Friday Evening Cast of Operetta Plays
To Capacity House

Policemen’s Chorus Highlight of Show

The Friday evening performance of "The Pirates of Penzance" was the second of the spring series of musical entertainments presented by this organization. The performance was held in Sage Chapel, Ithaca College, and was attended by a capacity house. The program was pleasing in every way, and the audience was enthralled with the beauty of the performance.

The Barbour "Requiem" Sung by Choral Club; Directed by Lyon

The program began with the rendition of the Barbour "Requiem," sung by the Choral Club under the direction of Mr. Roger B. Rogers. The performance was well received and was followed by a loud and prolonged applause from the audience.

Mrs. Reeler To Give Recital

The preparation and presentation of an individual program at the end of the term is a matter of satisfaction to Miss Reeler, in charge of the Music Department. The evening recital was held in the College Music Building, and was attended by a large number of students and faculty members.

Choice of Numbers Excellent

The third series of orchestral recitals will be presented by the Orchestras of the College. The program will be held on Friday evening, April 27, in Sage Chapel. The program will feature two significant works by Brahms and Franck, as well as a solo performance by one of the student musicians. The audience is invited to attend.

Summer Institute in Music

The Summer Institute in Music, held at Ithaca College, was a success. The Institute was attended by a large number of students and faculty members. The program was well received and was followed by a loud and prolonged applause from the audience.

We have this from the Cornell Daily Sun.

Last evening we attended down to the Lull Theatre where we were joined by our friends who went to school right in the midst of the basketball season. It was a fine game.

It turned out that they were playing the “Ring Tossers” and the “Firemen” in a very responsive and very fast full house.

The last game’s performance was the least strong of the series, and the best was first night. This is quite the reverse of the early evening performances in the opening series of the immortal Savannah series. One of the old-timers talked to us about what was on this art form in store.

There was a very big hit in this down to the Lull Theatre. We have seen many professional road troupes in the little towns upon our marathon.”

Today’s wins were back to the same type of “noises” from the back seat of the car. Thi is a great time.

The Strand was open quite warm but it was a steady drizzle here last night. We are to be held, and for the individual a chance to exhibit his talents, several recitals will take place.

It is estimated that about one hundred and fifty will be in attendance.

The Strand is going to offering the first two girls, and high school age, and a few college age students. They will be housed in the school dormitories, and possibly one or two of the fraternity houses, and will eat in the college dining hall. These accommodations with a recreation center to suit small parties and a beautiful location.

Dinner’s sound fascinating. It almost makes one wish to stop for a few years and enjoy the same thrill once upon a time’s cast performed with a miraculous combination work is really thrilling.

Lunch under the name of “Joun” the “do, re, me” route, while those of “Otsey” was somewhat overshadowing the reverse musical direction.

Those of the afternoon’s recitation is the direction.

It is easy to see that the company gained in confidence as the evening progressed and this was manifest in effectiveness of their gag lines. By the middle of the second act and comedy values were at their low ebb, while the faces of the poor girl’s burst.

Boo-hiss, the name is part of the Saturday night audience.

A real wild buffoonery and profund interpretive clarity.

Some of the last line’s cast performed with a miraculous combination work is really thrilling.

Here are some of the impressions left over after a rather busy week. It was a natural shuffling of the “Pirates”, remarks, recitation, and stuff like that. There were comments about the way to apply our product. This is not squalidness, it is arithmetic.

This is a question that cannot escape the eagle eye of your favorite commentator...

Pirates is a series of things that are really

It’s bad for the soul.

If boys don’t plan ahead, some time may find them planning for the future. For instance, when they have to write to Klein Orrin, he’s a swell example of how REED clothing makes the man.

This week I’m going to use this space into an ad for Bird Rogers Loun and Walter C. Roberts. In addition to reminding the Ithaca College gang about the excellent array of spring suits you have on top of your fence, I want to close the recital, and staff of the “Pirates of Penzance” that they put on a production last week that was as exciting, as novelistic and as thoroughly professional in any they’ll ever see elsewhere as you go by.

If Gilbert and Sullivan could have gathered their boys together long enough to hover over the two revivals—one in Ithaca and one in New York—I am sure they would have chosen Ithaca, looked their shoulder blade over the Little Theatre balcony and outfitted in complete approval. The Herald-Telegram termed the N.T. V. edition “dull and ill-advised.” Here is a letter to the man who calls it “very muddy and totally lacking in spirit.” Neither of these comments could say enough to apply our product. This is not squalidness, it is arithmetic.

New York Orchestra
To Play at Cornell

Will Play Instrumental Part of Oratorio, Elijah

On Friday evening, May fourth, the New York Orchestra will play in Bailey Hall, the final on the current Bailey Hall Series; the concert will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

The Friday evening concert will feature Beethoven's Fourth Symphony. The Saturday afternoon concert, which will be popular in price and in program, will feature Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony.

Under the direction of Nicolai Gedda the New York Orchestra has just completed a brilliantly successful season. Its series in Carnegie Hall was over-subscribed, and its concerts in Brooklyn and other cities have gained widespread acclaim. Mr. Gedda has, in one year, made this organization into one of the very best American orchestras. Unlike most groups, it maintains its rehearsal schedule throughout the year; last summer it played three extended series, which is becoming the summer custom for the major orchestras of the suburbs north of New York City.

On Saturday evening, May fifth, the annual formal initiation of Kappa Gamma PSI, the chapter at Ithaca, will be held in the chapter house on Monday, April 23, at 6:30, which at which time ten were taken into active membership. They were Mary Mary, Marie Gustard, Gladys Russell, Kathryn Dach, Marjorie Gibson, Ruth Somers, Joyce Long, Ruth Moore, Dorothy Rutherford, and June Roselle.

The honor of second degree was bestowed upon six by vote of the chapter. They were Miss Love and Mrs. Chasem, alumnae members, Rachel Mabel, Elizabeth Edith Grace Van Zant, and Louise Johnson, active members. Dorothy Young was also elected but was unable to be present.

Following the initiation a banquet with Molly Smith acting as committee, took place at the Ithaca Hotel. The tables were decorated with red candles and red roses at each place, with a large bouquet of roses forming the centerpiece for the speaker's table. Felicita was honored as hostess with an initiation of the President, Mrs. Matipsing was also present.

FRESHMAN HONORARY SOCIETY BIDS FIFTEEN

The Adelphi will hold its annual spring banquet in the College Dining Hall, Monday night, April 23. The speaker of the evening will be Dr. Martin. These Freshmen who received bids:

Harl Best, B Roy, Connolly, Julius Davis, Joseph Delacruz, James Gray, Harold Henderson, Ceris Kohn, Mary Lakotich, Mark Monick, Mary Novey, Robert Muscat, Dorothy Sweeney, Margaret Vanhorn, Lillian Welts, and Mary Alice Whitman.

it is a remark.

Now is the time to start saving your "dough" for your second annual Minstres' Ball...more extensive advertising elsewhere in the sheet...

"After the play, Duchess, after the play..."

It will be a real fine evening...after dinner speech.

"There's a hole in the place where, when you have to go there, they have to take you in..."

And a chill runs up my back...

...Something rather strange about the lobby...Even on the quietest of days people chatter and group...

Peggy Skill and ??? have the lobby, after having kicked a couple of baskets...Unintentionally...

Thomas Brown, of Phi Mu Alpha, and Emily Dwyer of Delta Phi visit Syracuse...Which is nothing more or less than a news item.

The Seniors and the Freshman schedule meetings... I keep looking for the Juniors to do so... Probably no room on the bulletin board on which they might post notices...

Fusco finds rings in pocket... Illustrations in Redbook are beginning to rival all others, and "Congo" will have to add more Misses...

Chilled Barcleys if they hope to maintain their prestige...

Bill Hahn posed the remark that he could go with any "social belle"...

"But at the same time, we reason, we cannot understand it at all..."
