Dorothy Cotton Jubilee Singers
The mission of the Dorothy Cotton Jubilee Singers of Ithaca, New York is to preserve the uniquely American art form of the formal concert style “Negro Spiritual.” We welcome all people regardless of race, religion, ethnicity, sexual preference, political views or socio-economic status who wish to audition to join the choir. Our singers share a common love of this amazing body of music and our deep belief that this music still carries the power to bring social justice to our world.

Established in 2010, the group is named in honor of civil rights pioneer Dorothy Cotton, a resident of Ithaca, New York, who served as education director for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference along side Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and continues to spread her message of freedom and hope to people around the world through music.

We believe that understanding the origin of this remarkable music helps our singers and audience appreciate its musicality and the historic nature and power of it. The Negro Spiritual is an American treasure symbolizing hope, faith and perseverance in our efforts to bring freedom and social justice to all peoples of the earth.

William Grant Still
Long known as the "Dean of African-American Composers," as well as one of Americas foremost composers, William Grant Still has had the distinction of becoming a legend in his own lifetime. On May 11, 1895, he was born in Woodville (Wilkinson County) Mississippi, to parents who were teachers and musicians. They were of Black, Indian, Spanish, Irish and Scotch bloods. When William was only a few months old, his father died and his mother took him to Little Rock, Arkansas, where she taught English in the high school. There his musical education began--with violin lessons from a private teacher, and with later inspiration from the Red Seal operatic recordings bought for him by his stepfather.

In Wilberforce University, he took courses leading to a B.S. degree, but spent most of his time conducting the band, learning to play the various instruments involved and making his initial attempts to compose and to orchestrate. His subsequent studies at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music were financed at first by a legacy from his father, and later by a scholarship established just for him by the faculty.
At the end of his college years, he entered the world of commercial (popular) music, playing in orchestras and orchestrating, working in particular with the violin, cello and oboe. His employers included W. C. Handy, Don Voorhees, Sophie Tucker, Paul Whiteman, Willard Robison and Artie Shaw, and for several years he arranged and conducted the Deep River Hour over CBS and WOR. While in Boston playing oboe in the Shuffle Along orchestra, Still applied to study at the New England Conservatory with George Chadwick, and was again rewarded with a scholarship due to Mr. Chadwick's own vision and generosity. He also studied, again on an individual scholarship, with the noted ultra-modern composer, Edgard Varese.
