Biography

Kin Szeto

Pursuing a strong interest in classical orchestral music, Kin Szeto began his conducting training at The Hong Kong Academy for Performing Arts as a student of Perry So, the First Prize winner of The Fifth International Prokofiev Conducting Competition and former Associate Conductor of The Hong Kong Philharmonic Orchestra. Szeto's conducting mentors include maestros Donald Schleicher, Markand Thakar, Kirk Trevor and Tomas Netopil. In his early career, he has trained with Ho Man Chuen, a renowned conductor and pedagogue in Hong Kong.

In 2013, Szeto founded The Hong Kong University Students' Union Chinese Orchestra and has held the position of Founding Conductor until 2016. He has also served as the Conductor Assistant of the Diocesan Boys' School Chinese Orchestra. During his tenure, he has coached the orchestra through many performances and successfully won numerous awards, including 1st prize (Chinese orchestra category) in the Hong Kong Music Festival, "Golden Band" as well as the "Grand Prix" (overall champion) in the 6th Bratislava International Youth Music Festival.

Born in Hong Kong, Szeto graduated from The Hong Kong Academy for Performing Arts with a Bachelor's degree, double major in Erhu and Gaohu. His teachers include maestro Wong On Yuen and professor Yu Qi Wei. Drawing upon his experience with Chinese music, Szeto pursues a distinct and extraordinary conducting style.

As a recipient of the Hong Kong Scholarship for Excellence and the Ithaca College Graduate Assistantship, Szeto is now pursuing his Master degree in Music, majoring in orchestral conducting, at the Ithaca College under the mentorship of Professor Octavio Más-Arocas. Szeto is the co-director of the Ithaca College Sinfonietta and guest conductor of the Ithaca's Flute Ensemble. He is also a graduate assistant for the college orchestras and undergraduate conducting class. In addition, Szeto was awarded the title of "Hong Kong Scholars" and "Hong Kong Ambassador" by the Hong Kong government for his supreme performance in music.
