Saturday Evening March 18, 2006
8:15 p.m. Ford Auditorium
Welcome

It is a great pleasure to welcome participants in the Gospel Invitational Festival to Ithaca College and the Finger Lakes region of New York State. We are delighted to host this festival in the beautiful Whalen Center for Music, a new facility which opened in 1999 as an addition to the original music building. The School of Music is home to nearly 500 music majors, with strong programs in music education and performance which maintain the conservatory tradition within a comprehensive college setting. We look forward to introducing you to the Whalen Center as well as the rest of our beautiful campus which will serve you well throughout the festival.

During the more than 30 years I have spent at Ithaca College as a faculty member and administrator, it has been my pleasure to be part of one of the outstanding music programs in the country. As you learn more about our program, I hope you will sense the special qualities of our school, which blends professional musical experience with strong academic programs in an attractive campus setting.

Ithaca's excellent music reputation is a direct result of its resident faculty members, who combine distinguished backgrounds as performers and scholars with a dedication to teaching.

The rich variety of performance opportunities at Ithaca also plays a key role in developing students' musical talents. Over 300 concerts and recitals are performed each year in Ford Auditorium and the Hockett Family Recital Hall, reflecting the vitality of an exceptional range of instrumental and choral ensembles as well as the skills of individual faculty and student musicians.

Best wishes for a fulfilling musical experience working with our guest faculty who will be conducting and performing and for a joyful concert Saturday evening.

Sincerely,

Dr. Arthur E. Ostrander, Dean
Ithaca College School of Music
Welcome to Ithaca College!

It is indeed a pleasure for Ithaca College to host such an important musical festival of gospel music. I regret that I cannot be here tonight in person due to a longstanding engagement. I am sure it will be a wonderful concert with over ten high schools from around the eastern seaboard and over 100 voices of talented students.

I extend a special welcome to our visiting student performers. I hope that you take an opportunity to look around our campus. We have five academic schools and two divisions within our College community and we are very proud of each one. The School of Music enjoys a national reputation for excellence in the arts and we invite you to audition during our regular audition dates and by special arrangements. Each year the School of Music auditions over 1,000 students for consideration for entry into the music education department or the performance studies division.

At Ithaca College you will find the perfect blend of liberal arts education and professional preparation. Our challenging academic programs promote critical thinking and hands-on learning, and our students work closely with experienced and accomplished faculty. Located in one of America’s top college towns, Ithaca College boasts a lively and sophisticated residential community that takes full advantage of its stunning backdrop—lake, waterfalls, and gorges—and a local community rich in culture and resources.

We are also very proud of our Martin Luther King Jr. Scholar Program, an interdisciplinary learning community that emphasizes citizenship and service in the global community. The program is open to academically talented students from ethnic or racial backgrounds that have been historically underrepresented in American higher education. The MLK scholars receive up to full tuition in aid, with a minimum merit-based scholarship of $17,000. If you rank in the top 10 percent of your high school, have a highly competitive SAT score, and strive to exhibit the legacy of Dr. King in the area of leadership, intellectual curiosity, and commitment to community service, you are eligible to be considered for the King Scholar program. I would also like to welcome the potential King scholars who are visiting the College this weekend.

I hope everyone enjoys this evening’s celebration of gospel music, and please accept our invitation to visit the campus often.

Sincerely,

Peggy Williams
President

Mr. Glenn Burleigh

Pianist-composer-conductor Glenn Edward Burleigh studied piano at the University of Oklahoma with Digby Bell and Lois Gauger, and at Oklahoma City University with Nancy Ragsdale. Additionally he has coached with James Mathis (former professor of piano at the University of Oklahoma and student of Rosina Lhevinne of the Juilliard School), pianist-composer-conductor Thomas Briccetti (former conductor of the Omaha Symphony), Dr. Joan Gilbert of the University of Memphis and composer George Walker, former professor of music at Rutgers University. He has served as principle accompanist and Assistant Music Director for Lyric Theater of Oklahoma, and accompanist for the School of Dance at the University of Oklahoma. Mr Burleigh has accompanied the Ebony Opera Guild of Houston, TX, and has studied accompanying with its late music director, Dr. Robert Henry. He also studied and performed the Saint Saens Piano Concerto No 2 in a Master Class with Pianist, Jaen Cassadesus, son of Robert and Gaby Cassadesus. In 1999 Glenn began private study of The History of Gospel Music with Dr. Horace Clarence Boyer, professor emeritus, University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

Skilled as a classical pianist and composer, Burleigh is equally as home in the classical arena. His facility at the keyboard attests to his excellent training and thorough understanding of the European style. He has performed works by Gershwin, Beethoven (Choral Fantasy) and his own Fantasy Dance Suite for Piano, Chorus and Orchestra with the Oklahoma City Philharmonic and The Ambassador’s Concert Choir. This concert was highlighted in Symphony Magazine (Sept/Oct, 1994). He has also appeared as guest pianist with the Omaha Symphony and the Racine Chamber Orchestra. In addition to solo works from the European tradition, Mr. Burleigh has developed a special interest in the piano works by African American composers including works by Black Women Composers. He has presented many of these works in recitals at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside, the University of Missouri, LeMoyne-Owen College and Bethune-Cookman College. His works, often a fusion of classical, gospel and jazz, have taken him to such prestigious stages as Lincoln Center’s Alice Tully Hall and the John F. Kennedy Center For The Performing Arts. Because of the “classical-gospel connection”, Glenn is often invited to the nation’s college campuses and conservatories to share his gifts with students from across the globe, including a lecture to the advanced composition classes at the Cincinnati Conservatory.

The Omaha Symphony Orchestra premiered his Ebony Psalmfest for orchestra in a trio of concerts featuring works of American composers Leonard Bernstein, Morton Gould, William Schuman, and Glenn Burleigh. Other major works of Burleigh include the Christmas cantata Born to Die, Opus 25 for chorus and orchestra; Alpha Mass for chorus and orchestra; Oklahoma Land for chorus and orchestra; Four Spirituals for bass/baritone and piano; the Easter cantata, Let God Arise; The Nguzo Saba Suite for piano, chorus and percussion (commissioned by the University of Wisconsin-Parkside Choral Department for the celebration of the African American holiday, Kwanzaa); and Lamentation and Celebration for chorus, brass choir, organ, piano and percussion (commissioned by Dr. Douglas Boyer and St. Andrews United Methodist Church with St Mary’s University of San Antonio, TX). This work was initially dedicated to the victims and survivors of the 1995 Oklahoma City Bombing, World Premiere April, 1996, but was recently rededicated to include the recent tragedy of September 11, 2001.

Burleigh’s music has found its way around the globe being performed on every continent in the world. Its scope has broadened from the church/school to the university/conservatory, to the classical concert stage and to the movie industry. Whitney Houston and the Georgia Mass Choir performed one of his pieces, Lay Aside Every Weight, in the Disney movie, “The Preacher’s Wife.”

In January 2000 Burleigh’s work, The Dreamer, commissioned by the Choral Arts Society of Washington, DC., was performed for the Martin Luther King Celebration at the John F. Kennedy Center For The performing Arts. It was the first new work performed in the Kennedy Center in the new millennium. The Dreamer was performed by a 400-voiced choir (including 100 children) and the Brass Choir and organist of the Washington National Symphony.

Mr. Burleigh is the founder of the Glenn Burleigh Music Workshop and Ministry, Inc. (1993), an organization that is dedicated to teaching and training of those in Christian Music Ministry, and to performing music at all academic levels focusing on the links between various musical styles.
Dr. Diane White

A native of Washington, DC, Diane was performing by age four and directing choirs by age nine; she was arranging and composing by eleven. During her high school years she wrote, directed, and choreographed musical dramas at the church where her father, Rev. Leamon W. White, pastored. Her youth was filled with much recognition for her academic and musical achievements.

In 1986, White graduated with honors from the Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri where she received a Bachelor of Arts degree in music with emphasis in composition, voice, and piano. Following graduation, while still in St. Louis, she was Assistant Director of African and African-American Studies at Washington University, and directed the university's Black Repertory Gospel Choir, a position she began her junior year. She was Musical Director and Vocal Arranger for the St. Louis Black Repertory Theatre Company, which premiered some of her works in their 1986 season. The following year White was awarded the coveted Rotary Scholarship for a year’s study as an Ambassador of Goodwill to France. As a Rotary Scholar, she studied classical piano at the Ecole Normale de Musique in Paris, France and performed throughout Europe.

Upon returning to the States, White began graduate studies at the University of California, Santa Barbara where she received a Masters and Ph.D. in music composition in June 1998. During her tenure, she instructed courses in musicianship, theory, ethnomusicology, and music history and directed the university’s hundred-voice Gospel Choir. She also received awards for outstanding teaching, academic performance, and musical compositions. As she did during undergrad, she founded a Black Christian Fellowship, a campus ministry dedicated to meeting the spiritual needs of African-American students through Bible Studies and social activities. From 1993 to 1995, on a leave-of-absence, White accepted a dual position at the Appalachian State University in Boone, North Carolina as Artist-in-Residence with the School of Music and Assistant Director of African-American Student Development. At Appalachian she instructed the Gospel Choir and directed the Peer Mentor Program among other duties. Other positions Dr. White has held include Artist-in-Residence for the Chaplancy at Westmont College and Artist-in-Residence for the First United Methodist Church, both in Santa Barbara, California. She has occupied positions as Composer-in-Residence and Scholar-in-Residence at Indiana University of Pennsylvania and Grinnell College in Iowa.

As a composer and performer, she has won much acclaim with tremendous stylistic diversity ranging from atonal classical pieces to contemporary gospel. She has had works performed at numerous academic conferences as well as the National Convention for the NAACP, the Gospel Music Workshop of America, and the International Nazarene Youth Conference. She has appeared as guest conductor and composer for the Washington Performing Arts Society at the Kennedy Center with the Men & Women of the Gospel Mass Choir. She was called to the ministry in 1989 expanding her music ministry to preaching and has ministered in numerous venues both sacred and secular demonstrating God’s awesome power through her eloquence and compassion.

Affectionately known as “Dr. Dee”, she has released two CDs, “In Stillness” and “Dr. Dee: Live in DC,” on her own label, BYTHAX Records, Inc., of which she is CEO and President. Diane is also President of LCW Publishing under which she publishes her music. She travels extensively as a workshop clinician, performer, composer, conductor, and speaker, appearing at colleges, universities, churches, and other venues throughout the United States and Canada. She is former Minister of Music and currently a member of the ministerial staff of the Israel Baptist Church of Washington, DC. Diane loves working with children and plans to develop performing arts programs for youth in disadvantaged communities. Her heart’s desire is to share with others the immeasurable riches of Christ’s love in every aspect of her ministry.
