i3º

i3º (pronounced "thirteen degrees") is passionate about social music; playing music in schools, retirement communities, concert halls, festivals, prisons, hospitals, parks, homes, bars, community centers; wherever music is needed. The members of the trio believe that music elevates the human condition, that access to music is a basic human need (like clear water & shelter), that the act of attending to music ignites the empathy processes in the brain, which in turn releases oxytocin, building intimacy, and leading us all to compassion, morality, and love.
