Part II

Sitar and tabla recital. Raga Bhimpalas (afternoon melody) & Tin Tala (rhythmic cycle in 16 beats).

A raga has a unique sound, is a melodic structure and must evoke a particular emotion or ‘mood’ which can be hard to define. Raga refers to ‘color’ and is an open ended concept where each raga or melody is associated with a specific emotional state, god or goddess, season or time of the day or year.

The New Roots Steel Band formed in January 2015 after a gracious donation of instruments from McNiel's Music in Ithaca, NY to the New Roots Charter School Music Department. In just under two years the ensemble has taken root and performs for at school and community events throughout Ithaca including the Ithaca festival parade where we mount the ensemble on a flatbed and roll down the street in true Trinidadian fashion. Students can join the ensemble with no prior musical experience and will learn about performance, literacy, arranging, and the steel band tradition. As we enter into our second full year we look forward to more performances, new arrangements, and honing our skills as pan-men and pan-women. We are honored to share a bit of carnival with you today and hope you feel the urge to jump up! David Ferreira, Director

Dane Richeson is Professor of Music at Lawrence University Conservatory of Music in Appleton, Wisconsin, where he has been Director of Percussion Studies since 1984. He is recognized as one of the most versatile performers in the percussive arts. Throughout the world he has been featured in such diverse roles as solo marimbist, contemporary chamber music percussionist, world percussion specialist and jazz drummer. Performances have been with such diverse artists as Bobby McFerrin, Gordon Stout, Nancy Zeltsman, Gunther schuller, Geoffrey Keezer, Joe Lovano, NDR Big Band of Germany, Roscoe Mitchell, Medeski-Martin-Woods, Kenny Wheeler, Danilo Perez, and Lyle Mays. He has performed numerous times with a variety of contemporary chamber ensembles and has been a featured marimba artist/teacher at several of the Zeltsman Marimba Festivals, the Ivana Bili Marimba/Percussion Week in Croatia, and the Central Conservatory Chamber Music Festival in Beijing. Moreover, he has performed at festival such as Ravinia, North Sea and Montreux Jazz Festivals, and Beijing Music Festival. In addition, Dane has lived and studied music traditions in Ghana, Brazil, and Cuba.

Hindustani music (North Indian classical) concert, Ithaca College

Abhik Mukherjee is a Kolkata-born sitar player of the Etawah gharana. He was initiated to sitar at the age of six by his father and has since taken talim (training) from Pandit Arvind Parikh and Pandit Kashinath Mukherjee, themselves disciples of the legendary Ustad Vilayat Khan. Abhik's first public performance was at the age of nine at the Governor's House, Kolkata. He has since performed in nine countries on four continents. Some memorable concerts include performances for the inauguration of the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. memorial (Washington D.C.); at the Indian Habitat Center (Delhi); on Doordarshan(tv) (Kolkata); and a summer tour of Italy, Germany, and Switzerland. Abhik is a gold-medalist from Rabindra Bharti University in Kolkata, where he received a master's in musicology.

Dibyarka Chatterjee is the son and disciple of Pandit Samir Chatterjee, who himself is a representative of the Farrukhabad Gharana (or style) of Tabla playing. He has had the privilege of growing up within the traditional pedagogy of Indian classical music, and of performing with some of its greatest maestros like Pandit Jasraj & Ustad Shujaat Khan. He lives and teaches in the NY/NJ area.

The Howlin Brothers are an American string band combining southern appalachia, ole-time, dixieland, delta blues, and country into a mash up of rhythm and blues meets the saturday night hoedown. The howlins have performed all over the world and have been featured on several television and radio broadcasts. PBS has featured the howlin brothers live from sun studios session out of memphis for the last two years. A new series from PBS called the lost river sessions is set to air in kentucky, ohio, and the virginias soon featuring the howlins. Just having returned from a tour of Europe the brothers will go back twice more in 2017 to headline a three week run in Germany as well as some festivals in the Netherlands. The howlin brothers are unique in the sense that they create a sonic wealth of sound, from gritty sand drenched danceboards to slide banjo down to the thundering low slap bass. All three members come from different musical backgrounds Jared Green and Ian Craft trained in classical music at Ithaca college under Gordon Stout, Steve Brown, and Pablo Cohen. While 3rd generation bass player JT Huskey grew up with his dad Roy Huskey (of emmyou harris,John Hartford, Benny Martin, cowboy Jack Clement, Nitty gritty dirt band, Billy Ray Cyrus, Shania Twain...etc etc) one of the top session players in Nashville for decades. John Hartford was JTs babysitter from time to time. The music is in his blood. All three mix their unique take on roots music creating a force of groove. The howlin brothers will take you on a musical safari relax and enjoy!!! Staying busy touring the united states and Europe the brothers continue to record write and perform with passion. Your sure to have a real big time.

West African Drumming and Dance Ensemble directed by Dr. Baruch J. Whitehead, is open to all registered students at Ithaca College and is comprised of three performance components - drumming, singing, and dance. Students have the opportunity to explore first-hand the exciting traditions of West African music by investigating specific musical types, styles and traditions on authentic African musical instruments. Social functions and analytical study of dance movements in ritual, ceremonial, religious, and recreational contexts are also investigated. The ensemble meets once a week for two hours in the Whalen School of Music.
Valerie Naranjo has been the Percussionist in the Saturday Night Live Band for 21 years, and in the pit orchestra of Broadway's "The Lion King" for nearly as long. She toured with the late gyil Maestro Kakraba Lobi for seven years. She and Barry Olsen were honored, in 1996, with the only First Place Award at the Kobine Festival ever given to non-West African performers. RG productions’ film “Knock on Wood” documents this activity, and has appeared internationally. Valerie has performed with such artists as Carole King, Selena, Airto Moriera, Glen Velez, David Byrne, Zakir Hussein, The Philip Glass Ensemble, and The Paul Winter Consort. Drum! magazine reader's poll named Valerie "World Music Percussionist of the Year" 2005 and 2008, and "Mallet Player of the Year" 2012. She teaches West African Percussion at NYU, and has performed and taught solo gyil and other West African music internationally, including nine African countries, and in such situations and locations as ten PASIC conventions; The 2010 Winter Olympics in Vancouver; New York's Lincoln Center, City Center, and Carnegie Hall; London's Royal Festival Hall; The Johannesburg Civic Theatre; and The Grahamstown and Arts Alive Festivals (South Africa). Valerie is a NEA fellow, and holds a BA in vocal and instrumental music education from The University of Oklahoma, and a Master's degree in percussion performance from Ithaca College. In 1999 Valerie founded the company Mandara Music and has thereby published several CDs, The series "West African Music for the Marimba Soloist", and "Joro" a collection of concerti for gyil and orchestra.

Barry Olsen was born in New York City and has recorded and performed with most of the major artists in Latin music, including Ray Barretto, Eddie Palmieri, Hector Lavoe, Tito Puente, Celia Cruz, Marc Anthony, and La India. He has also performed on trombone, piano, and percussion with Paul Simon, David Byrne, The Paul Winter Consort, Charlie Persip and many others, including collaborations with African band leader the late Zim Ngqawana. Barry is featured, on piano, on five recordings with the Latin-Jazz group Syotos. He plays marimba and percussion in "The Lion King Orchestra," and recently performed on trombone and keyboards with the Broadway and international touring show "Fela!" Since 1988 he has played the drums kuar and gangaa, which accompany the gyil. Since performing in Ghana in 1996, he has recorded these instruments with Bernard Woma and Kakraba Lobi, and on Valerie's recording "Lewaa's Dream. He has recorded three CDs as a leader, two with his piano trio and one with the group Mandara.

Yamatai is Cornell's one and only taiko drumming group, dedicated to spreading the art and joy of taiiko.
