The Ninth annual Little Theatre Tournament, which began in 1928, has grown in prominence during the great depression period. This year’s event was held in the basement of the music building.

The contest, which was open to all students, included both acting and directing categories. The acting categories were divided into three groups: amateur, intermediate, and professional. The directing categories were divided into two groups: amateur and professional.

In the amateur category, the winning schools were

- Amherst College
- Bowdoin College
- Colby College
- Connecticut College
- Hamilton College
- Middlebury College
- Oberlin College
- Smith College
- Vassar College
- Wellesley College

In the intermediate category, the winning schools were

- Bates College
- Brown University
- Carleton College
- Davidson College
- Dartmouth College
- Grinnell College
- Lehigh University
- St. Lawrence University

In the professional category, the winning schools were

- Fordham University
- Georgetown University
- Indiana University
- Northwestern University
- Ohio State University
- Princeton University
- Rutgers University
- Stanford University
- University of California
- University of Michigan

The closing ceremony, which took place on Saturday evening, included a performance by the winning schools. The audience was thrilled by the talent and creativity of the participants. The event was a resounding success, and the Little Theatre Tournament is sure to continue growing in popularity in the coming years.

THE ITHACAN—WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1932

THE ITHACAN

Official Publication of the Students of Ithaca College

Telephone 2000

E-mail: pona, 22; Editor-in-Chief: William Bailey 22; Business Manager

Printed by the Perpetual Printing Co.

THE ITHACAN, in behalf of the student body and faculty of Ithaca College, wishes you much happiness in your endeavors as well as an abundance of pleasure in work, health and recreation.

A HEARTY TRIBUTE

BY GRADUATION, THE ITHACAN is deprived of six members of its staff. Omitting the customary expressions of regret, we, the undergraduate staff members, wish to declare editorially that it has been a pleasure to work with and for you, and that we will long cherish the memories brought about by our associations.

To Clarke Maynard, editor-in-chief

HARLEY DEERHAM, assistant managing editor

Dorothy Stahle, assistant managing editor

Richard Kain, business manager

HELEN McGIVNEY, associate editor

CHARLES DAVIS, circulation manager

We wish Godspeed, much success in new undertakings, and many happy returns from the upstart efforts expended in the name of THE ITHACAN.

THE ITHACAN STAFF

A AS A RESULT OF competitive tests conducted by THE ITHACAN, a group of students has been appointed from a large number of candidates to serve on the staff of this publication for the coming year. The editor wishes to emphasize that at least four official calls for ITHACAN candidates were printed, and that all students were eligible to compete. With the exception of these reappointments, all members represent new material.

To replace the old order which made its exit three weeks ago, the following people have been appointed by the Governing Board of THE ITHACAN to the 1932-33 staff:

MARY ELA BOWE

DAVID GOOD

RUTH BYNE

RACHEL LUCIA

PHILLIP WARD

A STRONG ALUMNI CLUB—LOYALTY

During the coming week, the Seniors of ITHACA COLLEGE will have an opportunity to re-establish their connections with their Alma Mater. We cannot stress strongly enough the significance of this meeting in itself, and the significance which this embryonic organization will have for our institutions. It rests with each Senior, whether or not ITHACA COLLEGE will have a lasting Alumni Club.

In your four years at college, if you have derived a thorough knowledge of the courses you have taken, you should have a dominant tendency to be loyal to your Alma Mater because she has at least provided you with what you have paid for; if you have been lack in your studies and your gains have been mostly social, you should be loyal to her for she has been the cause of an extended vacation; if you have benefitted neither educationally nor socially, you should be loyal to her because she has permitted you to exist as a college student during four long years of dormancy. Whichever way you wish to view the matter, there are sufficient grounds for loyalty to your Alma Mater.

To start off as a good alumnus, you should make an attempt to keep in touch with the developments in and activities at ITHACA COLLEGE. This can best be done by subscribing to THE ITHACAN, your college weekly.

ITHACA COLLEGE has afforded you a rosoro to get a start in life. Be grateful for this. Think and speak well of your Alma Mater; be a staunch and loyal alumnus. Each of you is a product of this institution; therefore, you are the most helpful to the medium the college can perceive.

Hurry, scurry, hither and yon! Slam! Bang! and a few exclama­tions. This, our friends, is only a mild statement of conditions in the house this week. If someone hasn't just arrived, some one is leaving or getting ready for a dance or date. Those who arrived for the week­end were Margaret Jacobs, Mary Jean Mastic, Jolanda Questa and Harriet Sullivan, those who decided to spend the summer vacation were Mary Hunsinger and Grace Van Zant.

We were very sorry to hear of the death of Christine Blite's grandmother last Wednesday. It is with regret that we announce that Christine was called to her home in Ashland, Pa., and remained over the week-end. Epsilon chapter wishes to extend its sympathy to her family.

Our house has had to expand this week to two more girls under its roof. Mary Grace Lawrence of West Monroe, La., has come to stay for summer school, and Pauline Craig has decided to come and play with us till the end of the term.

Betty Eddy entertained friends from her home in Pittsfield, Mass., over the week-end.

Tuesday afternoon of this week we were giving a farewell tea with six sisters of the Westminster Choir School as guests of honor.

Last week Barbara Goldthwait played with Mrs. Dorothy Little and Alma Wilson at a banquet given by the Associated Gas and Electric Company at the Ithaca Hotel. She also played with Mrs. Little and Rosalind Corbett at the I.O.F. hall at a banquet given by the Rebecca lodge in honor of our national president.

Wednesday evening of this week we presented a musical in which all the selections were original compositions or transcriptions by Arthur Hartmann, violinist. The program was as follows: I. Violin solo, Peace—F. H. Hartmann, by Dorothy Wood; II. Piano solo, Overture—Hartman, by Jennie Simpson; III. Violin solo, To a Wild Rose—Modestowsky, by Elizabeth Eddy; IV. Vocal solo, Baby Tears and Cherry Ripe, by Kathryn Stickles; V. Violin solo, Romance in E Flat—Rubinstein, by Hilda Smith; VI. Piano solo, Suite—Hartman, by Edith Hendricks; VII. Quartette, By a Wild Rose—Composed by Muriel Maynard, a member of Ithaca, judged the guild's declamations in the tournament.

It is with regret that we announce the end of another school year, the last in college for many. Those who are about to venture forth into the hard world in search of fame and fortune. With them go our most sincere wishes for success.

Pledge season is about over. Last Tuesday evening candidate Ruth Perry, Humphrey, Pugh, Murray and Ramin were given formal pledge. Final initiation is expected to take place sometime this coming week-end. Tuesday evening also marked the finale of house elections. Thus year "Don" Hubbard is our new presi­dent. "Johnny" Kapske, first vice-president; "Joe" Weatherhead, second vice-president; Walter Bernard Windus, treasurer; "Molly" Maynard, secretary. The closing event of the reunion took place at the Ithaca Hotel Sunday night when a formal banquet was held and a musical recital given by the active members of the fraternity.

BOGTORF GIVES LECTURE ON CHAMBER MUSIC

On Wednesday evening, May 18, in room D of the Music Edu­cation Building, a most interesting and authoritative lecture on chamber music was given by Mr. Bog­torf, head of the violin department. The growth of chamber music, especially the string quartet, was traced from its very beginnings to the great modern organizations and writers. Mr. Bogtorf also illustrated his remarks from time to time by playing recordings of excerpts from several great quartets.

GIANNINI GIVES MESSAGE AS SHE SLEWS (Reprinted from N.Y. Times)

Singers in particular and musi­cians in general will be interested in the parting words of Giannini as she sailed for a holi­day in Europe. Not being members of a union, musical artists are com­pelled to accept fees lower than those of a few years ago or else re­main silent and songless. Miss Gi­annini, being asked her opinion of the melancholy situation, advised the home-loving artist who adopts a rank slightly lower than the greatest. The latter, as she pointed out, al­ways have a market. One reason, she thinks, for the lowering of prices is an increase in the number of good performers far out of pro­portion to the musical development of the public.

The hundreds of cities and small towns all over the country where "Dad" Giannini concert courses are in prepara­tion for next season should alter circumstances. Miss Giannini is shrewd enough to note that many artists subscribe until merely in order to be "the thing to do," be it a firm believer in education that those who no longer have the faintest interest in learning to like good music.
