Guest Artist Bio

Clarinetist Garrick Zoeter's deeply personal and exciting way with the clarinet has been heard in concerto and chamber performances at venues throughout the world. He is a graduate of The Juilliard School and Yale University and has won numerous national and international competitions including first prize in the 2002 Concert Artists Guild Competition. Through the chamber ensemble Antares, of which he was a founding member, he was instrumental in the creation of over twenty new works for the clarinet, violin, cello, piano quartet. A committed teacher, Mr. Zoeter is currently the Anna Lee Van Buren Professor of Clarinet at the Shenandoah Conservatory of Shenandoah University in Winchester, Virginia where he has taught since 2007. His students can be found in teaching positions and performing ensembles throughout the U.S. and the world. He has recorded for the Naxos, Bridge, Innova, New Focus, CRI, MSR Classics, New Focus, and Swarm labels. Recent performances include recitals in Brazil, Romania, and France as well as numerous chamber and solo performances throughout the Northern Virginia and D.C. area.
