Conductor's biographies

Jennifer Haywood serves as Associate Professor of Music Education at Ithaca College teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in music education and conducting and conducting the Ithaca College Campus Choral Ensemble and the Ithaca College/Longview Intergenerational Choir. Dr. Haywood holds Bachelor's and Master's degrees from Ithaca College and the PhD from the University of Toronto. Dr. Haywood began her teaching journey in the public schools and continues to mentor student teachers in the schools as the Ithaca College Junior Choral Student Teaching Program Coordinator. Dr. Haywood coordinates the Ithaca College Headstart Music Friends program mentoring graduate, undergraduate, and pre-K children together in music. In addition, she conducts high school students in the Young Men's Chorus of Ithaca and upper elementary and middle school students in the Choraliars of the Ithaca Children's Choir.

Dr. Haywood is active as conductor/choral clinician at county, state, regional, and international music presentations. In 2008 she presented research on Intergenerational Choirs at the International Society of Music Education in Bologna, Italy, and in 2009 her research on empowering musicians was released in book form: "Implications for Creating Inclusive Environments, Including Individuals with Special Needs."

Jennifer Sengin is a second year graduate student in the Master of Choral Conducting program at Ithaca College. At Ithaca, Jennifer assists with the Choir, Womens Chorale, and Chorus as well as the Campus Chorus. In addition, she directs the Senior Choir, one of the Ithaca Children's Choirs under the artistic direction of Dr. Janet Galván. This past October, Jennifer received first place in the NATS Finger Lakes Region Competition in the Advanced A Division. In March of 2009, Jennifer was a finalist in the ACDA National Student Conducting Competition in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. She has a Bachelor's degree in Music Education from The College of New Jersey.

Lee Wright completed a Bachelor of Music in Organ Performance with high distinction as well as the Sacred Music Diploma at the Eastman School of Music. Lee currently serves as Director of Music Ministry at Downtown United Presbyterian Church in Rochester, where he oversees a dynamic ministry, integrating programs for children and adults, as well as extensive arts offerings through Downtown Arts Link. He also maintains a private piano and organ studio and serves as conductor of the choral chamber ensemble Madrigalia. In 2008, Lee won first place in the National Association of Negro Musicians organ scholarship competition. In the fall of 2009, Lee began study towards the Master of Music in choral conducting at Ithaca College with Lawrence Doebler.
