Please, don't ask if those words are correctly spelled.

Last Thursday the Phi Mus gave Mr. Dykema a rather hectic day. Miss Mary Allen, a junior in the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, attended Mr. Dykema's lecture in order to report it for a class at Eastman. "Top" Toplansky and Nick D'Nardo have decided to transfer to Rochester.

Just now, I've heard a rumor of a Delta Phi "Bacon Bat". It's a shame I won't be able to go, but maybe by the time this paper is out you'll know all about it any way.

Before vacation Frank Gallagher was studying the technic of proposing. Mr. Brown says that "All knowledge must be applied or it is of no value".

Bob deLany has been chosen to conduct visitors through the school. Bob and Mr. Smith have proven themselves worthy of the position.

If you want any information on court procedures, ask Miss Howland. She has decided to take up law.

Marie Ripley '27 was in Ithaca a few hours last week. The next time "Rips" come around she should tell folks.

Some of the dramatic students have been doing some social service work down in the Bowery. Pat Peters says she had a hard time keeping away from the "Gallopin' Dandruff".

Mrs. Moon is calling. We're going to titote.

Sincerely,
The Man in the Moon

SENIOR GIRLS ATTENTION!

Mrs. Spencer will talk to the Senior girls each Tuesday evening at her apartment, 90 E. Buffalo, from 7:45 to 7:55 on the following topics:

April 12—"Hot Shots for Senior Girls".
April 17—"The Business of Being a Teacher".
April 24—"The Business of Love and Marriage".
May 1—"The Business of Being a Business Woman".
May 8—"The Business of Being a Spinster".
May 15—"Per Request".

These are to be plain talks on the subject which concerns every girl. Except for the talk on May 8 Mrs. Spencer has had experience in each subject. On this date she will speak according to her observation of Spinsters.
PHILOSOPHY

A Lover has left you,—
   Why should you weep?
He has bereft you
   Of nothing you’d keep.

You held a wild bird
   For the space of a song,
And the sweetness you heard
   You may cherish long.

But four winds bear him,
   And he lives winging,—
She who would snare him,
   Hears no singing.

HONOR SOCIETY

A representative faculty committee of six, with Mrs. Spencer as Chairman, has worked out a plan for a Senior Honor Society. The Society is to be composed of the three people from each of the five schools doing academic work who stand highest in scholarship and personality.

Sometimes this week the Dean of each school is to give a list of the ten highest in his department. From these ten the three representatives are to be chosen. These charter members will choose a name for the Society and will make the constitution. Then they shall choose from next year's seniors the fifteen highest and before the end of the year initiate them into the society.

BACH PROGRAM

The B Minor Mass which was featured so successfully last year by the Festival Choir of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, is to be repeated and enlarged upon at the rendition this year. The choir will be assisted by various well known soloists, both vocal and instrumental. The program will be an introduction to the newly renovated church building, and everybody has been invited to one of the best programs ever given.

The program is given under the direction of Bert Rogers Lyon who is assisted by Mrs. D. G. Stout, organist. The program to be given April 22 is as follows:

Organ:
- Sine Ami's Fugue - Mrs. Stout

Choruses from three Cantatas:
- O Christ my All,
- Heart and Mouth and Deed.
- Sleepers Wake!

Cello Solo:
- Aroiso - Dr. Riegger

Andante from the Concerto in D Minor for two violins - Hazel Woodard and Frank Gallagher

Vocal Solo:
- O Praise the Lord - Mary Aldrich

From B Minor Mass -
- Chorus Qui tollis.
- Alto Solo Qui sedes.
- Chorus Cruxifixus and Resurrexit.
- Alto Solo Agnus Dei.
- Chorus Sanctus.

"THREE LIVE GHOSTS" TO BE PRESENTED TOMORROW AND SATURDAY

Something decidedly unusual in the Comedy line, will be presented here tomorrow and Saturday with the Williams School production, "Three Live Ghosts". The scene is laid in London in the summer of 1917 and the whole atmosphere including the infectious "cockney" dialect, makes the play entirely different from anything that has been given here for several seasons.

It is interesting to know that Don Foxe is playing "Jimmie Gibbons", the same role which he played last summer in a Professional Stock Company, "Old Sweetheart", a riotous comedy character, will be done by Virginia Kuschke. Others in the cast are Kathryne Rothermel, Ralph Rider, Ray Hall, Elsie Waters, Bob deLany, Everett Griffith, Esther Covert, and Marshall Whitehead.

A special student rate of twenty-five cents will be given for the Saturday matinee.

MU PHI EPSILON

Well, folks, it's been a long time since Mu Phi has broadcasted any news so we thought it might be a good idea to "come across" this some this week. But to tell the truth, there isn't anything new to tell except that we all rejoiced with Alice Marsh on Sunday when she had a birthday and got a box of "candy". And we just have to tell you that four of our Seniors have "jobs". You might think that this is unnecessary news but if you were rather are "out" for a job you will understand. Ida Mae Coates is to be teaching Music in Wilkinsburg, Penna. and her roommate Olive Billbime will be located in Sherrill, N. Y. Winifred Bagley will be the new Music Supervisor at Beaconville Manor, N. Y. (is that a high hat name). Norma Covert has a position in the schools of Weirton, West Virginia. And How. At any rate that is near Wheeling and Cameron. Too bad Deedie U. is so far away. We were glad indeed to see Miss Stanton for a while last Sunday. "Stanly" is teaching the "Do, Re, Mi" of the Violin to the tiny tots of Corning. The type writer is misbehaving so the writer must sign off at present or she will say for the present. But I just happened to think that we do have some more news. On Sunday next at five o'clock Lambda will hold another of her monthly musicals at which time various members of the initiates will perform to the best of their ability (We hope). And Mrs. Spencer will in all probability hold her Tuesday evening lectures at the Mu Phi House in the future. The girls at 307 N. Tioga Street wish to extend a hearty welcome to all the Senior Girls who attend these lectures. We know that they are going to be worthwhile. They are to be held at the Mu Phi House because of the convenience this affords. Let all turn out and let they say in Texas "Give this lady a hoot."

SINFONIA SILHOUETTES

Herein abode tidings of great import. It was just a week ago that our most esteemed National President paid us a visit. Escorted from the train in the dim early hours of the morning, he encountered the brothers of the House on the Gorge and partook of his morning repast in their company at the Victoria Hotel. Thereafter, he was entertained by Brother Albert Edmund Brown and President Schlabach with his committee.

Late that afternoon President Dykema was audience to a short musical put on by the brothers of the House. The Sinfonia orchestra, Brother Lamb, Brother Bek, and Brother Gelder, were the performers in this program.

Brother Craig McHenry was the boss of affairs for the day and we hereby wish to extend the heartiest thanks and appreciation to Sinfonia for his able and competent services.

INTERESTING ITEMS
TOM SAWYER

Here is an item that will interest some of the boys, and some of their dads, also, who remember the thrilling Tom Sawyer tales, by Mark Twain:

Spokane, Wash., March 6, 1928. (AP)—Tom Sawyer, the boy of Mark Twain's stories of life on the Mississippi, is dead.

The passing of the man who inspired Twain to create his famous literary character was revealed here yesterday by Mrs. Flavilla Pinero, of Coeur D'Alene, Idaho. Mrs. Pinero disclosed that the man was her brother, Thomas Sawyer, who died Feb. 7, at Tucson, Arizona.

Mrs. Pinero said her brother's boyhood was spent on the shores of the Mississippi and that Twain first saw him aboard a steamboat. He grew to manhood while working on the river and finally turned to the sea for adventure and livelihood.

POSITIONS FOR P. S. M. STUDENTS

Miss Ida Mae Coates has been elected supervisor of music in Wilkinsburg, Pa.
Miss Winnifred Bagley has a position at Briarcliff, N. Y.
Fay Swift has been elected supervisor of music for the city of Ilium, N. Y.
Mary Mason, who has been finishing her work for the Degree of Bachelor of Music this year, has been elected supervisor of music at Groton, N. Y.
Miss Kathryn Hill is to be supervisor of music at Mineola beginning next September.
Miss Doris Wilhelm has been elected supervisor of music at Waynesburg, Pa.
Norma Covert has a position in Weirton, West Virginia.

The Placement Service of the Ilium Institution of Public School Music reports that probably all the graduates of the School this year will be placed in positions before September.

WILLIAMS HALL EVENTS

Wednesday noon our dining hall rang with "congratulations to you—congratulations to you! Congratulations, dear Dorothy! Congratulations to you. For Dorothy Richardson returned from her vacation with a very beautiful diamond. We all wish Dorothy every happiness and all the good things of life for the future. Vacation didn't effect the rest of us that way, but we all had wonderful times. We were very proud of our Pat when she read from W. H. A. M. the broadcasting station at Rochester, and not so proud of Mary and Pete who succeeded in getting into automobile accidents. Pete left behind a smashed car and Mary a broken telephone pole.

Margaret and Evelyn entertained Mary Gertrude Smith at their homes over vacation and Margaret gave a dinner party in her honor, to which Jerry was allowed to come if she'd be good. She did and was.

Although we had a wonderful time at home it seemed good to get back, and some of us including Barbara were struck speechless at the sight of our roomies, friends and gangsters.

A SATISFACTORY CLASS SCHEDULE FOR NEXT YEAR

Suppose a student enters Cornell, Yale, Harvard or any of the other larger schools and signs up for a certain course, and finds upon starting his work that due to a conflict of classes that he must drop a subject that is required that year.—Impossible! Yes, at these schools, but it happened in our Alma Mater, and do we not want to rank with the larger schools in this and other respects of which we are capable?

There is more than one student who failed to take a required subject this year because his classes conflicted, and he was unable to have them satisfactorily changed. This condition is rather annoying to the student and there is no reason for it being thus. When a school offers a course it should arrange a schedule whereby the student could take the subjects required.

Though the majority of the students are taking their required subjects they had quite a little difficulty the first week or two of each term having their schedule arranged and rearranged. Teachers, and students, let us see to it that we have a satisfactory schedule next year.

Martin.

PROPER MANNERS AT THE TABLE

People are all judged by their manners and ways of living.

Since my subject deals with Etiquette at the table, I shall start immediately into this day subject. The approach to the dining room should be a very solemn affair and one should follow—the proper distance apart. No laughing or smiling should be seen on the faces of the hungry. No talking should be on the lips of anyone entering to the festive board. Everything should be done mechanically in a superlative degree. After everyone has gathered around their respective tables, and then has been said, everyone may be seated at their respective tables. Then no one should forget to place his napkin at the proper place, i. e. on the lap and not around the neck. People may look at each other but must not even venture to smile or the consequences will be astounding. Talking from one table to the other is entirely out of the question. And for goodness sake—never on this wide, wide world place your elbows on the table. Do not allow the unfortunate elbow to be seen above the table. It is such a disgrace to all "personalities". The proper position at the table is to have the feet on the floor, and the hands calmly placed on the knees when not eating. Everyone is expected to be as quiet as a mouse while in the dining room. Just follow your elders and you will never go wrong. Take these few pointers and absorb them and your "personalities" will be guaranteed.
