The chorus program called Praise and Celebration and Remembrance begins with a tribute to Mozart in the 250th anniversary of his birth.

The translation is as follows:

Queen of Heaven, rejoice
For whom you did merit to bear.
He has risen as He said.
Pray for us to God.
Alleluia

Mozart's Regina Coeli, K. 276, is a Marian antiphon. Marian antiphons were written specifically to honor the Virgin Mary and have been sung since the thirteenth century. There are four Marian antiphons, one for each season of the year. The Regina Coeli, Latin for "Rejoice Queen of Heaven," is sung from Easter Sunday through the Friday after Pentecost in liturgical settings. Mozart composed three different settings to this text. All three settings were most likely written for use in the Salzburg cathedral.

This setting of the Regina Coeli is scored for four soloists, chorus, small orchestra, and organ. Each line is sung by either the chorus, the soloists, or some combination of the two, with a concluding Alleluia sung by the full chorus. The solo lines are integrated beautifully into the work as a whole. This is an exuberant work. For years it was thought to have been composed in 1779 in Salzburg. The date is unclear because the autograph score was lost. It does bear similarities to works precisely dated from that year. However, it contains what seem to be quotations from Handel's Messiah. It is unlikely that Mozart had heard that work in 1779. We do know that he had heard it by 1789 when he re-orchestrated the Messiah.

Norman Dello Joio who was born in 1913 is a descendant of Italian church organists. Dello Joio recalls that his father was working with singers from the Metropolitan Opera who used to arrive in their Rolls Royces, and that his childhood was surrounded with musicians and music in the home. Dello Joio's father taught him the piano at age four, and in his teens he began studying organ with his godfather, Pietro Yon, organist at Saint Patrick's Cathedral. As a graduate student at Juilliard composition became his main interest. He studied with Paul Hindemith at Tanglewood.

In the latter part of the forties, Dello Joio was considered one of America's leading composers, and by the fifties had gained international recognition. He received numerous awards and grants including the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Award, the Town Hall Composition Award, two Guggenheim Fellowships, and a grant from the American Academy of Arts and Letters. He won the New York Music Critics' Circle Award in 1948, and again in 1962. He won the Pulitzer Prize in 1957 for Meditations on Ecclesiastes for string orchestra, and an Emmy Award for his music in the television special Scenes from the Louvre. In 1958, CBS featured him in a one-hour television special, "Profile of a Composer." Dello Joio taught at Sarah Lawrence College, the Mannes College of Music, and was Professor of Music and Dean of the Fine and Applied Arts School of Boston University.

Come to Me, My Love was written in 1973. It was written to Barbara, Dello Joio's wife. The text is based on Christina Rosetti's poem, "Echo" which expresses the desire for a deceased love one to come to the person in the speaking silence of a dream. The person wants to live the life again in the dream.

Mi Chamocha written by Ithaca College alumnus Allan E. Naplan is also a song of praise. Allan E. Naplan's choral works have been performed and recorded throughout the world. Already distinguished as a rising young composer of choral music, Naplan's works have been featured on concerts of the Texas Choral Directors Association, The Music Educators National Conference, the American Choral Directors Association, the Organization of American Kodály Educators, the United Synagogue of Conservative Judaism and the American Conference of Cantors. He is published by Transcontinental Press, Boosey & Hawkes, and Shawnee Press. His music has been performed at the Kennedy Center, in Carnegie Hall, and at the White House. He won the 1997 and the 2001 Guild of Temple Musicians Young Composer Award. A former professional opera singer and Director of Artistic Administration for the Pittsburgh Opera, Naplan is currently the General Director of the Madison Opera.

Translation:
Who is like ou, Eternal One, among the gods that are worshipped? Who is like You, majestic in holiness, awesome in splendor, doing wonders?

In their escape from the sea, Your children saw Your sovereign might displayed. "This is my God!" they cried. "the Eternal will reign for ever and ever!"

And it has been said: "The Eternal delivered Jacob and redeemed him from the hand of one stronger than himself." Blessed is God, the Redeemer of Israel.
In the midst of the crossing of the divided sea, the speaker becomes narrator and stops to affirm with praise God’s incomparability. The question is rhetorical because of the magnitude of the event. There are times when the music reflects their triumphant quality, but there are also times when the tune is beautiful and yearning.

Let Everything That Hath Breath is an exuberant celebration set within the traditional gospel style. For many decades traditional gospel music has been a vital component of praise and worship. Whether being performed in a neighborhood church or in a concert hall, gospel music fulfills its purpose to uplift the spirit and hearts of all who hear. The text within this piece is taken from several Psalms. Jeffery Ames, a sought-after clinician, adjudicator, accompanist and composer, received his Ph.D. from Florida State University. He is the first recipient of the National ACDA James Mulholland Choral Music Fellowship and has taught choral music at both the high school and university level.

The Women’s Chorale Program is called Still I Rise and reflects the strength and power of women. The opening piece is by Canadian composer Eleanor Daley who is a church musician and composer in Toronto. Her award-winning compositions have been heard in concert halls throughout the world. This piece clearly demonstrates the singers’ resolve to “find some peace” in a special place away from the city. The poem is by W.B. Yeats.

Hoj, Hura, Hoj is by Czech composer Otmar Mátcha. He was born in 1922 near the area from which this folk poetry originated. He is one of the Czech Republic’s most highly respected composers. He lives in Prague.

This piece is the third selection from a set of five pieces set on folk texts. The Moravian folk poetry dialect is from the Beskyde Mountains and Valassko region which is the natural border between Moravia and Slovakia where shepherding cattle and sheep has been a normal occupation for young boys and girls. In this song, the young people enjoy the sensation of calling out across the mountains and anticipate the joy of being with their friends in the villages after their work is done. The audience will hear the calling across the mountain through the use of distant soloists.

Translation:
O mountain, O
The children herding their dear cows shoo them as always, calling them out of the village.
O, Mountain, O
My dear cows are eating all around me until the evening bells ring.

Dr. Gwyneth Walker (b. 1947) is a graduate of Brown University and the Hartt School of Music. A former faculty member of the Oberlin College Conservatory, she resigned from academic employment in 1982 in order to pursue a career as a full-time composer. She now lives on a dairy farm in Braintree, Vermont. Walker's catalog includes over 160 commissioned works for orchestra, band, chorus and chamber ensembles.

I Will Be Earth is a beautiful setting of poetry by May Swenson from a set of six poems. The musical setting was intended to present the poem in a simple manner which seeks to portray the beauty and passion of the words.

Text:

I will be earth, you be the flower
You have found my root, you are the rain.
I will be boat, and you the rower.
You rock me and toss me, you are the sea.

How be steady earth that is now a flood.
The root is the oar afloat where has blown our bud.
We will be desert, pure salt, the seed.
Burn radiant love, born scorpion need.

I Thank You God was commissioned by the endowment fund of the American Choral Directors Association in memory of Raymond W. Brock. The work was premiered by the Women's Honor Choir at the National ACDA Convention in Chicago on February 27, 1999. The poetry is by e. e. cummings. Cummings' poetry often deals with themes of love and nature, as well as the relationship of the individual to the masses and to the world. His poems are often satirical as well. But, while his poetic forms and even themes show a close continuity with the romantic tradition, his work universally shows a particular idiosyncrasy of syntax or way of arranging individual words into larger phrases and sentences. Cummings was very interested in birth which is certainly a part of this poem. In an introduction to his poetry, he wrote:

...Take the matter of being born. What does being born mean to most people? Catastrophe unmitigated. Social revolution. The cultured aristocrat yanked out of his hyperexclusively ultravoluptuous super-palazzo, and dumped into an incredibly vulgar detention camp swarming with every conceivable species of undesirable organism. Most people fancy a guaranteed birthproof safety suit of nondestructible selflessness. If most people were to be born twice they'd improbably call it dying- . . . We can never be born enough. We are human beings; for whom birth is a supremely welcome mystery, the mystery of growing: the mystery which happens only and whenever we are faithful to ourselves. . .

Still I Rise by Rosephanye Powell affirms the strength of women overcoming heartache and pain. In spite of hardship, we are upheld by courage and strength.

Dr. Rosephanye Dunn Powell, Associate Professor of Music, holds degrees from Alabama State University (B.M.E., summa cum laude), Westminster Choir College (M.M. in vocal performance and pedagogy, with distinction), and The Florida State University (D.M. in vocal performance). Dr. Powell is on the faculty at Auburn University. Dr. Powell's soprano singing has brought her, successfully, through recital, concert, and oratorio performances throughout the South and Northeast regions of the United States. Her doctoral treatise, The Art Songs of William Grant Still, is considered the authoritative work on the subject, and her article "William Grant Still: His Life and His Songs" was published in the prestigious NATS Journal of Singing. Dr. Powell served as the editor for William Grant Still: An Art Song Collection published recently by William Grant Still Music. Her works are in great demand at choral festivals nationally and internationally. This work was commissioned by Vox Femina Los Angeles in 2004.

Barbara D. Holender, a native of Buffalo, New York is the author of three volumes of poetry, Shivah Poems, Ladies of Genesis and the Quarterly Review of Literature award-winning collection Is This The Way To Athens? also a children's book in Hebrew, Ani Cli-semer. Her poems have appeared in numerous journals and anthologies, and many have been set to music.

Several of Holender's prayers, including Kaddish, are part of the Shabbat service at Temple Beth Zion in Buffalo, New York.

Persis Parshall Vehar's works have been performed both nationally and internationally. Her works include vocal and instrumental compositions, ranging from intimate chamber music through massive large ensembles and include four operas. Among the places where her works have bee heard are Carnegie Recital Hall (New York City), Royal Festival Hall (London), Graz Music Festival (Austria), McMaster & Brock Universities (Canada), Piccolo Spoleto Festival (Charleston, SC), Academy of Vocal Arts (Philadelphia) Midwest International Band & Orchestra Clinic (Chicago), Detroit Chamber Winds & Strings Series, and Zipper Concert Hall (Los Angeles). Persis is a graduate of Ithaca College School of Music and was a student of Warren Benson.
