Kirkpatrick Fanfare

Kirkpatrick Fanfare was Commissioned by Central Missouri State University for the dedication of the James C. Kirkpatrick Library in March 1999. The work has a definite Irish flavor, including a strain of “Danny Boy.” The “fanfare” theme features driving rhythms and exciting brass figures, making this a dramatic and exciting work.

Themes from "Green Bushes"

Greenbushes was written by Percy Aldridge Grainger in London and Denmark between 1905 and 1906. Sources for the composition were: 1) A folksong collected by Cecil Sharp, from the singing of Mrs. Louie Hooper of Hambridge, Somerset, and 2) the singing of Mr. Joseph Leaning at Brigg, Lincolnshire collected by Grainger on August 7, 1906. Greenbushes was apparently a widely known melody. Grainger accumulated ten different variations of it during his folksong-collecting career, and used one of them as the final movement of his Lincolnshire Posy in 1937. Though the song is of English origin, it has also been found in Ireland and America.

Salvation is Created

Salvation is Created is by Pavel Tschesnokoff, who belongs to a late-Romantic group of Russian “Spiritualist” composers that include Bortniaksky and Gretchaninoff. Tschesnokoff wrote a choral conducting text and produced more than 500 choral works; the choral nature of this work is as resplendent as the transcription is classic. The simple musical form comprises two stanzas. Horn and clarinets, then the trombone section, carry the melodic “question,” and the full ensemble supports the “answer” each time. The text of this well-known hymn of praise from the Russian Orthodox Church follows:

Salvation is created, for all nations;
so now we praise thee, Lord God Almighty,
O Lord over all, Alleluia.

Prelude, Siciliano, and Rondo

Prelude, Siciliano, and Rondo was originally written for the brass bands for which England is well-known. It was titled Little Suite for Brass. John Paynter’s arrangement expands it to include woodwinds and additional percussion, but faithful retains the breezy effervescence of the original composition. All three movements are written in short, clear five-part song forms. The Prelude begins bombastically in fanfare style, but reaches a middle climax, and winds down to a quiet return of the opening measures that fades to silence. The liltingly expressive Siciliano is both slower and more expressive, affording solo instruments and smaller choirs of sound to be heard. The rollicking five-part Rondo provides a romping finale in which the technical brilliance of the modern wind band is set forth in boastful brilliance.

Folk Dances

Composed in Shostakovich’s light-hearted style, this single movement work is filled with the joy and exuberance of the Russian people. The many folk melodies are combined in a string so that musical energy abounds and the spirit of folk dances can easily be imagined. The first version of Dmitri Shostakovich’s composition was instrumented by M. Vakhutinsky for Russian Bands.

The Engulfed Cathedral

In this transcription of Debussy’s The Engulfed Cathedral, Patterson tried to create a work that displays the tonal beauty as well as the power and grandeur of the modern symphonic band. Unusual instrumental combinations have been used throughout, and great care has been given to subtle shadings of color and texture. The Engulfed Cathedral (La Cathédrale engloutie) is No. 10 Book 1 of Claude Debussy’s Preludes; it is one of his best known and most popular works, not only in its original version for solo piano, but also in its numerous transcriptions, the most notable of which is the orchestral setting by Leopold Stokowski. The Engulfed Cathedral depicts an old legend from Brittany: To punish the people for their sins, the Cathedral of Ys is engulfed by the sea. Each sunrise the townspeople watch as the sunken cathedral rises from the water and then sinks slowly into the ocean.

An American Elegy

An American Elegy is, above all, an expression of hope. It was composed in memory of those who lost their lives at Columbine High School on April 20, 1999, and to honor the survivors. It is offered as a tribute to their great strength and courage in the face of a terrible tragedy. Ticheli hopes the work can also serve as one reminder of how fragile and precious life is and how intimately connected we all are as human beings. The work begins at the bottom of the ensemble’s register, and ascends gradually to a heartfelt cry of hope. The main theme that follows, stated by the horns, reveals a more lyrical, serene side of the piece. A second theme, based on a simple repeated harmonic pattern, suggests yet another, more poignant mood. These three moods – hope, serenity, and sadness – become intertwined throughout the work, defining its complex expressive character. A four-part canon builds to a climactic quotation of the Columbine Alma Mater. The music recedes, and an offstage trumpeter is heard, suggesting a celestial voice – a heavenly message. The full ensemble returns with a final, exalted statement of the main theme.

Program note by the composer
The Symphony for Band was commissioned and premiered by the Washington University Band at the MENC Convention in St. Louis on April 16, 1956. According to the composer, it could have been titled “Symphony for Winds,” following, as it did, his Symphony No. 5 for Strings. Persichetti, however, did not wish to avoid the word “band,” which he felt no longer had the connotation of a poor quality of music. Persichetti’s Symphony for Band was in many ways a departure from the established concepts of band works that it influenced the attitudes of generations of composers.” The four movements have forms with traditional implications. The opening horn call and a following scale-wise passage in the slow introduction become the two principal themes (in reverse order) in the subsequent Allegro. The standard exposition, development, and recapitulation of sonata form are in the Allegro, although the traditional key relationships are not completely retained. The slow second movement is based on “Round Me Falls the Night,” from the composer’s Hymns nd Responses for the Church Year. The third movement, in trio form, serves as the traditional dance movement and is followed by a finale in free rondo form, which draws thematic material from the preceding movements and concludes with a chord containing all 12 tones of the scale.
